MAN ACCUSED OF TRYING TO KILL BANKER
IS SHOT DEADJohn Walton, Negro, 34, Born Named by Art Newman as Birger Tool in Plot Against R. R. Ward.SLAIN BY OFFICERS
IN EAST ST. LOUISSheriffs Fire on Fugitive Wanted on Warrant for Attempted Assassination
at Benton, Ill.John Walton, a St. Louis Negro, charged in a warrant with the attempted assassination last Dec. 8 of Robert R. Ward, wealthy Benton (Ill.) banker, was shot and killed in East St. Louis last night when he resisted arrest by Sheriff Ahrens of St. Clair County and Sheriff Pritchard of Franklin County, of which Benton is the county seat.In the attempted assassination of Ward, Walton was merely the tool of Charlie Birger, Southern Illinois gang leader, and another man known as "Doc," according to a statement made to the Post-Dispatch July 14 by Art Newman, former lieutenant of Birger. Birger is now awaiting execution, and Newman is serving a life sentence for their part in the assassination of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, which took place four days after the attempt on Ward's life.Officers Hide in Oak Hill Hotel.
Sheriffs Ahrens and Pritchard and four of the former's deputies were in hiding about the Oak Hill, Fifth and Division avenues, East St. Louis, at 9:30 o'clock, following receipt of information that Walton and another Negro planned to rob a tailoring shop on the ground floor of the two-story hotel.Walton and another Negro soon appeared and walked into the backyard of the hotel, the yard being about 15 feet lower than the street level and serving, in this case, as a trap. The officers surrounded the Negroes and ordered them to throw up their hands, the officers drawing revolvers and announcing who they were.Walton, who was near Sheriff Pritchard, was carrying a coat on his arm. He threw this coat over Pritchard's revolver, struck at Pritchard and ran up the embankment toward the street.Sheriff Ahrens then fired at Walton, one of his bullets inflicting a mortal wound in the abdomen.Pritchard and the deputies also fired, and in the excitement one second Negro escaped and Deputy Sheriff William Miller of Belleville was struck by a stray bullet, suffering a flesh wound of the left hand.Walton had a pocket knife, and the other Negro was carrying a long steel bolt, both weapons now in the hands of the police.Confused Part in Plot.
An hour later Walton died at St.
Mary's Hospital to which he had been taken. The sheriffs reported he made an oral admission of his participation in the attempted assassination of Ward, but was too weak to give a detailed account of the plot.The attempt on Ward's life was made one night when he, a maid and three of his six children were in the living room of the Ward home at Benton. Someone fired three shots through a window, two missing him by inches.Ward, as has been published, told the Post-Dispatch that Birger telephoned his home after the shooting, disclaiming responsibility for the attack.Art Newman, in his statement to the Post-Dispatch after he and Birger became enemies, said a man named "Doc," a friend of Birger, called at Birger's home in Harrisburg several hours before the attack on Ward and borrowed a revolver from Birger. Newman said "Doc" returned late that night and told Birger in Newman's presence that he (Doc) had taken a Negro with him to Benton and he sat in his automobile while the Negro went to the window of Ward's home and fired the shots.Walton, who was 35 years old and lived on Bernard street, had been introduced by a St. Louis hauling contractor, who employed him occasionally, to "Doc," an acquaintance of the employer. "Doc" said he wanted the Negro to guard Birger's home near Benton, but the Negro later told the employer
"Doc" had taken him to Birger's home and intimidated him into attempting to shoot Ward.FAIR TONIGHT, TOMORROW;

EARTHQUAKE IN ALASKA CAUSES SLIGHT DAMAGE

Southeastern Part Is Given Vigorous Shaking by Temblor That Centered in Ocean Bottom.

SUBMARINE CABLE SERVICE HALTED

Residents of Islands and Coast Cities Report Violent Shocks That Rattled Dishes, Stopped Clocks.

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 25.—Alaska experienced an earthquake of unusual intensity without the loss of life and with little damage yesterday.

The southeastern part of the territory received vigorous shaking about 7 o'clock yesterday morning in a seismic disturbance which apparently had its center in the ocean bottom several hundred miles off the mainland.

The temblor, which disrupted cable communication, broke windows and dishes and frightened residents of several towns, had diminished in force by the time it struck the mainland yesterday.

Had an earthquake of such violence occurred in a region more densely populated than Alaska, seismologists pointed out, the loss of life undoubtedly would have been heavy. The tremor was of sufficient force to temporarily put out of commission seismographs in many parts of the United States.

Tidal Wave Predicted. A prediction by Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, director of the Mount Kilaua volcano laboratory of the University of Hawaii, that a tidal wave would occur in Hawaiian waters a few hours after the Alaska quake, had not materialized early today.

News of the quake, however, had its effect on the Japanese fishermen of Hilo. Dispatches from there said the fishermen on hearing of the temblor, rushed into the outer harbor, spread their nets and brought up whole boat loads of strange deep sea fish. They expressed the belief that undersea earthquakes had caused the fish to seek higher and cooler water.

Residents rushed into the streets of Juneau, Alaska, when the first shock was felt. Recurrent tremors were felt for several minutes. Reports of the quake were received from Sitka, Ketchikan, and Petersburg, all in Southeastern Alaska, and from Stewart, mining town of Northern British Columbia. Advice from Petersburg said a cable near Wrangell, 60 miles away, had been broken. A second break in the cable occurred between Juneau and Skagway. Cordova, several hundred miles northwest of Juneau, described the quake as "slight."

Shock Said to Volcanoes. Belief that the shock was the result of a volcanic eruption along the Alaska Peninsula or the Aleutian Islands was given little credence when reports from Seward and other towns near the so-called volcano region said no disturbance had been felt.

In Seattle and Everett, Wash., the water in swimming tanks was said to have been dashed into small waves coincident with the Alaska quake.

Officers in charge of the Alaska cable in Seattle said a cable repair ship would depart for Seattle Wednesday to repair the breaks in the Ketchikan-Wrangell cable and in the line from Juneau to Haines and Skagway.

The main shock was felt in Juneau at 7 a. m., followed by three lesser ones. Many residents rushed from their beds in night clothing, dishes rattled, light chandeliers swung and clocks stopped. Cordova, Alaska, several hundred miles west and north of Juneau, reported pictures hanging on the walls swung slightly, but the phenomenon was not identified as an earthquake until dispatches telling of the disturbance in southeastern Alaska were received.

Tremor Recorded in U. S. Petersburg reported the shock at 6:51 a. m., but the damage was confined to broken dishes and windows and stopped clocks.

Residents of the Niekerville residence section of Ketchikan reported feeling slight earth movements about 8 a. m. of about the same intensity as temblors which rocked Alaska in February, 1925.

The seismic disturbances were recorded in many parts of the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported that their instruments indicated a tremendous upheaval. Dr. Perry Byerly, seismologist of the University of California, reported the chart of his seismograph indicated the disturbance centered 150 miles northwest of Berkeley, Cal.

The quake was of great intensity, Dr. Byerly said, and lasted from 9:05 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. Pacific time. A season of intense volcanic activity preceded the earthquakes in Alaska.

Twenty active volcanoes were observed by Thomas A. Jagger, Government volcanologist, during a survey of the Aleutian Islands, hundreds of miles to the westward of the region last summer, where the

Rumania's Boy King Keeps Sixth Birthday

Rejoices in Gifts From "Fairy Cousins" in America—His Mother Calls Him "Baby", but He Prefers to Be Called "Mickey."

By the Associated Press.

SINAI, Rumania, Oct. 25.—Michael, boy King of Rumania, who draws a salary of $1,000,000 a year, celebrated his sixth birthday today. He prefers his toys to his throne, his American kite to his kingdom.

According to Princess Helen, his mother, he has been a good boy during the past year, so he has received many birthday presents from his family and relatives. He also received several remembrances from small boys and girls in the United States, whom he calls his "fairy cousins."

Princess Helen has a hard time training her boy to be a King. He loves his playthings and three little American playmates and his big brown sparrow more than he does his lessons and his catechism. His greatest joy in life is his big American kite, which William S. Culbertson, the United States Ambassador to Rumania, gave him. Culbertson's children are often seen romping with Michael in the garden of the United States legation. Michael calls his kite his "Lindbergh flyer."

Kite to Dog's Tail. He sometimes ties the cord of his kite to the tail of his dog, Brown Mumbo, and laughs as the wind-driven kite pulls the big spaniel along the ground. The dog enjoys the fun, too. He barks excitedly while he races over the lawn with his master and the kite.

Not long ago, when the little King was down at the seashore in Constantza, his giant kite, mounting into the sky, almost pulled him quake was first reported felt today.

Volcano Explodes.

One volcano, Megik, on the Alaska Peninsula, across from Kodiak Island, was reported to have exploded like a giant firecracker in August. Capt. Harry W. Crosby of Seattle, aboard the floating cannery Salmon King, observed the eruption from 50 miles away, and reported that hundreds of thousands of tons of pumice stone and volcanic ash were thrown into the air, coating the sea with a heavy layer of ash.

Bogofol Island, north of the Aleutian Islands, in Bering Sea, also was reported to have resumed activity, throwing forth immense quantities of sulphurous fumes and volcanic ash.

Earthquakes have frequently accompanied volcanic eruptions in sections.

Alaska. The last heavy earthquake, which was reported in February, 1925, were felt in all parts of the territory, and severed the signal corps cable, breaking water pipes and rattling dishes.

The 1925 quake lasted about 20 seconds.

ORDERS FOR TWO WIDENING PROJECTS IN COUNTY SOUGHT

Links in Ozark Trail at Present so Narrow as to Be Dangerous.

Probate Judge Hodgdon, acting as president of the Ozark Trail Association, today filed petitions with the State Public Service Commission, seeking orders for widening of the bridge on the Laclede Station road over the Frisco Railroad tracks, and of Lockwood avenue under the Missouri Pacific tracks.

Both thoroughfares are part of the Ozark trail, and at present are so narrow as to be dangerous, he said.

Defendants named in the petitions are the Frisco and Missouri Pacific, the City of Webster, the St. Louis & Meramec River Railway Co., the latter two having tracks on Lockwood avenue.

ILLINOISAN GETS TWO BISON

F. F. Yakey of Shelby County Hopes to Raise Herd.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PANA, Ill.—F. F. Yakey of Stewardson, Shelby County, has received from the Government's herd at Yellowstone National Park a bison bull and heifer, which he has placed on his stock farm. They are making good progress and becoming familiar with the beef cattle. Yakey hopes in time to have a herd.

The bison keep to themselves on pasture and mingle with the cattle only at watering and feeding time.

Coolidge Selects Wood's Successor. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A successor to Major-General Leonard Wood, as Governor-General of the Philippines, is understood to have been definitely decided upon by President Coolidge, but who the man will be has not yet been disclosed. Those who are most prominently mentioned for the post are Gov. Farrington of Hawaii, former Senator Wadsworth of New York, Major-General McCoy, recently appointed supervisor of the Nicaraguan sections, and Henry L. Stimson, the President's special envoy in the Nicaraguan peace negotiations.

into the sea. Only the timely arrival of Robert R. Patterson, secretary of the United States legation, saved the King and the kite.

The boy King is just the same as any little American boy of 6. He was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, for his mother is poor, nor does he wear any crown. Moreover, he is really fatherless, for Prince Carol declares he is never coming back to him or to his mother. Because of his father's desertion, Michael fell heir to the kingdom of 15,000,000, the royal salary and a dozen marble palaces and castles.

Michael dresses like any American child of his age. He wears a bib and tucker, eats oatmeal and milk, buckwheat cakes, cookies, jelly, apples, and a piece of ham, and steals jam from the cupboard when his mother is not looking.

Early to Bed, Up at 6. Also he goes to bed early, says his father, Prince Carol. He gets up at 6 o'clock, helps his mother with breakfast, goes to school, runs errands and answers the telephone. When he is a good boy, he plays on the lawn, and when he is a bad boy, he steals jam from the cupboard when his mother is not looking.

King Michael has no golden throne yet. His only throne is his American high chair.

All of his subjects address him as "Your Majesty," which he cannot understand. "Why have they changed my name?" he asks his mother. She still calls him "Baby."

He would much rather be called "Mickey."

WILL RETIRE TO GIVE FORTUNE TO CHARITY

W. H. Luden, Cough Drop Originator, to Devote Millions to Philanthropy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

READING, Pa., Oct. 25.—After a lifetime of candy and coughdrop making, William H. Luden is going to retire from business and devote his energies and his fortune to the philanthropies that have increasingly interested him since he became wealthy.

He announced yesterday that early next year he will retire from William H. Luden, Inc., having disposed of his stock to Daniel W. Dietrich of Philadelphia. He will be 69 next March 5. It is reported he will receive $500,000 for his holdings in the company, which has large real estate and other property. One of the terms of the sale is that the working organization of the Luden factory is not to be disturbed.

Luden was born in Reading, the son of a Dutch watch maker. As a boy he made candy in his mother's kitchen and peddled it to school children near his home. He was so successful that by the time he was 20 years old he had a little store and later began manufacturing candy.

An accident made his business great. When he was 25, he fell into a vat of molasses, and he sold it as a cough drop. It was the first of his success. He is now selling by the millions of packages.

Luden's first interests outside his business were in other commercial enterprises and he became a director of several enterprises, particularly banks. Then he took up civic affairs in his home town and his benefactions there were heard of by anyone save the recipient.

He has contributed largely to churches, charities, welfare groups and civic improvement associations. He has educated many boys and has his own bureau to check up on applicants seeking aid to send them to college. Few have been refused.

Education has been a peculiar attraction for him, perhaps because he had so little himself, and has been the object of many of his philanthropies. He pays a bonus of $250 a year to his employees who have children of high school age and keeps them in school until they finish their secondary education. The Luden plant employs between 800 and 1000 persons, depending on the seasonal demand for candy.

DRIVER GETS 90 DAYS AND FINE

Clarence Minter Appeals Sentence on Three Charges.

Clarence Minter, 625 Harris avenue, was sentenced to 90 days in the Workhouse and fined $300 today on charges of careless and drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Witnesses testified that after colliding with another machine at Broadway and Biase avenue, Minter drove away without stopping. He appealed.

Holds Up Man Who Gave Him Ride

A youth, to whom he gave a ride in his automobile when crossing at 10:30 o'clock last evening, held up Wallace Mullen, superintendent of the National Life Insurance Co. of 1068 University drive and robbed him of $75. After a scuffle the robber left the car on Randolph street and disappeared.

EX-MILLIONAIRES IN RUSSIA GIVEN DEATH SENTENCES

Vladimir and Cecil Prove, Brothers, and Korepanoff Condemned as Spies in British Employ.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—With faces pale, sunken eyes and convulsive twitches, despite their effort to bear up, two brothers, Vladimir and Cyril Prove, and their brother-in-law, Korepanoff, all former Russian millionaires, heard their death sentence pronounced last evening by M. Ulrich, head of the military tribunal of the Supreme Court.

In the same breath, M. Ulrich extinguished all hope in the hearts of the condemned men by adding: "The sentence is final and unappealable."

For three days the Prove brothers and Korepanoff, together with Podzetskoff, an aviation officer, and Nanoff, clerk in the war ministry, had been on trial on charges of military espionage, consisting of systematically supplying Edward Charnock, first secretary of the British Embassy at Moscow, with secret military data. The brothers confessed and turned state's evidence, hoping thereby to save their lives.

Woe and Begs for Life. Korepanoff, admitting frequent conversations with Charnock at his father-in-law's home, pleaded lack of knowledge of the espionage character of Charnock's queries. He explained that as counsel to the War Commissariat he knew few military secrets, having transacted mainly civil matters.

Nanoff, Podzetskoff, who, according to the evidence of the Prove brothers, supplied secret documents, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment each, the Court taking into consideration Nanoff's prolonged desertion and Podzetskoff's military record and lack of authentic evidence.

In his final statement, Cyril Prove, known before the revolution as one of Russia's best porters, broke bitterly and bitterly, begging the Court to forgive his past. Vladimir, the younger brother, who frequently played jazz music at embassy entertainments, bore up more bravely.

It was announced last week that the Soviet police had discovered that the Prove brothers and three others were members of espionage organizations which had been supplying information to the British. The group accused of former British mission in Moscow of having utilized its diplomatic immunity to learn Russian military secrets. Edward Charnock, former Secretary of the Mission, was now in London, declared that he had never even met the accused men and that the Soviet Government was actuated by an idea of retaliation for the British severance of diplomatic relations.

WOMAN SUES LUMBERMAN, 81, FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

By the Associated Press. IRONWOOD, Mich., Oct. 25.—Gusiek Bergland, picturesque 81-year-old lumberman of Bergland, Mich., which he founded, is made defendant in a $450,000 breach of promise suit by Mrs. Ardis Pederson, 27 years old, his former housekeeper, in a suit filed in the Ontonagon Circuit Court today.

STUDENT EXPELLED FOR HAZING

Dismissals at Virginia Military Institute Total 10.

By the Associated Press. LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 25.—Expulsion of another student from Virginia Military Institute for alleged hazing of a first-year man was announced today by Superintendent W. H. Cooke. He said the cadet was dismissed Saturday when a fourth-class man resigned because of treatment he received. The names of the students were withheld. The hazing took place after the student strike of last week, Cooke said. He denied reports that the hazed student had been seriously injured.

DRY INVESTIGATOR LOSES JOB

He Also Is Under $5000 Bond to Answer Charges of Girl, 9.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—William E. Robinson, chief investigator of the prohibition unit here, was under $5000 bond today in Montgomery County, Maryland, charged with an offense against a 9-year-old girl, and without his job.

Assistant Secretary Lewman of the Treasury announced that Robinson had resigned. Robinson was first arrested Sunday morning and released on $1000 bond. He again was taken into custody, however, and his bond was increased to $5000. The father of the girl is an army officer and was a friend of Robinson, who is 56 years old.

Disarmament Meeting Nov. 30.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Oct. 25.—The next meeting of the preparatory commission on a disarmament conference has been convened at Geneva for Nov. 30, says an official communique issued by the League of Nations today.

Fall Again Speaks Up in Court

The testimony of the late J. W. Zevely, Sinclair lawyer, given at Cheyenne, Wyo., during the civil suit to recover Teapot Dome, Zevely told of Sinclair's visit to Fall's ranch in New Mexico and of the negotiations there for the lease.

During questioning of Ambrose by Roberts, disagreement arose between Hoover and Leahy, Fall's counsel, over objections entered by Hoover. Leahy said Fall would not object to any questions relating to the lease.

On cross-examination, Ambrose said that after he had made a visit to the West in the late summer of 1921, he reported to Fall that the "riddle" in Teapot Dome had been solved and located and that part of the reserve was susceptible of drainage by wells located in the Salt Creek field to the north.

"At the time we did not go into details of the drainage," Ambrose testified, "because the subject of drainage had just come to our attention and we were just beginning to give it some thought."

"Strip Leasing Inadequate." Referring to a conference he had with Fall in January, 1922, Ambrose testified that H. Foster Bain, Director of the Bureau of Mines, had told Fall that "strip leasing" would not be adequate to protect the oil.

Ambrose explained, was the leasing of a small belt on the northern edge of the reserve.

Still replying to Hoover, Ambrose said he told Fall that the leasing in the Salt Creek field caused no immediate danger of the drainage of Teapot Dome, but that as time went on the drainage would extend into the reserve.

"At that time drainage was not pressing," Ambrose said, but, pressed further, he added that he told the Secretary that, when the wells were put down in the adjacent field, part of the naval reserve would be subject to drainage.

"Did you tell Fall that strip leasing would be ineffective?" Ambrose replied, "Yes," Ambrose replied: "Dr. Bain and I were in agreement that this would be only a temporary expedient; that double lines of wells we have to be put down farther and farther into the reserve."

Ambrose told the jury that Fall upped the exchange basis of crude for fuel oil arrived at by Interior Department officials and insisted that the exchange rate be higher, or a barrel of fuel oil for a barrel of crude oil, instead of 95 per cent of a barrel of fuel for a barrel of crude.

The witness said he conferred with Capt. John K. Robison of the navy and Dr. Bain about the form of the lease, adding that he also read the draft to Admiral Gregory, then chief of the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks.

"On this matter of secrecy, did Secretary Fall tell you to keep this secret?" Ambrose was asked. "I don't recall that he did."

Ambrose could not recall that he had seen a request for secrecy transmitted by Theodore Roosevelt as Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

On re-direct examination by Owen J. Roberts, Government counsel, Ambrose said that at no time was he asked for an official opinion "as to how much of Teapot Dome should be leased."

"Who made the decision so far as the Interior Department was concerned?" Roberts inquired. "So far as I know, Secretary Fall," Ambrose replied.

Zevely Testimony Read. With the completion of the examination of Ambrose, former Senator Atiles Pomerene, of Government counsel, by stipulation among the lawyers, read to the jury the Zevely testimony. Zevely testified that there was some discussion of the Teapot Dome lease during the Christmas visit of Sinclair and Zevely to Fall at the Secretary's ranch at Three Rivers, N. M. Zevely asserted that the purpose of the visit was to discuss drilling of Oase Indian lands.

Other testimony of Zevely was that most of the drafting of the lease was done in his Washington office and that questions as to details were settled by Fall.

Replying to Hoover, Thomas said the quit claim deeds were to be operative only if the Mammoth Oil Company got Teapot Dome.

Midwest Head Testifies. Z. Z. Aitken of Denver, president of the Midwest Refining Company, next told the jury that, early in March, 1922 he came to Washington and arranged a meeting with Sinclair, who then contemplated making application for a lease on Teapot Dome.

"Did you tell Sinclair that?" "No," he said he was after a lease of Teapot Dome and wanted to buy out claims.

Aitken testified that his company owned the Pioneer and also the Wyoming Oil Co., which in turn owned the Belgo company.

Sinclair first wanted the Pioneer to take stock in the Mammoth company, but Aitken refused and a money payment finally was agreed upon.

"You were to get a note for $200,000; did you receive payment on that?" Aitken was asked. "The Pioneer Co. got $50,000 and interest on the note."

Referring then to a memorandum he had, the witness said the payment on account of the principal and interest on the remaining $160,000 to date had been $255,761, making the total $241,751, including $46,000 interest on the note.

TIME BOMB WRECKS FRONT OF PROSECUTOR'S RESIDENCE

Rochester (N. Y.) Official Not at Home Sunday Morning From Beds, But Not Injured.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 25.—A time bomb exploded early this morning on the front porch of the home of Assistant District Attorney Charles J. Mondo, wrecking the front of the house and breaking windows for blocks around.

Mondo, for whom it is believed the bomb was intended as reprisal for his activities in recent prosecutions, was not at home. In the house were Mrs. Mondo, their three children—John, 10; Gloria, 8; and Betty, 3—a guest and two maids. All were thrown from their beds, but were not injured.

Government counsel brought out that the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company accepted 500,000 shares of Mammoth "A" stock and 1500 shares of Mammoth "B" for 250,000 shares of the Consolidated.

Stanford said the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana owned 50 per cent of the Consolidated and added that the Standard of Indiana also owned 50 per cent of the pipe line built from Teapot Dome to the Missouri River.

Claim Sold for a Million. George K. Thomas, a Denver attorney, who testified that he was secretary of the Pioneer Oil Co. when Sinclair bought up the company's claim in Teapot Dome for $1,000,000, told how applications for leases were made by the company and the Belgo Oil Co., another claimant. The applications were denied by E. C. Finney, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and then the Pioneer asked for a hearing by Fall on its place mining claims.

"I was summoned to Washington in March, 1922, and the Mammoth Oil Co. offered to buy all the claims," Thomas testified.

"Was a contract drawn?" asked Pomerene.

"Yes," Thomas replied, adding "The contract called for the payment to the Pioneer and Belgo companies of one million dollars for their claims on Teapot Dome, $500,000 of this being evidenced by a note and the remainder to be paid from oil production in the naval reserve."

"What was the relation of the Midwest to the Pioneer and Belgo companies?" Pomerene asked. Thomas said practically all of the stock of the Pioneer was held in his name as trustee for the Midwest Company. The last named company is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

STORY OF POGROM SWAYS JURY IN PETLURA CASE

Prosecutors of Assassins
Schwartzbard in Paris, Beg Hearers Not to Let Emotions Bias Judgment

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 25.—The jury trying Samuel Schwartzbard for the murder of Gen. Simon Petlura, Ukrainian separatist leader, was greatly moved when a witness described a pogrom. The soft unadorned eloquence of a young woman, Mala Greenberg, who told of the horrors which she had seen had an effect so overwhelming that Cesare Campinchi, chief counsel for Petlura's family, hastened to appeal to the jury not to let their hearts dominate their heads.

"We sincerely sympathize with you, madamelle," he said, "but you bring no proof against Petlura whom today 420 associations spread over the whole world mourn as a national hero."

The witness, who served in the Ukrainian Red Cross at Proskuroff, yesterday described a three-day pogrom during which, she declared, the streets were littered with the dead and wounded of all ages and sexes.

"I shall never forget the red-dressed snows filled with the hacked bodies going to the cemetery to deposit their dead burden in a common pit," said Miss Greenberg. "They brought the wounded to the hospital—armless and legless men, mutilated babies and young women whose screams became faint as their wounds overcame them." Gr. Jally, as Miss Greenberg spoke, the pace of her narrative quickened. "Oh, no, no," she cried, her shoulders beginning to shake convulsively. "I cannot go on. They are before my eyes."

The witness made a gesture of brushing away the picture. Then suddenly Miss Greenberg shrieked: "Petlura was responsible! Even Ukrainian officers said so. His soldiers killed our people, shouting his name. One regiment had a hand and it played while knives fell on the heads of innocent babies. Petlura could have stopped it but he wouldn't listen to our pleas."

The actual responsibility of Petlura for the pogroms in Ukraine, was affirmed today by an increasing number of defense witnesses.

PARIS LISTS CELLS LIKE HOTEL CLERK

Federal Judge Comments on New Duties With 50
Prohibition Cases on Day's Docket.

FIRST MAN UP GETS
90 DAYS, $440 FINE

Mike Hricko to Fill One of Five Available Rooms at Warrenton — 18 Sent to Jail Yesterday.

"I shall certainly be able to qualify as a hotel clerk by the time these proceedings are completed," Federal Judge Faris remarked today as he sought to deter inept jail accommodations were available for prohibition law violators on his docket.

Fifty prohibition cases, five more than the calendar had yesterday, were on his docket for today. Before calling the first case the court began to rummage about in the papers on his desk. When District Clerk O'Connor came to his aid he explained, "I've lost our list of accommodations."

Chief Deputy Marshal Jennings said: "There is still room for five at Warrenton," and, so, with the observation about his gowing education as a "hotel man," Judge Faris called the first case.

It was that of Mike Hricko, 1931 South Twelfth boulevard, who reduced the available vacancies at Warrenton jail from five to four by drawing a three-month sentence and fine of $440 on his plea of guilty to sale and possession.

During the morning three defendants asked that they be sent to jail in St. Charles instead of Warrenton, where they had been sent by the court. Judge Faris modified his order as requested.

"As long as we have room at St. Charles I shall be glad to accommodate you," he said. The three who asked to be sent there were Lorenzo Spinelli, 1101 Chestnut street, 40 days; Edward W. Stigmeyer, 2308 Benton street, three months and $450; and Tony Paul, 114 North Kingshighway, three months and $440.

When Mrs. Jennie Valenti, a widow, was called to answer a charge of possession in her grocery at 1118 North Twenty-first street she shepherded her small children ahead of her toward the bench. Judge Faris fined her $400 on her plea of guilty.

Later, in the Marshal's office, Mr. Valenti announced that she had only $200 and would be forced to go to jail if her fine were set above that figure. On that information Judge Faris set aside the first fine and penalized her $200, which she paid.

During the forenoon session, Barney J. Smith, former proprietor of a saloon at Theresa and Franklin avenues, was called for arraignment and when he failed to answer Judge Faris ordered his $1000 bond forfeited. Later, however, his bondsman announced that Smith was "detained at Warrenton by Judge Davis." Smith had pleaded guilty of another dry law offense before Judge Faris' associate several weeks ago and is now serving the jail sentence. The case called today was continued.

Charles J. Hunt, 815 North Grand boulevard, explained in entering a plea of possession that he had been running his father's saloon business during the latter's illness and that he had a job as a watch salesman. On the Government's showing that Hunt had once been pleaded guilty of possession, Judge Faris fined him $1000.

Others who entered guilty pleas today, and their punishment: James C. Jordan, High street, $400 fine; Valentine Tobias, 1325 Russell boulevard, $475; Frank Krause, Twentieth street and Franklin avenue, $440; Edward C. Lin, Broadway and Carrie avenue, $440; Ore W. Masterson, 415 Chestnut street, $250; Louis Meyers, 4501 Union boulevard, $250 and 30 days; George Neudeck, 2118 South Broadway, 60 days; John O'Donnell, Montmarie street and Elliot avenue, $440; Rudolph Wael, 2700 Chestnut street, 40 days; Frank Weber, Clayton and Tower Grove avenues, $460; Sam Lederman, $300.

The court granted a continuance of 30 days to Harry Nick, proprietor of a saloon at 1500 Pine street, on his showing that his home was damaged in the tornado and that his services were needed there for a time.

Laying Cornerstone of New Police Headquarters

THE cornerstone of the $1,000,000 Police Headquarters Building, being erected at the southwest corner of Twelfth street and Clark avenue, was laid yesterday afternoon, with Mayor Miller, Chief of Police Gerk and other police and city officials participating. The new building will contain 400 cell rooms.

In a box in the cornerstone were placed a history of the Police Department, a roster of the present force, copies of yesterday's newspapers, a police revolver such as in use now and photographs of the Governor, Mayor, members of the Board of Police Commissioners and police officials. It is expected the new building will be ready for occupancy by October of next year.

TWO WOMEN GET YEAR FOR ELECTION FRAUDS

After Starting Jail Sentences,
They Are Freed on Bond.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Two women election officials, sentenced to jail terms of one year each yesterday for election frauds, started to serve their sentences today, and after being in jail for about three hours regained their freedom for at least two weeks when their attorney filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

The women, Mrs. Tina Wortman and Mrs. Leona Colne, each the mother of a child, were sentenced after a canvass of the votes in their precinct showed wide discrepancies. In passing sentence the Judge said he did not believe the women were the real perpetrators of the fraud but said they lent themselves to it and were used as a shield.

"Under the law they assumed the office as officials and therefore must assume the responsibility," the Judge concluded.

The two women, both mothers and believed to be the first women to go to jail for election frauds since the law was enacted, went to the county jail and began serving their sentences. They were put through the regular jail routine.

The women served as judge and clerk in one precinct where there was a wide discrepancy in the votes cast. Three men officials also were charged with fraud. Two of them never have been caught and a third is in an asylum. Attorneys for the women pleaded that they were inexperienced and that they had to make several trips home during the day to look after their children, but the Judge declared that even inexperience could not account for the wide variance in figures shown.

PORTER HELD AFTER TELLING OF PUTTING WHISKY ON ICE

Witness at Saloonkeeper's Trial
Arrested as He Leaves

Henry Buschmoele, 4221 Wilcox avenue, was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor as he left Federal Judge Faris' court today after testifying it was he who placed a bottle of whisky in the locker in the saloon of Angelo Marotti, at Morganford road and Delor street, Feb. 23.

Marotti's place was raided the afternoon of that date and agents who found the bottle obtained issuance of the information on which he was tried today. Buschmoele, as his star witness, declared he employed as a porter in Marotti's saloon and had left the whisky there for his own use. After he had left work the morning of Feb. 23, according to his testimony, he became stricken with a consciousness of his inefficiency as a porter, and decided not to return, not even for the bottle. When he heard Marotti had been arrested, however, he decided to come to court and tell it all, he said.

JURY FREES MAID AND MISTRESS IN PLOT TO KILL 3

said she didn't want any finger prints checked."

Maid Blames Mistress.
Mamie Todd, the one-time reformatory girl, insisted her part in the conspiracy was all played at the orders of her employer, Miss Morse. Asked why she did not inform the Deyes of the plot, she said: "Because I was afraid of Bossie Morse. I thought she wasn't quite right because of her mother's death."

There were smiles in the courtroom when Mamie testified the only pay she ever received was what money she could pilfer from George Morse's pockets.

"If it was silver, he would let me keep it," she said, "but if it was a bill, he made me give it back."

Chasey testified he had been offered "a couple thousands of easy money" by Mamie, if he would bring in "thugs who would do the dirty work," but that instead he informed the police. They sent him back with Krueger and young David to pose as gunmen.

According to the testimony, George Morse was originally in the list of those to be killed, but the plans were changed. He had been told of his daughter's plot against his life, but he refused to believe it. When he was killed by the fall, his will, still unchanged, bequeathed her half of the income of his estate for life.

Tells of Meeting Maid.
Krueger told of the meetings with Mamie Todd, the passing of money, the first plan to buy a truck with which to wreck Dey's automobile, "and then come back and finish them off," the decision that "there must be some cheaper way to kill them."

He always quoted the maid as saying, "We," they wanted no hospital job, they wanted sure death," he said.

The final plan, suggested by Mamie Todd, he said, was that the car was to be parked across a road traveled by the Deyes, and when they were forced to stop "I was to blaze away with one or two guns."

Bunches of marked bills were passed around before the witness chair as Krueger identified the money as having been paid to him by the maid.

"It was our plan to get her to borrow a large sum of money that could be easily traced," he said. But Mamie Todd never could bring more than $230.

Never Saw Miss Morse.
Witnesses on cross-examination, brought out that Mrs. Morse died without leaving a will.

"But during these meetings you never saw Miss Morse?" asked Wientz. "No, sir," admitted David. Detective David testified that at the last meeting with Mamie Todd and the "gunmen" he was introduced by Krueger as his father and "the fellow who was going to do the job."

"When we passed a pit she said that's where she wanted the job pulled, and it would have to be done the next night. She insisted that it be done right, that it must not be a hospital job but a job for the Coroner," he asserted.

KILLS SELF IN AUTO AND CAR RUNS WILD

Body of Arthur Hall Thrown Out as Machine Goes Down Bank.

Arthur Hall, a shoemaker, of 6147A Dale avenue, shot and killed himself yesterday afternoon, while his automobile continued to run, unguided, along Fine Art drive, near the Art Museum, in Forest Park. As the machine came to a turn in the road, it continued down an embankment to the fairway of the golf course.

Park attaches, told by golfers of hearing the shot and seeing the machine coming down onto the course, found Hall lying near the top of the hill, where he had fallen from the machine. Policemen were told by a brother, Tony Hall, of 6811 Tyrolean avenue, that Arthur had been separated from his wife for some time.

Two letters were found in Arthur Hall's pockets, one addressed to Michael Hall in Cincinnati, the other to J. Vetter Jr. of Maplewood.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER SENTENCED
Harold Woehler, 19, Given Five Years for Holdup in Park.

Harold Woehler, 19 years old, of 5250 Hamilton avenue, was sentenced today to five years in the penitentiary for the robbery in Riverview Park, the evening of Sept. 25, 1926, of a man sitting in a parked automobile with three women.

Three companions of Woehler are still to be tried on the same charge.

Mennonites Leave Paraguay.
By the Associated Press.
WINNIPEG, Canada, Oct. 25.—During the coming winter 600 families of Mennonites, who two years ago left their farms in Western Canada to take up land in Paraguay, will return to the West. Two families of Mennonite farmers reached Winnipeg from Paraguay last night and announced that their fellow colonists were making plans to return.

Two Gypsy Women Fined.
Two Gypsy women today were fined $100 each for telling fortunes of two policemen. The Gypsy women, who gave the names Rose Altx and Lena Tattas, said they had not charged a fee and appealed.

Speeder Quits Driving for 30 Days.
Clarence B. Hatch of 4110 Easton avenue today agreed not to drive his machine for 30 days, after pleading guilty of speeding. Leo T. Coyne of 1000 North Kingshighway whose machine struck another was fined $100 for careless driving and $50 for peace disturbance, the latter charge being the result of a fight with the driver of the other machine.

110 INDICTMENTS IN BOOTLEG GRAFT INQUIRY EXPECTED

Action Against Minor Madison County Officials and St. Louis Clique, Likely at Quincy, Ill., Today.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 25.—The Federal grand jury met here this afternoon to vote indictments as a result of its inquiry into bootlegging and payments for protection in Madison County, where for a year Federal prohibition agents have been trying to dry up a prolific source of supply of moonshine whisky for St. Louis and vicinity.

The correspondent learned that about 110 persons would probably be indicted, including minor town officials of Madison County and members of a wealthy St. Louis clique of Italian bootleggers whose stills were in Madison County.

Several Justices of the Peace, Constables and Deputy Constables are under bond to answer to informations charging extortion of protection money from bootleggers. Some of these, it is understood, are to be indicted.

Others likely to be indicted include many bootleggers, several of whom are said to have paid for protection. The Government's investigators assert they have gathered evidence that more than $250,000 has been paid for protection in Madison County.

Federal Judge Pittenier, in charge of the grand jury, gave instructions to suppress indictments pending arrests.

ROUGH PLAY DID NOT CAUSE BOY'S DEATH, DOCTOR REPORTS

Howard Smith, 12, Succumbed to Gangrene From Apparently Chronic Condition.

There was no apparent connection between the death of 12-year-old Howard Smith yesterday at the Frisco Hospital and his rough-and-tumble play with other boys in the lobby of the Delmonte Hotel Friday night. Dr. T. F. Dunn of 5657 Delmar boulevard testified at the inquest today.

Dr. Dunn testified that when he operated upon the boy, who lived at the hotel with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, there was no evidence of injury to the abdomen, and indications were that the intestinal gangrene from which he was suffering was caused by a chronic condition.

A 8-year-old boy who played with Howard Friday before he became ill said the scuffles of the afternoon did not seem to have hurt him. A Coroner's verdict of death from intestinal gangrene, origin unknown, was returned.

4000 BEGIN TWO WEEKS' COMMUNITY FUND CANVASS

Set Out to Raise $1,850,000 for Support of 50
Charitable or Social Service Organizations.

More than 4000 workers set out today on the campaign in behalf of the Sixth Annual Community Fund, their goal being the raising of $1,850,000 in two weeks. The money will care for the needs of 50 charitable and social service agencies in St. Louis and St. Louis County, whose work is supported in part or in full by the fund.

Erastus Wells, general chairman of the drive, addressed a group of more than 1000 workers last night at a dinner at Hotel Statler. Final instructions were given for the gathering of subscriptions.

Mayor Miller and Alfred Fairbank, campaign chairman, told the workers that the contribution of $800,000 made by the city for tornado relief would have no effect on the Community Fund campaign.

"Some people have said you may have trouble raising your quota because of the large amount given by St. Louisans for tornado relief," Mayor Miller said. "Don't let that bother you. It's a lot of bunk. St. Louis has never failed in an undertaking of this kind and it will not fail now."

The intensive character of the campaign was described by H. Fullerton, chairman of the publicity division. The city will be flooded, he said, with campaign advertisements, and St. Louisans will be reminded of the campaign wherever they go. He predicted unprecedented success for this year's drive.

One of every four citizens who have donated large amounts in previous years are increasing their quota this year. Ingram Boyd, chairman of the Special Gifts Committee, said that the persons interviewed thus far by members of his committee, Boyd said, had considered decreasing their contributions because of funds they gave to tornado relief.

The first report meeting of the campaign is scheduled for tomorrow at the Statler.

One of the first contributors to the fund was Col. Lindbergh, who sent $500.

ORDERS POLICE TO SUPPRESS ROWDYISM ON HALLOWEEN

Chief Gerk Assigns Three Hours of Extra Duty to Whole Force
Next Monday.

Youthful marauders who celebrate Halloween by prying open gates, bread boxes and other removable objects are going to carry off their celebration next Monday under close police supervision.

In an order issued today, Chief Gerk announced that no recreation periods would be allowed on next Monday and that every policeman would work 11 hours instead of eight. As the additional work hours are arranged, every man on the force will be on duty between 8 and 10 p. m. Two-thirds of the force will be at work between 7 and 8 p. m. and between 10 p. m. and 2 a. m.

"Officers are warned not to interfere with innocent fun or merry-making," said the order, "but they must suppress promptly any move toward rowdyism or destruction of property."

MOTHER GETS $25,000 OF HICKS' INSURANCE

National Life of Vermont,
However, Refuses to Pay
Slain Lawyer's Brother.

Mrs. Emma Hicks, mother of Clifford M. Hicks, lawyer, whose murder has remained an unsolved mystery since last April 30, has collected $25,000 of the life insurance carried by Hicks. It became known yesterday through Fred Rench, general agent of the National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont, who testified in a hearing at Clayton.

The witness said his company had refused to pay other policies totaling $175,000, made payable to Hicks' brother, Glenn T. Hicks, and his widow, Mrs. Marie Betts Hicks. This testimony was brought out at a hearing before Circuit Judge Wurdeman of an appeal by Glenn Hicks against the action of Probate Judge Hodgdon in removing him as administrator of his brother's estate.

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller of St. Louis County and Chief Deputy Sheriff Mark Dodd testified there had been no solution of the murder. Glenn Hicks is now $20,000 bond as an alleged accessory to the crime and this fact was made the basis of the action to remove him as administrator. Judge Wurdeman held during several arguments over the point that Hicks' being under bond was in no way a reflection on his character and indicated that he would sustain Glenn Hicks as administrator.

Cash Prizes for Law Students.
Annual cash prizes, totaling $370, to be awarded to law students for excellence in scholarship, were announced yesterday by Dean W. G. Hale of the Washington University School of Law. The prizes are made possible through the gift of $895, known as the Judge Samuel M. Breckenridge Fund, by Joseph H. IN THE INTEREST OF A GREATER APPRECIATION OF MUSIC IN AMERICA

Announcing the Aeolian

PRIZE CONTEST

A new feature of the Duo-Art Radio Recitals

Beginning Wednesday Night, October 26th at 7:30 on KSD.

THE FOURTH AEOLIAN RECITAL, broadcast next Wednesday night, will be an occasion of unusual importance.

These concerts, which began three weeks ago, form part of a great international campaign inaugurated by The Aeolian Company for the purpose of assisting the rapidly developing appreciation of the beautiful masterpieces of the classical composers.

All over the world a musical renaissance is taking place. Evidences of this multiply on every side. Coming just at this time it is of especial interest and significance. Never in the history of art has good music been so readily available. Most of the larger cities have Symphony Orchestras; the smaller cities and towns boast of their Orchestras, Bands and Choral Societies.

The Moving Picture industry is doing its share in this far-reaching movement. The larger houses where pictures are shown have fine orchestras and their programs feature the best Operatic and Symphonic music.

All over the country, music clubs have been formed and with steadily increasing membership are actively engaged in doing their part to develop an understanding and love of fine music.

The Radio, the Phonograph and the Reproducing Piano, are bringing the works of the master composers and the famous interpreters into the remotest homes.

Nor are people longer content to be merely listeners. Music schools everywhere report largely increased attendance and in many instances have had to turn away pupils. Never was there a time when so many students were learning to play the piano, the organ and the more popular of the smaller musical instruments.

Never was knowledge of good music so important; for while you may enjoy the performance of a fine piece of music without any knowledge of it, your pleasure will be immeasurably increased by a familiarity with the composition and a knowledge of the composer and his meaning. Josef Hofmann says, "You get from a concert just exactly what you take to it, no more."

That the Aeolian Recitals gratify a real need in American life is forcefully indicated by the reception that has been accorded the first concerts. Now, in order that listeners may take an active part in the programs, The Aeolian Company announces a unique Contest, beginning Wednesday evening, October 26, and continuing for the five weeks ending November 23. Scores of valuable prizes will be awarded the winners.

How to enter the contest

All you have to do to enter is to write a letter on the subject: "What Music Means in My Home, as Exemplified by This Evening's Duo-Art Recital." Or, if you choose, your letter may discuss one of the compositions played in the recital, or its composer.

We do not ask for formal "essays" in the usual sense of the word. We are interested rather in a sincere, simple expression of the significance of the Duo-Art Radio Recitals in the minds and hearts of those who are hearing them. You may consult musical literature or any references you choose. Or your letter may be but one or two sentences—length does not matter. Every letter will receive the careful attention of the judges.

Read the facts on this page carefully. Then try for one of the valuable prizes yourself.

EVERY Wednesday night the Duo Art recitals are bringing the best of the world's music into thousands of homes. Let your family enjoy Duo Art music. Tune in tomorrow night.

The Prizes

GRAND PRIZES

For the best letter received during the five weeks of the Contest.

First Grand Prize

The Rules

1. The Contest is open to anyone except the families of those connected with The Aeolian Company, its representatives, or its dealers.

2. Write letters on one side of the paper only. Sign your full name and address. Mail to the Aeolian Radio Recitals, Aeolian Hall, 689 Fifth Avenue, New York City, or to the stations from which you hear the recitals. All letters must be in our hands on or before November 30, 1927. Any letter may be rejected at the discretion of the judges.

3. No contestant will be awarded more than one weekly prize. However, all letters will be entered for the Grand Prizes, including winners of weekly awards. The Aeolian Company reserves the right to publish any letters submitted in the contest, in whole or in part.

FRANCE FAVORS EXPERT STUDY IN TARIFF DISPUTE

Settlement of Controversy Believed to Hinge on French Interpretation of Latest U. S. Note.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publishing Co., (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The latest tariff note of the United States was delivered to the Foreign Office here yesterday and is believed to be the last. France will reply that she is ready to turn the dispute between the two countries over to experts to settle the controversy as rapidly as possible.

It is not entirely certain, however, that the French interpretation of the note is what Washington means. In other words importers of American goods in France will not get advantage of the minimum rate under the Sept. 6 tariff until French counter demands of concessions in classification of French goods in America and sanitary regulations are met.

If Washington interprets its note to mean France must place American imports where they were before the recent tariff was enacted, the controversy will begin all over again.

The spokesman for the Foreign Office yesterday declared there would be no point in discussion at all, if the United States gains its point in advance.

The spokesman, however, further intimated the Foreign Office had received word from Ambassador Claudel that the State Department in Washington is ready to discuss all points together and did not expect concessions from France before the technical discussion.

If this is correct it means the danger of a tariff war is for the time averted, but not entirely eliminated, as France intends as principal part of her demand to make tariff experts examine French production costs to show the American tariff is too high. France counts on making Article 115 of the American tariff work to her advantage in lowering the United States duties, although aware that this article has usually worked the other way.

MAYOR SAYS CITY NEEDS MORE MONEY

Tells Traffic Club of Increasing Expenses With Taxation at Legal Limit.

Discussing the need for more revenue to carry on municipal business, Mayor Miller told the Traffic Club at luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday that the work of the new Industrial Club, formed to bring industries to St. Louis was welcome, since it would furnish new wealth to produce tax revenue.

The municipal tax rate now is at its constitutional limit of $1.35 on the $100 valuation, he pointed out. Maintenance of the big Civil Court-house under construction with bond issue funds will place an additional burden of $200,000 to $300,000 on revenue for maintenance, he declared, and completion of the electric street lighting system must come from general revenue. This system is being installed under an $8,000,000 bond item, but the cost of it for the whole city is expected to exceed that sum by $2,000,000 or $2,000,000 more, the Mayor said.

Additional funds are necessary to carry on the elimination of grade crossings, the Mayor continued, and more money may be needed to finish the projected municipal auditorium. The Mayor referred to the recently disclosed fact that payments towards the site of the auditorium are being charged to the $5,000,000 auditorium bond item, although it had been expected they would come from the Memorial Plaza item, leaving the whole $5,000,000 for a building.

After the meeting, Mayor Miller told a Post-Dispatch reporter he would have to consider the question further before determining what might be done about this fund. He is inclined to share the opinion that it would be legal to pay for the site from the plaza item, although the Comptroller's office does not agree with this view.

"I hope that within the next year our railroad difficulties will be ended," the Mayor told the Traffic Club, with reference to the terminal situation. "They were inherited by me, I don't think I started them. I think soon we may have the railroads using the municipal bridge, including the Terminal Railroad. I see no reason why they shouldn't all use it. If we lay aside hatred and misunderstanding, I think that problem will be solved."

A member of the Traffic Club was applauded at the meeting because he and his wife tomorrow will celebrate their fifty-first wedding anniversary. He is Carl Hirdler of 1245 Shawmut place, connected with the Wallace Coal Co. He remarked: "The first 50 years are the hardest."

RED CONGRESS TO HEAR CHARGES AGAINST TROTSKYCentral Communist Committee, Decides to Get Party Action on His "Illegal Activities"

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—Leon Trotsky and Gregory Zinovieff, once leading figures in Soviet Russia, will be expelled from the central committee of the Communist party, it was announced yesterday in a communiqué issued after a joint plenary meeting of the central committee and central controlling commission of the party.

The resolution expelling Trotsky and Zinovieff declares that the joint plenary sitting in August showed the utmost intolerance in giving them an opportunity to fulfill their promise to abandon factional strife, and in confining itself to giving a final warning to them.

"However," continues the resolution, "they again deceived the party and most grossly failed in the obligations undertaken, carrying on factional strife hostile to the party and to party unity to a point bordering on the creation of a new party jointly with the bourgeois intellectuals."

Still Members of Party.
The decision leaves Trotsky and Zinovieff ordinary members of the Communist party, with a fair outlook for expulsion from the ranks unless they come to terms with the dominating powers. This is considered unlikely, without a compromise on either side.

In addition, it was resolved to lay before the approaching Communist Congress, Trotsky's and Zinovieff's illegal activities, such as organizing secret printing plants, destroying the party, and forming a bloc with the renegades Masloff and Ruth Fischer.

Masloff was a Russian Communist deposed by the soviet in 1925 as leader of the German section of the Internationale. Ruth Fischer was a member of the German Reichstag and a Communist leader, ousted from the Communist party in 1926.

Beginning of His Fall.
The presidium of the Central Control Committee of the Communist party last June recommended the expulsion of Trotsky and Zinovieff from the Communist party. They were accused of treasonable speeches and violation of party discipline.
Trotsky, Lenin's commissar for war and marine, began to go into eclipse after the death of Lenin. Zinovieff, former president of the Third Internationale, traveled the same road. Recently both were censured by the Internationale for criticizing Russia's policy in China. Zinovieff's withdrawal as president of the Internationale nearly a year ago was attributed to differences with Joseph Stalin, who is in control of the Communist party.ESTATE OF W. J. BRYAN
APPRAISED AT $1,111,945
Widow, as Executrix, Seeks Aid of Court in Division of Property to Heirs.By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—Court construction of certain paragraphs of the will of the late William Jennings Bryan was asked yesterday in a suit filed by Mrs. Mary Baird Bryan, his widow who was named executrix by the court when the testament was filed for probate.

Ambiguity of two paragraphs of the will was alleged by Mrs. Bryan in her petition which set forth that in one paragraph the testament provides that after all debts are paid and certain specific bequests cared for she is to receive one-third of the residue.

In another paragraph, the petition declares, the will provides that William J. Bryan Jr., Harry Wood, Cal.; Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Coral Gables; Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves of Beverly Hills, Cal., and a proposed college for religious education are each to receive one-fourth.

The estate left by Mr. Bryan was set forth as being worth $1,111,945.50 in the petition which named the other beneficiaries as technical defendants. Of this amount $358,644.76 is in personal property and the remainder consisting of real estate in Los Angeles County, Cal., Lincoln, Neb., and Miami.

Mr. Bryan died at Dayton, Tenn., July 6, 1925.

PRAIRIE FIRES IN ALBERTA

Sixty Thousand Acres Laid Waste
Near Medicine Hat.
By the Associated Press.
MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Oct. 25.—Sixty thousand acres of grazing lands have been laid waste and a number of granaries and two farm houses destroyed by prairie fires sweeping over the Bonanza and Lomand areas, west of Medicine Hat.

A herd of antelope, known to have been on the plains, is believed to have been wiped out. The fire swept through the dry grass on Saturday with a alarming rapidity and only the sudden veering of a wind prevented more serious damage.

Screams Frighten Away Prairie.
Mrs. Hilda Nelson of 4287 Blaine avenue was awakened early today by a man prowling in her room. When she screamed he fled through a rear door. Nothing of value was taken.

DRIVER HELD AFTER TRUCK KILLS MAN

Edward Hill Accused of Criminal Carelessness by Jury at Inquest.

Edward Hill, 48 years old, a chauffeur, of 1524A North Taylor avenue, was ordered held for the grand jury under $5000 bond today after the coroner's jury had held he was criminally careless in the death of Joseph Holden.

Holden, a ransacker, who lived with a brother, Thomas, in a room in a hotel at Sixth and Morgan streets, was killed by a truck driven by Hill as he crossed Franklin avenue at Nineteenth street late yesterday. Testimony indicated that Holden was crossing the street in the pedestrian's lane and that Hill was driving his three-ton truck at more than a prudent speed.

To policemen after the accident Hill declared that Holden stepped into the path of the truck from behind a parked automobile. He declared he was just starting the truck after having stopped behind a street car and that his speed was not more than 10 miles an hour.

Wild Life in Philadelphia.

Ruth Elder's Own Story

Flyers Make Notes from Memory and Write Them Down Aboard Barendrecht; They Land at Horta.

By RUTH ELDER.
Sixth installment.
(Copyright, 1927.)

BY WIRELESS FROM THE S. S. LIMA, Oct. 25.—Capt. Goos insisted that we bring a cup of strong, hot tea before going to bed. We enjoyed it thoroughly, and especially George (Capt. Haldeman), who was shivering with cold after his impromptu sea bath. Later he told me that he had not felt the cold water and did not realize he was wet until we were safely aboard the Barendrecht. Only then did he discover that his clothes were drenched.

We almost fell asleep at the table after having had our tea. The reaction from the long hours of wakefulness, from the strain of battling the storm was beginning to set in. The captain laughingly told us that I had said faintly, "I'm so sleepy." George, he said, replied, "I'll bet you are."

Capt. Goos took George to his cabin to give him some dry clothing. When they reappeared I had the first real laugh in many hours. Capt. Goos is a large, broad-shouldered man. You can imagine the picture George made in his clothes. The trousers hung in huge folds and the vest resembled an empty clothes bag.

The Captain apologized profusely for not being able to supply me with woman's apparel, but I was quite dry and comfortable, thanks to my rubber life suit.

Warm Bath and 7-Hour Sleep. The steward prepared a good warm bath for me and after having laved myself, I tumbled into bed. For the next seven hours I was dead to the world.

Only when I climbed into bed did I fully realize how utterly exhausted I was. I closed my eyes and was immediately asleep in the gaden oblivion of exhaustion. Seven hours later I awoke and found the latter looking much refreshed after his long sleep. After we had had a nice chat with the Captain we were served with an excellent meal consisting of soup, roast beef and potatoes. We had eaten no food during the flight except beef broth and coffee.

This meal certainly tasted good to us. The steward had arranged the table very, very daintily, a vase of artificial flowers was placed in the middle of the table. The Captain explained that the steward was very proud of his achievement. I was the first woman ever to have been aboard the Barendrecht and the steward wanted to make me feel at home.

Compiling Notes of Flight. After dinner George and I started making notes of the flight. The log had been lost at sea, but we had no difficulty in remembering every little incident. Even little details were fresh in our minds. From those little notes the story has been written. I have been trying to give it to you as accurately as possible.

As I wrote we did not seem to be on board the Barendrecht, but back on board the American Girl living over again the experiences through which we had gone together. They will forever burn in my memory. Even now it is hard to realize that our plane is really gone and that we cannot continue in it to our destination as we had so hoped we would.

It seems as if we have awakened from a dream. It is heart-breaking to know that we were only 600 miles from Finisterre, Spain, and could not go forward. If we only could have gone to Finisterre we had our oil leak repaired we could have gone on sailing into Paris and I should have been the happiest girl living.

Yet when I realize that same fate which befell so many other flyers might have been ours also, I am thankful and happy to be alive today. I have tried to reconcile myself with that thought. We can always get another plane (though never one that can take the place of the American Girl) but we have only one life.

Notes Finished, More Sleep. After finishing our notes, George and I realized suddenly that seven hours was not enough sleep after having been awake for 35 hours and with very little sleep the night before I left New York. So again we retired to our rooms.

I slept fitfully. Little incidents and pictures of the flight kept recurring to me. I awoke several times. When morning came I was into, so I hurriedly dressed so that I might join George and Capt. Goos, who were waiting in the dining saloon.

We had breakfast and then walked out on the deck for some fresh air. The sea was much calmer and the sun was shining down. It was a wonderful day and a glorious one for flying. It seemed impossible for it to be so bright and clear when only a few hours before it had been dreadfully black and stormy. But the beauty of bad things and the tragedy of good ones is that they cannot last forever. We were destined to have good sailing weather to Horta.

We spent most of our day in writing. Great! But a good bed looks inviting sometimes. Often the temptation to crawl in was too much. I think I must have spent most of my time on board the Barendrecht in bed. It seemed that I could not get enough sleep.

For six months during the day and for most of the night we had been working, making preparations for our flight. During that time when I was rested I felt that I was cheating, but now there was nothing to do but to sleep and sleep and sleep.

Capt. Goos was ever so thoughtful and considerate of us. He did everything in his power to make us comfortable. The steward prepared dainty little dishes for us. The crew seemed anxious to do something—anything just to make us feel welcome. We learned what real people the Dutch are. We could never repay the Captain who changed his course to take us to Horta, those who risked their lives for us in that little life boat and the steward who worked faithfully until late at night to present us with some little surprise.

The Dutch are a great people and we shall never forget them. Each night before dinner the chief engineer and the first mate would join Capt. Goos in a customary glass of red wine. It was great to sit and listen to them tell of life at sea. We were disappointed when the Captain told us that they talked of their worst experiences. But from the look of their faces, stern and lined, we were sure that locked up within them were some very thrilling stories. After having gone through one terrific storm at sea ourselves, we could appreciate their quietness.

We landed at Horta two days after being rescued on Oct. 15.

Several small launches bringing people from shore came out to meet us.

Among them were Ferdinando Da Costa, Civil Governor of Horta, George I. Mackey, the Western Union manager, and many others.

There were innumerable photographers and reporters. We posed for several pictures in a downpour of rain and after bidding the Captain and the crew of the Barendrecht goodbye we were taken ashore and escorted to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Mackey.

ALDERMEN TO ASK THE PAYEE ABOUT SERVICE CAR FUND

Investigating Committee to Call Waldman's Son-in-Law and Other Parties to Contract.

Signers of the service car drivers' escrow agreement, for payment of $1200 to Mort J. Rosenblatt, son-in-law of Alderman Herman C. Waldman, for "certain services in obtaining certain legislation" will be questioned by the special investigating committee of the Board of Aldermen at a session to begin at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The committee, headed by Alderman Kuhs, met yesterday afternoon and decided on the procedure to be followed. It was decided to summon as witnesses the signers of the escrow agreement, Rosenblatt, George Keller and Victor Crouch of the service car drivers' organization and Attorney H. G. Cohen, who witnessed it as a notary; Andrew Uttendorfer, driver, who incorrectly charged that Alderman Waldman's name appeared on the agreement; Lawrence Schmitz, a driver, who has complained of payments required of him by the organization; Girard C. Varum of the Safety Council and Robert E. Lee of the Automobile Club, to tell of the part taken by those organizations in preparation of Waldman's pending bill for the regulation of service cars.

A subpoena for production of the escrow agreement, made public by Circuit Attorney Siderer yesterday, will be issued against the National City Bank, in which the agreement and $300 of the fund were deposited May 8. The money was withdrawn June 27.

Aldermen Don't Know Rosenblatt. Members of the committee, and other Aldermen, commented on the fact that Rosenblatt, who, under the escrow agreement, was to "perform certain services in obtaining certain legislation," is not known to members of the board, and has not appeared before them, so far as is remembered, about service car legislation on any other matter. Attorney Cohen, with whom Rosenblatt says he had a supplementary contract for performance of the services required, is likewise unknown to the Aldermen.

Rosenblatt is head of the St. Louis Discount Co., an automobile mortgage concern, at 2677 Washington boulevard. He lives at 4409 West Pine boulevard.

Cohen lives at 5235 Waterman avenue and occupies part of an office at 1525 Chemical Building. He has been in the practice of law two years. Although Rosenblatt and Cohen were strangers to the Aldermen, a number of them know Keller, of the service car organization, who has been a frequent visitor to the Board chamber in the past year. Keller has said that he had business dealings with Rosenblatt, and thus happened to talk to him about engaging a representative to obtain legislation, and that Rosenblatt recommended Cohen. Keller said that Cohen wished to be assured of his fee, and that the escrow agreement, making the sum deposited with the bank payable to Rosenblatt, was drawn up, as well as Rosenblatt's supplementary agreement with Cohen. No copy of the latter was filed with the bank, but Rosenblatt has made it public through the Circuit Attorney's office.

Rosenblatt was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter today to explain how he had expected to obtain legislation, either through his own efforts or Cohen's. He refused to answer questions, saying he was waiting to testify at tomorrow's hearing. "There will be some surprises at that hearing," he said, "something that will put me in the background."

Victor Crouch Questioned. Victor Crouch of 6252A Delmar boulevard, former secretary of the Green Cross service car drivers' association, and one of the signers of the escrow agreement, was questioned today by Circuit Attorney Siderer and Assistant Circuit Attorney Maroney. Because of the delay in getting Crouch's statement, Siderer had previously said that his inquiry was uncompleted. After talking with Crouch, the Circuit Attorney said the inquiry was completed, so far as he could see, and he repeated his former statement that no illegal or criminal act had been shown.

Crouch, according to Siderer, said that Keller, as agent for the drivers' organization, was authorized to seek outside help in matters desired by the drivers, and he said that he met Rosenblatt at Keller's suggestion. Later, he said, he met Cohen with Rosenblatt. Crouch said he did not hear questions of legislation discussed, but that he signed the agreement, which specified that Rosenblatt was to serve in obtaining legislation. Crouch said he collected the $300 which was placed in the bank, and that, after dissatisfaction and dissent arose among the drivers, he went to the bank and withdrew the money, which he took to a filling station and returned to the several contributors.

Alderman Waldman, who requested the appointment of the investigating committee, was not present at yesterday's meeting. Oliver T. Remmers, chairman of the Republican City Committee, appeared as Waldman's attorney. In discussing procedure, President Neuz of the board spoke of Remmers as representing "the defense." Remmers, in behalf of Alderman Waldman, asked the investigating committee to call Alderman John Neu as the first witness. Neu, at last Thursday's meeting of the Legislative Committee, accused Waldman of trying to "knock off some business" for his son-in-law, Rosenblatt. Remmers also suggested that Uttendorfer should be the second witness, and that after hearing these, as Waldman's "accusers," it would be in order to question any and all others having knowledge of the facts.

Facts about the test

In the world's greatest test of its kind, supervised by a group of 12 distinguished men, butter was shown to surpass all other foods, save milk, as a food for boys and girls.

BACKGROUND—Six hundred well fed, healthy boys... living in a model village, eleven miles from London... a three year period of testing... a notable group of distinguished men, composed of 12 members of the Medical Research Council, assisting the British Ministry of Health.

METHOD—The six hundred boys were divided into groups. And to the basic, or regular menu of the village, were added small allowances of other foods. To the menu of one group, for example, was added a small quantity of milk; to another, butter; and to other groups, various other foods—some rich in certain vitamins, others in fats, still others in protein, etc.

RESULT—The results of the test are most startling. For one thing, it shows that the right kind of butter, added each meal to a diet already satisfying to the appetite, could convert an average annual gain in weight of 3.85 lbs. per boy into one of 6.30 lbs. ... and an annual average increase in height of 1.84 inches into one of 2.22 inches. Of equal importance was the improvement, regularly shown, in general health and spirit.

CAUSE—The unmistakable betterment in nutrition, when butter rich in energy value was eaten, proved to be due, not to the relatively small increase in the fuel value, nor to added protein, but rather to specific qualities of good, pure butter as a food.

In fact, most authorities today attribute good butter's amazing health and growth-promoting ability, not alone to food calories, but even more largely to its great store of those powerful energy-giving substances known as vitamins.

An epoch-making discovery in child health and growth

12 distinguished men, aided by scientists and 600 English boys, prove Blue Valley's frequent claim that butter is a powerful factor in the physical and mental development of our boys and girls.

Repeatedly Blue Valley has said, "Select the proper kind of butter and you have gone a long way in promoting maximum growth and health in your boys and girls."

Now twelve notable men, assisting the British Ministry of Health, bear out these statements, in the most important and conclusive experiments ever made in the history of nutritional research.

At one point in their amazing report, these distinguished men say, "The vitamin A value of this butter was tested... in biochemical laboratories of University College by Dr. K. H. Coward, who reported that the butter had a high value of vitamin A."

Why did these able men consider it necessary to make certain that the butter used in these tests rated high in vitamin A?

There can be only these reasons: They knew, first, that butter can vary widely in its content of vitamin A. Second, that butter, in order to promote to the maximum the health and growth of children, must be rich in these valuable, energy-giving substances.

The 12 notable men who supervised the test

Recognized as the ideal butter for growing children

Because every precaution has been taken to retain in pure, flavory Blue Valley all the valuable vitamins and other body-building elements that Nature richly stored in the cream, it has long been recognized as an ideal food for growing children.

Such precaution, for example, originally prompted Blue Valley to step ahead of all precedent and found the now famous Blue Valley Research Laboratories. It also largely explains why Professor Otto F. Hunziker, a scientist of world fame in butter making, was later secured as directing head. Two steps which have marked a new era in fine butter making.

These precautions, moreover, further emphasize Blue Valley's frequent claim that the making of supremely fine butter requires far more than a carefully selected and thoroughly pasteurized supply of fine cream. Good cream, we contend, is only the beginning of good butter.

There must also be maintained the most sensitive and delicately balanced set of scientific methods, processes and formulae ever-known in modern food handling.

Surely, then, mothers make a serious mistake when they think all butter is equally good for children. Butter can never be better than the care and methods that go into its making. And Blue Valley, we repeat, offers exceptional health qualities largely because it is made as only Blue Valley knows how.

Once women use Blue Valley, they marvel at its delightful aroma, its unrivalled uniformity, its wondrous flavor—a flavor utterly impossible in butter handled in ordinary ways—a flavor that has made Blue Valley the largest selling package butter in America today.

Best of all, this finer flavor, this greater purity and safety—these vital health-promoting qualities—are yours at only trifling added cost. Blue Valley Creamery Company, 2722-24 Pine St., St. Louis. Telephone JEFFERSON 2945.

The snow-white Blue Valley Creameries are models of cleanliness and sanitation. Women's organizations and others are invited to inspect them any day.

SURVEY OF 3 SCHOOLS

ORDERED BY BOARD

Two Specialists From Columbia University to Begin Work in December.

Investigation of the teaching methods and kindred factors of operation of Harris Teachers' College, Summer Teachers' College for Negroes and Summer High School for Negroes has been started by a special committee of the Board of Education.

Prof. W. C. Bagley and Prof. E. S. Evenden of Columbia University, New York, specialists in the administration of pedagogic institutions, have been assigned to survey the three schools for the committee. They are expected to start their task by December and to take at least a month to finish it.

Prof. Bagley in 1917 inspected Missouri's State Teachers' colleges for the Carnegie Foundation. Members of the special committee are Dr. D. C. Todd, chairman; Mrs. Elias Michael and Arthur A. Blumeyer. The board has appropriated $3000 for the inquiry and promised more if needed. The investigation was ordered by the board last July after a member, Henry Heier, recalled that a similar proposal made about two years previously as to Harris Teachers' College had died of inertia. It was decided also that the city's pedagogic school for Negroes might well be included and recently the board voted to put the Negro high school into the question.

Chairman Todd explained today the inquiry was one to classify and improve the schools, to discover mistakes and offer betterments. He declared that "nobody is on trial" and that the committee was not to investigate any possible controversy of executives entered into the situation. He does not expect that the committee meetings will be public, for fear that if they were, persons giving information would not speak freely. A meeting to make general plans was held yesterday and another is likely soon.

"The inquiry," said Chairman Todd, "is twofold in its objective. First, the committee wants to know a great many things about personnel and general makeup of the schools. Then, Prof. Bagley and Prof. Evenden will make a complete scientific study of the schools. Beyond any possible question of doubt, this committee wants the investigation to be above criticism. "We are going to have heads of departments come before us to give their views, tell what things should be changed, what improvements can be effected, what mistakes may have been made. We are going to assure each individual that every confidence will be held absolute. We are also going to invite any group, such as a patrons' association, to send a representative to present suggestions or criticisms. The committee will thresh out all this and submit its findings to the two investigators."

COMMERCE COMMISSION OPENS HEARING ON RATES

Testimony Will Be Taken at Fort Worth on Livestock Transportation Costs.
By the Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 25.—Rates on all livestock shipments west of the Mississippi River and Chicago are under investigation in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing which opened yesterday before Examiners C. E. Stiles and A. S. Parker.

The hearing, which will last six days, is one of a series, involving Southern and Western territories held by the commission to investigate livestock transportation costs and their relation to the general subject of the effect of railroad rates on agriculture under the terms of the Hoch-Smith resolution.

WOMAN PICKPOCKET FACING LIFE TERM TAKES POISON

Mrs. Helen Brennan, 32, Was Convicted Fifth Time of Larceny in Detroit.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Terrified by the prospect of a life sentence because she was found guilty the fifth time of larceny, Mrs. Helen Brennan, 32 years old, last night took poison in the Elmwood avenue police station. She is in a hospital in a serious condition. Mrs. Brennan was convicted of larceny from the police Friday.

The police say her career as a pickpocket extends over many years and that she is wanted in many other cities on theft and bail jumping indictments. Assistant Prosecutor James E. Chenot said he will demand a life term under the habitual criminal statute, which went into effect in Michigan last month. Mrs. Brennan would be the first woman in the state so sentenced. She said she is suffering from kleptomania and was "framed" in her last conviction.

WOULD END CROPPING OF DOGS

American Kennel Club to Consider New Rule.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The question of outlawing the practice of cropping the ears of dogs will be considered at the December meeting of the American Kennel Club at New York, the headquarters of the American Humane Association. A rule to be submitted to the kennel club for adoption proposes that dogs of several breeds that are born after July 1, 1928, must wear the ears bestowed upon them by Mother Nature or be barred from the show ring. The rule would affect Boston terriers, English bull terriers, Manchester terriers, Great Danes, Doberman Pinschers and Schnauzers.

King Edward VII, when Prince of Wales, succeeded in having the practice of ear cropping abolished in England more than 30 years ago. The crusade in this country was started by the American Humane Association three years ago.

DEMANDS DRY NOMINEE
TO HEAD DEMOCRATS

Head of Women's Law Enforcement League Says It Won't Support a Wet.

Members of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League will have a dry nominee for President, or they will support none, Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson of Washington, president of the league, told a meeting of about 200 Democratic women at the Castle-Rough Apartments today.

Mrs. Nicholson spoke of the recent Democratic rally at Sedalia, where United States Senator Reed, mentioned as a candidate for the presidential nomination, was honored, with a plea for harmony within the Democratic ranks of the State.

"No one today in the Democratic party wants harmony more than the women of the party," Mrs. Nicholson said, "but we are not willing to give up our principles and all the Democratic party has stood for to allow a wet to be mentioned for the highest office within the gift of the party."

The National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League is organizing state units throughout the country.

DANUSER ADMITS HIS ERROR,
BAKER WON'T DO ANYTHING

Tax Commissioner Who Recommended Attorney to Corporations Offers Explanation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 25.—C. M. Danuser, recent appointee of Gov. Baker to the State Tax Commission, yesterday, after a conference with the Governor, issued a statement saying he had not thought his action in recommending his friend, T. C. Owen of Warrensburg, as attorney to appear before the commission on behalf of public utility companies was objectionable.

"I now realize," he admitted, "that by doing so, owing to my official position, such recommendation might be construed as unethical. I hope it will not be so construed, as I had no intention of doing anything other than help a friend secure a position. Neither Owen nor any one else can at any time influence me to anything other than exercise my best judgment in making fair and equal assessments. Neither of the other members of the commission nor the members of the State Board of Equalization knew that I recommended Owen, and no reflection could be cast on them. I spoke of my own personal knowledge of the man."

Gov. Baker said the incident was closed and nothing would be done about it.

DIVORCES MAN SHE REWED
AFTER HE HAD DIVORCED HER

Mrs. Cora F. Stone, 68, Says All Husband Did Was Play Organ.

Mrs. Cora F. Stone, 68 years old, 1018 Mississippi avenue, today divorced Edward W. Stone, 72, on the ground of indignities. They had been married twice.

He divorced her the first time, 27 years ago. She married a Dr. Brown, but he died, and two years ago she remarried her first husband. He refused to work, she testified, except to play an organ at a revival meeting.

Claude W. Stone, a street car conductor, and child of the first marriage, testified for his mother.

Seeker of Republican Seat in Congress From Illinois Speaks at Rockford.

By the Associated Press. ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Medill McCormick opened her campaign for the Republican nomination for Congressman-at-large yesterday in an address before Rockford's luncheon clubs.

"You business men," Mrs. McCormick said, "don't seem to want to get into the harness and be public servants. You dodge the issue and teach your children to do the same. Even our colleges today do not encourage young people to enter politics."

MARTIN ISRAEL ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF MAIL FRAUD

Former Truck Driver at Union Station Denied Charges of Watchman, Who Caused Arrest.

A jury in Federal Judge Davis' Court yesterday acquitted Martin Israel, 45 years old, formerly a mail truck driver at Union Station, of stealing a parcel post package containing a pair of spectacles valued at $25. The trial took but two hours.

Israel was accused by a watchman who caused his arrest when, he said, he saw him put the package, which had been taken from a mail car, beneath a pile of empty mail sacks on a truck. Israel denied any knowledge of the theft.

GIVES UP ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Capt. Courtney Leaves Spain to Return to London.

By the Associated Press. CORUNNA, Spain, Oct. 25.—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, who was forced to abandon his Trans-Atlantic flight in the flying boat "Whale," making a landing here, left Corunna this morning for St. Nazaire, France, and thence will proceed to London.

Courtney, who left England early in September, was forced to land here and had hoped to continue the flight either directly to New York or by way of the Azores.

U. S. NEEDS NEW BAPTISM OF FAITH, BANKER ASSERTS

People Will Begin Soon to Have Interest in Foreign Politics, Malvin A. Traylor
Predicts.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—What the country perhaps most needs, "individually and as a people, is a genuine revival of tolerance, a fresh baptism of faith—tolerance for the views and acts of others—a belief in something beyond ourselves and faith in the destiny of life," Malvin A. Traylor of Chicago, president of the American Bankers' Association, made this declaration here today in his address before 3000 of the nation's bankers at the fifty-third annual convention of the organization.

Seriously confident that American bankers have the enduring machinery to become the intelligent custodians of the world's credit supply, Traylor warned against inept tinkering with it.

Among a wide range of subjects, the president of the association discussed the Dawes plan, which he said most bankers in the beginning thought would fail, who subsequently had witnessed vast sums being poured into Germany; foreign investments, which had become the concern of every man, banker and investor alike, whether it pleased them or not; relief for the farmer, the way to which had not yet appeared; the Federal Reserve Act, which had been criticized, but which should not be fundamentally changed and probably needed smoother administration and maybe strengthening; reformers, at whom he aimed a good-natured shaft, and taxes, about which he was not alarmed.

Has Hope in Dawes Plan.
"To be sure," he said, discussing world relations to German finances, "the day may come when the interest payments required to be made by Germany on its foreign loans together with the payments required under the Dawes plan, may bring about a crisis in Germany's financial affairs. But, if and when that time comes, the plan itself provides a method of procedure. It is reasonable to believe the healing influence of peace and tranquility, which in the meantime will ensue, will make possible, in an atmosphere of justice and equity, an easy adjustment upon a basis fair to all."

Turning to measures for farm relief, Traylor asserted that "justice demands more for those who produce without increased burdens on those who consume," but the only hint of his own views on a solution came in the statement that "our next peaceful national hero may well come from the ranks of those who are now devoting their time to a study of our complex and rapidly changing systems of transportation and distribution, especially as applied to our food supply."

Foreign Loans a Problem.
Traylor held the close attention of the bankers in discussing America's approximate $12,000,000 private capital investments in foreign countries. Many bankers, he said, dismiss the subject with the thought that they neither originate nor participate in foreign loans and that it is Wall street's problem. "Let me remind you, however," he said, "that it is brought daily to the doorstep of every banker and every investor in the country, through the domestic sale of these securities, to your depositors who are paying for them with deposits from your bank."

"Whether you will or not, you are becoming interested in every venture, of whatever character and wherever in the world located, the securities of which are finding lodgment in your community and with your people."

It is perfectly true that the total of all these loans and investments is a mere bagatelle compared with the aggregate of American wealth, but unless human nature has changed, or effects a rapid transformation, have an idea that there are hundreds of thousands of American citizens whose instinct of self-preservation and whose sense of property rights may somewhat incline them to take heed of what is happening in the rest of the world.

Interest in Foreign Affairs.
"Not often have the property rights of our citizens been put in jeopardy by the action of foreign governments, but it was by the reaction that has followed the attempt of our neighbor to the south in matters of this kind, we may well imagine that the day may come when no mere small fraction of our people will not only be interested in what is happening in other lands, but insistent upon our Government likewise taking cognizance of such facts."

Traylor, however, was not opposed to foreign investments. Such a thought was farthest from his mind, he said, because being in reality the world's banker, "we must make foreign loans and investments, both for the preservation of our economic position and in justice and fairness to the rest of the world."

Discussing the Federal reserve act, Traylor thought nothing could be more unfortunate than "either agitation for or actual further legislation with respect to our banking system for some time to come, and most of all that anything should be done to change the fundamental structure of the Federal reserve act. "Let those," he warned, "who think otherwise give careful consideration to the cause of their complaint," which Traylor thought arose largely through administration rather than in defects in the law itself.

"If this assumption is correct," he continued, "may we not ask those in authority to co-operate with us in an effort to strengthen the administrative organization without undermining the foundations of the structure?"

Not Alarmed Over Taxes.

Concerning tax burdens, Traylor was "not optimistic enough to hope for any marked change in the immediate future," but he said he was not greatly alarmed about the matter, "since our largest taxpayers are likewise our largest bond buyers."

Turning to reformers, he thought them "the leaven of the loaf, the salt of the earth who save our body, politic from deterioration," even though their experiments sometimes were merely stupid, many times just ludicrous and nearly always selfish.

"And yet," he said, seem to be doing fairly well, and it seems to me we may reasonably expect a continuance of 'things as they are' for some time to come."

SAYS 10 YEARS OF STUDY IS REQUIRED ON FLOOD CONTROL

A. E. Morgan, Designer of Protection Systems in Ohio and Colorado, Discusses Mississippi.

THINKS U. S. SHOULD PAY HALF THE COST

Rejects Reforestation and Levees Only as Panacea—Suggests Formulating Definite Policy.

Mississippi River flood control is an undertaking of such magnitude, in the opinion of Arthur E. Morgan, who has planned and supervised the construction of 75 water control projects, that "not less than 10 or 20 years of hard work at accumulating and digesting facts and information will be necessary before any board of engineers, no matter how brilliant its personnel, can outline finally a sound and enduring policy."

In the November issue of the Atlantic Monthly, Morgan, who is president of Antioch College at Yellow Springs, O., declares any attempt to begin an extensive program within the next year.

With his experience as chief engineer in 1913 of the commission designed to prevent recurrence of the Dayton, O., flood, and of the commission in 1921 to protect Pueblo, Col., from floods, Morgan asserts that every possible device for flood prevention should be considered without bias, and that a flood commission should be formed "independent of present government engineering organizations, to which would be assigned the administration of this policy."

Denies Deforestation Is Cause.

In quoting an account written in 1859 describing a Mississippi River flood of 1843, the writer attempts to show that deforestation is not the chief cause of floods. Morgan said, "It is an inaccurate statement with which ex-Gov. Pinchot begins a most interesting and suggestive article in a recent number of Survey: The Mississippi flood is a man-made disaster. Likewise ex-Gov. Parker's mistake in the same issue. Our troubles are due to carelessness on our part, but largely to deforestation, the drainage, and the hurrying at us, in an irretrievable flood, of the waters of our 29 sister States between the Appalachians and the Rockies."

Morgan points out that in the heavily forested areas, even though vegetation draws large quantities of rainfall from the ground, it is as quickly given off and precipitated again so that in the North Central States a year's rainfall is evaporated twice and runs off only after its third precipitation, as indicated by a comparison of the rainfall and the run-off in the streams.

The author asserts the policy of "levees only" held by the Mississippi River Commission and the Army engineers, saying it ignores many other methods of control that might prove effective. He suggests that in addition to levees and spillways, the natural reservoirs formed at the juncture of the tributaries and the Mississippi be retained, and that the government cease reclaiming land and depopulate a few sparsely settled areas in the section subject to flood. In this connection he says: "If the greater portion of the flooded area between the Arkansas and Red Rivers should be left unprotected, still it is really needed, and the land be allowed to overflow, the levees on the opposite side of the river would then be sufficient, and the storage of flood waters in the lowlands would reduce the river stages further south."

The financing of flood control, Morgan says, should also receive greater consideration. That the nation should stand the whole burden, he regards as stupid economics, for he says "there is an even greater issue involved than the prevention of Mississippi floods—the preservation of our tradition of national economic stability." To have a great block of the nation's gold in such a project would only enable the large speculators in Mississippi bottom land to share in an unearned increment. He suggests a $5-10 basis for financing the project with the Federal government and the localities benefited sharing the cost equally.

Morgan's Program.

As his contribution to the flood problem, Morgan summarizes as follows: "First, let the national government at its own expense repair the levees in the levees, so that next year's crops may be safe. This may be done by the nation as an emergency service to a community that has suffered a calamity."

Deals Deforestation as Cause.
In quoting an account written in 1840 describing a Mississippi River flood of 1844, the writer attempts to show that deforestation is not the chief cause of floods. Morgan said, "It is an inaccurate statement with which ex-Gov. Pinchot begins a most interesting and suggestive article in a recent number of Survey. The Mississippi flood is a man-made disaster." The author assails the policy of "levees only" held by the Mississippi River Commission and the Army engineers, saying it ignores many other methods of control that might prove effective. He suggests that in addition to levees and dikes, the natural reservoirs formed at the junction of its tributaries, and the Mississippi be retained, and that the government cease reclaiming land and deposit a few sparsely settled areas in the section subject to flood. In this connection he says: "If the greater portion of the flooded area between the Arkansas and Red Rivers should be left unprotected, it is really needed, and the land be allowed to overflow, the levees on the opposite side of the river would then be sufficient, and the storage of flood waters in the lowlands would reduce the river stage further south."

The financing of flood control, Morgan says, should also receive greater consideration. That the nation should stand the whole burden, he regards as stupid economy. He says "there is an enormous, latent investment in the preservation of our Mississippi flood—national economic stability." To have a great block of the nation's gold in such a project would only enable the large speculators in Mississippi bottom land to share in an unearned increment. He suggests a $50-million fund for financing the project with the Federal government and the localities benefited sharing the cost equally.

Morgan's Program.
As his contribution to the flood problem, Morgan summarizes as follows:

"First, let the national government at its own expense repair the levees in the levees, so that next year's crops may be safe. This may be done by the nation as an emergency service to a community that has suffered a calamity."

NEW SEXTANT FOR AVIATORS' USE TELLS POSITION AT ONCE

Navigating Device Invented
by California U. Professor, to Be Further Developed.

By the Associated Press.
BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 25.—An airplane sextant which, according to its inventor, will make possible the findings of position from an airplane without lengthy mathematical computations, has been perfected by H. B. Kaster, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of California. It was announced by college authorities here today.

The instrument is similar to a ship sextant, but it is so designed that after the necessary observations are completed the observer's position may be read directly from the instrument without further work. The advantage of this, it is explained, is to enable positions to be figured under handicaps such as exist in cockpits of airplanes or on small ships not equipped with chart rooms.

A committee of university professors has passed on the instrument and found it worthy of further development. President W. W. Campbell, himself an astronomer, has authorized the construction of an adequate working model. If the instrument fulfills expectations, the United States Government will be asked to test it.

The committee explained, however, that the inventor makes no claim that his instrument will displace the ship sextant because it is more costly to manufacture and requires more care and ability to use.

JAPANESE MAKING MOVIES TO ATTRACT U. S. TOURISTS

Beautiful Scenery, Historical Spots and Historic Facilities to Be Shown in Films.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Oct. 25.—The Japanese railway department is constructing a large moving picture studio in making films which it hopes will induce American tourists to come to Japan. The department has already "shot" about 150 reels of scenic pictures which are to be distributed abroad.

While Japan has as much beautiful scenery and interesting historical spots as any other country, the principal tourist handicap is the lack of modern and comfortable hotels and accommodations throughout the country. There are only two or three really good hotels in the Empire and tourists encounter numerous inconveniences in traveling.

The Japanese Hotel Association, however, will attempt in the near future to remedy these conditions and moving pictures are to be one of the principal methods in spreading the good news abroad.

organization and facilities and be collecting the facts on which an enduring policy may be based.

"Third, find out, as soon as possible, what further work can wisely be done in the immediate future."

"Fourth, make an economic survey to determine whether it is wise to protect the entire flooded area at the present time, and what should, from an economic standpoint, be the sequence of prospective work."

"Fifth, prepare a comprehensive flood control code, to be passed in substance by the States affected, as a condition to receiving Federal aid. Such a code should provide for the return of large tracts to the Government if the owners will not pay the whole cost of reclamation, and would cover the program for interstate co-operation. Where two or more States are bound together by common problems to have inter-State flood control districts organized in the Federal courts, as at present, would solve many a knotty question."

"Sixth, establish a uniform flood control policy, independent of specified proportion of Government assistance on all such projects."

"Seventh, create a national flood control commission, independent of present Government engineering organizations, to which would be assigned the administration of this policy."

"Eighth, proceed with nationally assisted flood control work with the terms of that policy, and under the general supervision of that commission."

TELLS BANKERS MASSSED CAPITAL SPEEDS PROGRESS

Lawyer Says Great Combinations of Money Are Outstanding Feature of Billion-Dollar Age.

FAILURES LAID TO SMALL CAPITAL

Peak Reached Three Years Ago Committee Tells American Bankers' Convention at Houston, Tex.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—World credit, how to maintain prosperity and plans for a campaign against criminals, occupied the American Bankers' Association convention here today.

Americans are realizing the responsibilities of living in a billion-dollar age in a billion-dollar country, James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association, reported to the General Assembly. He said combined capital had been the outstanding factor in the present peaceful social and industrial revolution.

"Combined capital is the outstanding factor in an age which is solving more mysteries, disclosing more secrets, lifting more burdens from man's back and adding more years to his span of life than any other age in history," he said. He cited the insurance business and development of railroads as two examples of development making possible higher wages, better service and increased comfort to millions.

Omaha Banker Speaks.
H. C. Nicholson, vice president of the Omaha National Bank, advised the National Bank Division "not to keep all your eggs in one basket." He listed Liberty Bonds as the "utmost in safety," and found call loans were well protected by highly negotiable securities. He advocated paying out commercial paper as sound banking. He urged bankers to remind investors that "the higher the rate, the lower the security" is applicable to bonds as well as to other investments.

A report by the Protective Committee of the association, deplored the practice of insurance companies of compromising with criminals for the return of stolen property and urged an unrelenting campaign against robbers.

After pointing out that bankers were heavy subscribers to robbery insurance and accepted it despite the fact it was a form of subsidizing crime, the committee suggested more intensive drives on professional criminals and a stronger insistence on their prosecution.

Small capital banks, he said, under, was pointed to as the root of the failure of 3124 state and national banks in the United States in seven years up to 1926. In the report of the Public Service Committee, State Bank Division, the figures "tell their own story," was the laconic comment.

"By far the greater number of failures," the report said, "were in the Mid-Western and Western agricultural states and some of the Southern states." The peak was reached in 1924 with 915 failures, falling to 573 in 1926. Charters meanwhile had decreased from 1744 in 1920 to 1268 in the fiscal year ending June 30, last.

McFadden-Pepper Bill O. K'd.
The Federal Legislative Committee looked with pride on its part in securing enactment of the McFadden-Pepper banking bill and asserted that the McFadden bill is "undoubtedly the most important piece of Federal banking legislation since passage of the Federal reserve act in 1913," because among other things it "has provided the means for speeding up business when it is slow or checking speculation when it threatens national prosperity."

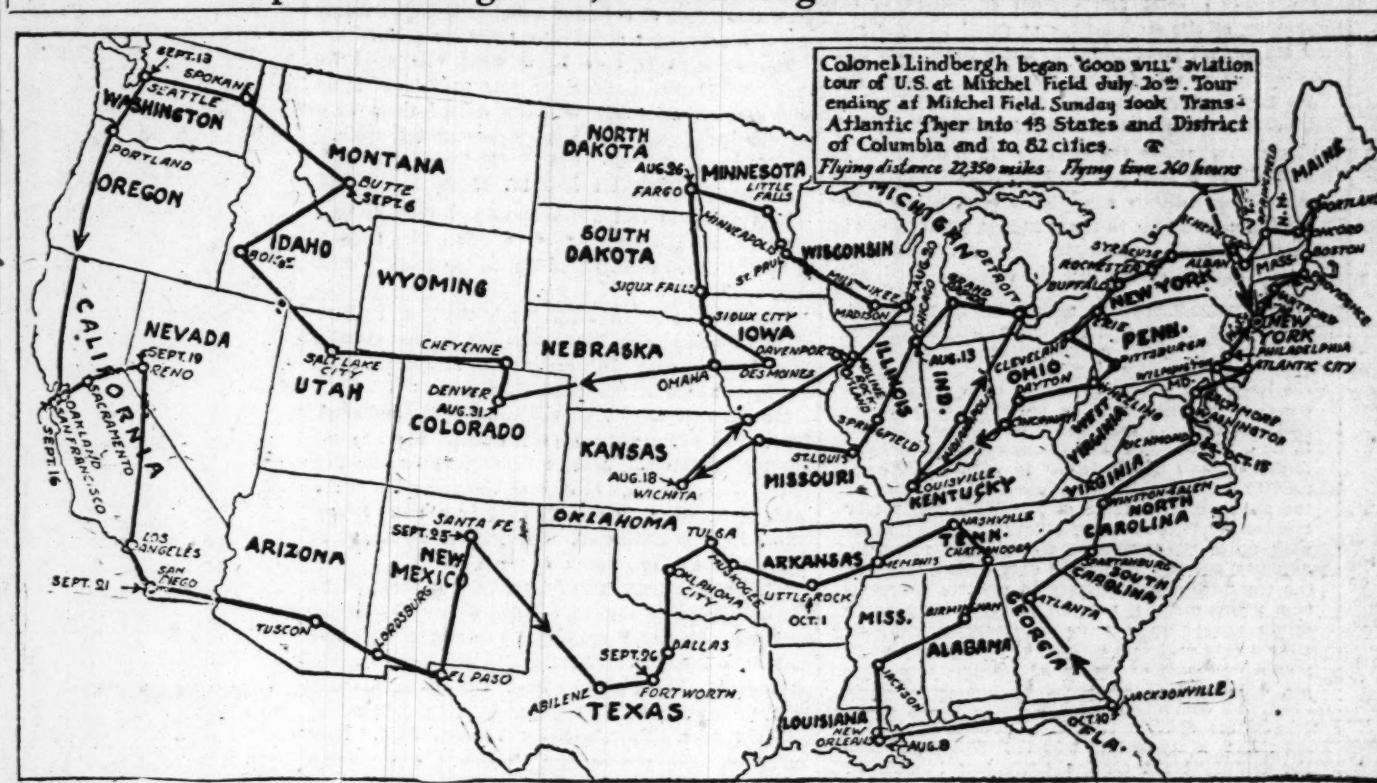

In the contest for the post of second vice president of the association, W. C. Wilkinson of Charlotte, N. C., withdrew in favor of John G. Lonsdale of St. Louis. It is an almost invariable rule that once a man has been made second vice president he will in the following year become first vice president and then president.

Wilkinson's withdrawal virtually insures Lonsdale's election.

George L. Woodward of South Norwalk, Conn., was unanimously elected president of the savings bank division of the association. Taylor R. Durham of Chattanooga was elected vice president. M. H. Mallott of Abilene, Kan., was elected head of the state bank division. Three additional members of the Executive Committee chosen to serve until 1930, were Arthur A. Converse of Chicago, Henry R. Kinsey of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Louis Betz of St. Paul, Minn.

Philadelphia was chosen for the next convention.

COL. LINDBERGH TO AID ARMY PURSUIT PLANE TEST

Will Join Squadron at Oscoda, Mich., Flying Curtiss Machine
With Two Guns.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who completed his nation-wide tour Sunday, is expected at Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, the latter part of the week and will then join the army first pursuit squadron at their winter camp near Oscoda, Mich. Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier said today.

Twenty officers and 60 enlisted men are now engaged in aerial gunnery maneuvers there. Col. Lindbergh plans to take full part in the maneuvers supplied with a regulation Curtiss P-1 plane equipped with two machine guns, one of .30 caliber and one of .50 caliber.

COLUMBIA PLANS OIL CONTROL

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Proposed oil legislation now before the Colombian Congress is expected to establish nationalization of the oil industry in that country without creating a monopoly, Enrique Gomez, secretary of the Colombian Consulate here, has been informed by his Government.

The law, the Ministry of Industries said, does not ignore subsoli rights guaranteed to private owners by previous laws, but it will be invited to come into Colombia, the Minister declared, but companies in which the country owns not less than 50 per cent of the capital will be given advantages.

RHINELAND FORCE REDUCED

Withdrawal of 10,000 French Troops Proceeds Rapidly.

By the Associated Press.
MAYENCE, Oct. 25.—Withdrawal of French troops from the Rhineland, which is expected to reduce the force of occupation to 10,000 men, continued today when two battalions left Treves or Toul. Today's departure brought the total number of troops withdrawn to eight battalions—about 5000 men. Two battalions have already gone from Coblenz and one battalion each from Worms, Neustadt, Speyer and Landau.

Mexican Bandits Released Briton.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Release by Mexican bandits of W. E. Mitchell, British subject and general manager of the American-owned Amajac mines at Ixtlan, Nayarit, Mexico, was reported to the State Department today by Consul William P. Blocker at Mazatlan. Mitchell was captured about Oct. 18 and held for ransom under threat of death. Previous messages had indicated that the mining company was prepared to pay the ransom.

Senator Caraway Clashes With Bankers on Farm Relief And Receives Sharp Retort

President Traylor Resents Arkansan's Charge of Unfairness Because More Time Was Not Given the Subject.

By PAUL WILLARD GARRETT.
(Copyright, 1927.)
HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 25.—It takes more than a Senator and an ex-Governor to show Melvin A. Traylor how to run off an American Bankers' Association program. Senator R. H. Caraway and former Gov. George W. Donaghey, both of Arkansas, learned when the president of the association severely rebuked them for their effort to break into the convention with their delegation to expound their views of farm relief.

Traylor in a statement given out after the self-appointed farm delegation declared the 45 minutes allotted farmers was not enough but that they had ever asked him for an opportunity to speak and intimated that since the program was made up 60 days ago they were fortunate to get a hearing at all. He said that he was as most of the other delegates, Traylor represented the implication that any trust had been made by the association against agriculture.

"I wonder if the farmers of the country who have been supplied with hundreds of millions by the bankers are willing to place their welfare in the hands of gentlemen whose particular business consists in a concerted force against relief," Senator Caraway said. "The bankers state our plan is economically unsound, yet they have not heard the plan and will not listen. We believe that the bankers should take their foot off the brakes and give the farmers an equal opportunity for legislation to right the wrongs of the past." He declared that "what his committee desired was to interest the bankers to the point that they would investigate the situation and study our plan or formulate some other plan for relief."

"The farmers feel," he said, "that the bankers and the industrial interests have prejudiced leaders, even the President of the United States, against any relief for farmers and we feel that all farmers are justified in feeling that way."

WAR SECRETARY BACK AFTER FLOOD SURVEY

Davis, in St. Louis, Gratified at Rapid Recovery of the South.

Secretary of War Davis returned to St. Louis this morning after a 7-day tour of the Lower Mississippi flood area, gathering first-hand information for use in framing a comprehensive flood control program this winter.

He will leave St. Louis at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow for St. Paul, Minn., where he will address a National Guard convention Thursday. Immediately thereafter he will make a short trip down the Mississippi in a Government towboat, to observe the operation of the levees. He will leave the boat probably at Rock Island and return to Washington.

During the Southern trip, Davis, accompanied by an army captain, two reporters and two news photographers, made a flying trip through Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee and Mississippi, traveling by train, automobile and boat. The tour gave him an opportunity to discuss flood control with State officials and representatives of civic bodies and also permitted him to inspect some of the damaged areas.

South Recovers Rapidly.
"I was gratified to find," he told

MEXICO HAILS MORROW AS ENVOY OF PEACE

New U. S. Ambassador Will Present Credentials to Calles
Before End of Week.

Copyright, 1927 by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow has become strong over night in Mexico. All Mexican comment reflects a markedly sympathetic reaction to his personality.

He addressed his first communication to the Foreign Office yesterday. It was a request for an opportunity to pay his respects to Acting Foreign Minister Gen. Arce Estrada. The presentation of his credentials to President Calles will probably take place the latter part of the week.

Both leading newspapers of Mexico City feature the Ambassador's arrival Sunday with unprecedented lavishness. They predict he will do much toward bringing about an era of good will and understanding between the United States and Mexico.

"Mr. Morrow," says El Universal, "has arrived in our country under the best auspices. He has all the indispensable requisites for success in his mission of peace and good will."

The question at issue between the United States and Mexico, it may be said, is properly not political, but fundamentally economic. Beyond the Rio Grande it is called a business issue. Economic or business, it is preferable that technical experts in those fields should study and settle it. And Mr. Morrow is undoubtedly one of the greatest living economic or business experts.

"If Mexico imitates President Coolidge's attitude, or, in other words, also puts the pending problem on its proper plane, the happy result that North American public opinion looks for and Mexicans keenly desire will be realized."

Excellor takes an equally optimistic view of Morrow's mission, saying:

"The new American Ambassador is not, we already know, a diplomat by profession. So much the better. The new Ambassador is by profession a banker, but if we may believe a London newspaper, he is not merely a banker, he is also a statesman of great ability, as he revealed during his stay in Europe, where he was special agent for the United States during the war."

"Mr. Morrow is not unaware that all the United States has gained in money has been lost in prestige. In the United States they have not understood, or have not wished to understand, the suspicions aroused in these countries. In Mexico, especially, this lack of confidence has increased. The United States is under suspicion of deliberate lying to maintain a continual state of conflict. So believe the Mexican people as a whole. The new Ambassador will be able to ascertain if he takes the trouble to consult the opinion of all classes of our people."

"This investigation, in our opinion, is the most important task that confronts Mr. Morrow."

School Injunction in Gary, Ind.
By the Associated Press.
VALPARAISO, Ind., Oct. 25.—A temporary restraining order, enjoining the city of Gary from erecting a $15,000 school for Negroes was granted by Judge Grant Crum-packer yesterday. The order was asked by parents of the Negro students, whose enrollment at the Emerson School at Gary caused more than 1000 pupils of the school to go on strike. The walk-out lasted until the School Board agreed to erect an all-Negro school.

RUMANIA RULED BY MARTIAL LAW TO PREVENT COUP

Former Official Arrested
Following Discovery of Plot to Place Carol on Son's Throne.

LETTERS BARE NEGOTIATIONS

Communications From Exiled Crown Prince Ask Public Vote to Determine Sentiment on Return.

By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, Oct. 25.—Martial law was declared in Rumania today after the discovery of a plot to re-establish the exiled Crown Prince Carol upon the throne of his father, the late King Ferdinand, in place of his son, 6-year-old King Michael.

Order prevails, but underneath the calm is a feeling of undigested anxiety and uncertainty. The Cabinet held several meetings this morning in the bedroom of Premier Bratianu, who is indisposed. To add a dramatic touch to the situation, today was little King Michael's sixteenth birthday and the event was celebrated at a solemn service in the Patriarchal Cathedral in the presence of the Foreign Ministers and the diplomatic corps, while the entire country seethed with interest in the movement on behalf of the young King's father.

Former Official Arrested.
News of the discovery of the plot came with the arrest of M. Manoliescu, under-secretary of finance in the Averescu cabinet, on charges of plotting to re-establish Carol upon the throne, which he renounced almost two years ago. Manoliescu, in whose possession the police stated were found many compromising letters to and from Carol, who is now living in a suburb of Paris, will be tried by a military court martial. Among the letters was one addressed to Carol's mother, Queen Dowager Marie, but this letter is presumed to be of a family and not a political character.

At a meeting of the National Peasants Party yesterday, President Michalache, who is a member of Parliament, declared open warfare upon the Bratianu regime, and the Rumanian leader, who so often has been described as a "dictator," is believed to be facing one of the greatest crises in his long political career.

Bratianu's Contemplated Course.
On Thursday Premier Bratianu will demand from all the political groups in Parliament a declaration of their attitude toward the present situation. He already has announced his Government will regard as enemies of the country all those who oppose the present constitution and will charge them with high treason.

He is determined, he says, to take the most sweeping measures to clear Rumania for all time of her recurring dynastic troubles. Manoliescu, it is stated, was about to start a newspaper called "The New Rumania" in the name of Carol's son, the crown prince, in Rumania, the words new star mean substantially, "New King." Nicholas Cocco, editor of the newspaper, has been arrested and his plot to assassinate Carol is being investigated.

In the seized letters Carol asks that a referendum be held throughout Rumania to determine whether the people wish his return. Letters in this vein and dealing with the dynastic problem were described by the authorities as "a direct challenge to constitutional security and order of the state."

Attitude of His Mother.
Former Queen Marie and the Boy King Michael remain at Sinaia, the Royal family's summer palace. Marie, who from the first expressed opposition to anything which would upset the present tranquillity of the country and the normal functioning of the regency upon which her son Prince Nicholas is a member, is represented as profoundly worried by the new developments.

She is said to have sincerely supported the government in its desire to prevent any reopening of the dynastic situation, fearing that Carol's return would plunge the country into serious political and social unrest.

Cabinet's Statement.
The cabinet after meeting last night issued this statement: "Reports which have appeared in foreign newspapers regarding a Carolist movement in Rumania are without foundation. The truth is that former Crown Prince Carol attempted to send an invitation to the heads of the various parties, including the Premier, with the object of inducing the Rumanian people to give up their decision on

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Passion for Uniformity Hits Maplewood.

Now comes a plan to uniform the girls in the Maplewood Junior and Senior High Schools. This, too, in face of the fact that the most advanced thought on the management of houses of correction, prisons and penitentiaries is for the abolishing of all marks of degradation.

Not knowing whether this communistic plan originated with the Soviet in Moscow, the Parent-Teachers' Association or the Laundrymen's Association, we are taking this means of submitting certain amplifications of the scheme to make it more effective.

We hope the Board of Education, to avoid the charge of class legislation, will "sanction" the following rules:

(a) All boys in Junior and Senior High School shall wear history shirts and blue overalls; the juniors with green ties and the seniors with beige.

(b) All men teachers shall wear purple and yellow vertical striped (one and one-half inches wide) satin pajamas.

(c) All women teachers shall wear poke bonnets and red and yellow, round and round striped mother-hub-bards. Since the women like individuality the female teachers may exhibit their taste in good dress by varying the width of the stripes.

(d) To all pupils whose grade in school work falls below 60 there shall be assigned sufficient of the scholarship percentage of those above 90 to make the average intellect of the Maplewood Junior and Senior High School pupils register exactly 70.

(e) All football games with Webster shall result in a score of 6 to 6.

SUB-COMMITTEE.

Thinks Some One With Brains Might Solve Smoke Problem.

PERHAPS if some of the money raised for smoke prevention were offered as a prize, some one with brains would solve the problem. So long as smoke is brought to St. Louis, so long will we have smoke in St. Louis. Correct firing helps to abate smoke, but I am in position to know it is impossible to carry this out successfully. Why keep up this farce any longer?

Men take muddy river water and give us clear water. When the smoke in gunpowder was found objectionable, the smoke was taken out. The man with the right kind of a head on him will take the smoke out of St. Louis. Then the city will have no use for smoke inspectors and so-called firing instructors.

A READER.

What an Old Line Jeffersonian Is Thinking About.

IT SEEMS the politicians are preparing to stir up the same old strife. Men of the same party seem to be so widely divergent and pronounced in their views that they leave no room for compromise. It is the old sophistry and hypocrisy that has been going on from time immemorial. We can have only one banner, Democratic or Republican. Which is right?

Republican rule means an aristocracy on one hand and slavery on the other. We can see this everywhere—the tax cut, working conditions, the flood situation and the treatment of the farmers. Democratic rule means a mob and a mob. None will deny that Wilson was a great humanitarian, yet withal he was too much of a socialist to suit some people. Jefferson's idea was full liberty to the individual with as little law as possible, always with the understanding that everyone would live within the law and pay proper respect to his neighbor. About trying to govern the world and regulate the world's affairs, old Tom was too wise for that. That is all right for a lot of ephemeral dreamers and women who want to pose in the limelight, but for a real old Jeffersonian Democrat, never.

Now I think Reed comes nearer to meeting my ideal than any of the aspirants before the public. Rally to the support of the Constitution, repeal obnoxious laws and relegate bigotry, fraud, race-hatred to oblivion. Bring things back to a man, especially a workingman, can have some confidence in himself, know where he stands and live in contentment and peace. Let the world's savior of the world concentrate on our people here at home, help to ameliorate this condition and build up a powerful, law-abiding, happy people. This can only be done through the Jeffersonian idea. Equal rights and privileges to all, special privileges to none and the avoidance of entangling alliances with kings or monarchs of any kind whatsoever.

Burning Issue No. 4352.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
FOR some time past I have had to put additional glue on stamps. If one does not do this, important letters may be paid up indefinitely for lack of postage, or never get to their destination. I have been a Republican all my life, but it might be possible if we had a Democratic administration to get a little more glue.

GEORGE W. SANBORN.

WHY THE PUBLIC FEARS UTILITY COMBINES

A representative of a great electric power company, writing to the Post-Dispatch, declares that the cartoon published in the Post-Dispatch Oct. 18, entitled "The New Octopus," exactly represents the situation created by the buying up of numerous small-town electric light and power plants by one company. Objecting, of course, to the attitude and wording of the cartoon, he presents a clear and explicit exposition of the economics of the combination of small plants under one big central plant which supplies power and electric current to all of them.

He compares the situation in the country, where numerous small plants are combined under one central organization, to the situation in the city of St. Louis, where a single electric light and power system serves practically a million people, which offers a condition favorable to the economic production and distribution of electric power. With reference to the districts outside of the city he writes:

In a nonmetropolitan area—that is, the small towns and rural sections—if a single electric system is to reach a population equivalent to that of a large city (and nobody questions that the large city should be served by a single company) it is necessary to purchase perhaps as many as 50 small companies, for the reason that in such territories the business was started by a local company "on its own" in each small community. The recurrent appearance of news of the acquisition of these small plants apparently creates the impression of a large company grabbing up small companies for sinister purposes. Actually, it is nothing more than giving effect to the technical improvements in electric transmission which make it possible to serve large population groups in a wide nonmetropolitan area from a single system instead of from many small plants incapable of proper operation. It is simply a process of attaining in nonmetropolitan areas the equivalent circumstances which make economical electric service a possibility in the big cities. Only in that way is it possible to give the countryside a service equivalent in quality, quantity and economy to that enjoyed by the large cities. The completed system, after all these acquisitions, is usually not as large in investment as a single company in a city the size of St. Louis.

Citing an example of one of the large public service companies serving a population of 600,000, less by one-third than the population served by a single company in St. Louis, he points out that this 600,000 people are distributed over an area of 17,000 square miles. They do not live in one city, but in 340 separate communities. Originally these 340 separate communities, with populations of 5000 or less, were served by separate plants. He shows conclusively from the records that the combination of these separate plants into one aggregate served by a central plant is far more economical than the separate plant system. The selling price of the central company is less than the average cost of generating electricity in separate electric generating stations.

All of this is true. The economic argument in favor of the central service system as opposed to the separate generating stations is unanswerable. The intelligent public now recognizes the economic necessity of regulated monopolies in public utilities over competitive or separate systems of service. But there must be honest and effective regulation to prevent abuses.

There are two contingencies in the present process of consolidating water power resources and electric service throughout the country which the public fears. One is a monopoly of water power resources, without effective regulation. The other is the monopoly of the distribution of electric light and power, without effective regulation. This is the fear that led the public to fight the original trust combinations, when there was no assurance of regulation. It now leads the public to distrust the monopolizing of electric light and power on account of ineffective regulation and a policy of the public utilities in seeking high valuations which seem to justify high rates for service. The great public utilities are themselves responsible for much of this fear because many of them are seeking and some have obtained high valuations on the theory of reproduction cost new, which assure them great profits and lay great burdens on consumers.

It is distrust of both the companies and the regulating commissions which leads the public to regard as a menace the monopolizing of electric light and power. It is the abuses of the monopolized systems that trouble the public.

Whenever the organizers and directors of the great combinations of public utilities deal fairly with the public and are willing to accept fair valuations, fair returns on their property, and there is effective regulation to this end, the public will be satisfied. They will enjoy the economic benefits of combination, without the menace of unregulated or badly regulated monopolies.

REGULATING FOREIGN LOANS.

The State Department's policy of requiring its own on all foreign loans made by the bankers of this country—another legacy from Harding, by the way—is vicious not only as a peace-time practice, in that it involves an obligation to use the marines as debt collectors, but it becomes even more ominous in times of war.

It is a principle of international law that a private banker may lend money to a belligerent without compromising the neutrality of his own State; for a neutral State, however, to lend money to a belligerent is such a breach of neutrality as to constitute an act of war against the other belligerent, aligning the lending State with the belligerent debtor as an ally. The late John Westlake, an eminent English authority on international law, has anticipated the dangerous situation in which the State Department's usurpation has placed us. He says:

If by the law of the neutral State the consent of the executive is required to loans by individuals to foreign Powers, or if the executive is in the habit of practically controlling such operations by the exercise of his influence, a loan by individuals to a belligerent which is allowed to slip through the meshes will have an international character not distinguishable from a loan by a State.

It is to be hoped that when Congress meets this Harding legacy will go the way of Teapot Dome.

MUSOLINI'S DEFENSE.

Reading Mussolini's defense of Fascism in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, one cannot escape the conclusion that as an attorney for the defense Il Duce is an utter flop.

Instead of a justification, indeed, the Premier's effort seems a sort of giveaway. To him, it appears, the sterling virtues of Fascism are those characteristics which must to liberals everywhere seem its most obvious and indefensible ones. He exults because it won against fascists so disorganized and unprepared for Fascist warfare that they were unable to fight back, and he brags because it has put down all "subversive anti-Fascism"—by which he evidently means all political and economic movements which promise to become opposition parties.

In such achievements as the improvement of the fire and the restoration of prosperity, which recently drew the praise of even the socialist George Bernard Shaw, the Premier apparently takes no pride.

The Fascists, if they knew what was good for them, would give Il Duce the case as defense attorney, and get somebody who can defend them without admitting all the serious charges against them.

LINDBERGH AND ST. LOUIS.

"I'm going to rest a few days and then make a short visit to Michigan. . . . After that I frankly don't know, but St. Louis will be my present headquarters."

That is what Col. Lindbergh told the New York reporters Sunday when he completed his three months' tour of the country with his landing at Mitchell Field a minute ahead of scheduled time.

On this tour Lindbergh performed a la Lindbergh. He visited every state in the Union. He was the guest of 82 cities. Always he arrived on the tick of the clock, or ahead of it, with one exception (Portland, Me.), when he was delayed by a fog. Everywhere he was acclaimed. Everywhere he acquitted himself in the Lindbergh manner.

What of the grand tour? What did it accomplish? We have a timely answer, coupled with an ambitious proposal from Maj. Albert Bond Lambert. Many cities have been inspired by Lindbergh's presence to adopt pretentious airport plans. There are 208 such fields in the United States. Dayton, O., with 4500 acres, sets the pace. Buffalo has a 714-acre field. New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland are moving swiftly. Los Angeles is spending $6000 an acre for her field; Chicago, $12,000.

St. Louis is lagging, Maj. Lambert says. He advises enlarging the Lambert-St. Louis field of 170 acres by purchasing 438 more acres, thus bringing our airport into front-rank scale. The land can be bought, he says, for $650 an acre. His entire project entails an investment of $1,200,000. He recites its advantages as an airport. The development of a new industrial district would follow as one of the community gains from this enterprise. Altogether, it is a persuasive prospectus Mr. Lambert has prepared.

One thing is sure: If we don't get ready in a big way for the future of commercial aviation which will suddenly be here, we shall have missed a great opportunity and we shall be only a way station on the aerial map, where we ought to be the metropolis of aviation.

Lindbergh is returning to St. Louis to make this city his "present headquarters." Will St. Louis be his permanent headquarters? It depends, probably, on what we do. If we go in for aviation, as Maj. Lambert counsels, Lindbergh may find in St. Louis another incomparable opportunity.

GOV. BAKER'S MUTT AND JEFF.

Is there anything more droll in the whole body of laughable letters than the correspondence of C. M. Danuser and his friend, T. C. Owen, with our public utility companies? You may not know Danuser? Well, he is one of Gov. Baker's latest finds, and, perhaps, the gem of the collection. Recently appointed a member of the State Tax Commission, he quickly extended a helping hand to Mr. Owen. He wrote the public utility companies who from time to time appear before the commission to discuss the substantial matter of taxes that his friend Owen was a good lawyer. He suggested they retain Owen. He explained that Owen knew all the members of the commission, was acquainted, too, with the members of the Board of Equalization. The implication was that Owen knew his stuff.

These Danuser letters, it should be explained, were in the nature of follow-ups. Before Danuser wrote, Owen himself had written to the public utility companies seeking to place his services at their disposal. It might be mentioned, too, that Owen has been indicted for alleged irregularities in his legal practice, but that is a minor claim to distinction. His fame really rests in his acquaintanceship with the dignitaries at Jefferson City who say the final say on taxes.

Disclosure by the Sunday Post-Dispatch of the fact that Danuser and Owen had penned such epistles has seemingly embarrassed the authors. They do not bear their blushing honors with aplomb. They admit that their literary efforts "look sort of funny." A modest acknowledgment, what? Mark Twain's crown is awry. Artemus Ward stirs uneasily. Josh Billings' slumber is broken. Such was as Ring Lardner and Irvin Cobb sound prosy. The two dazzling luminaries of American humor are Danuser and Owen. They are the Mutt and Jeff of Gov. Baker's comic-strip administration.

The service car drivers appear to have been off their regular route.

MUST ST. LOUIS HAVE AN IROQUOIS?

Fire broke out in a motion picture house in a little town in Finland Sunday night. Twenty-one persons were killed—by burning or suffocation. Finland is far away. Distance lends indifference. It will be well for St. Louis, though, if that Finland fire arouse us to our own folly.

For as sure as fate we are headed for a motion picture holocaust. Look at any of our first-run houses on rush nights. For specific example, look at the Ambassador on Saturday night. The place was literally packed. Every seat occupied, aisles congested, the foyer a milling mob, with fresh streams pouring steadily in as the sale of tickets went on.

A stampede for any reason would have meant an appalling loss of life. A fire would have meant another Chicago Iroquois, or worse.

The Ambassador is no special offender. They are all alike. They are all courting disaster. And they are doing it by permission of the city administration, the recklessness of humanity and the apathy of public opinion.

Human nature cannot be indicted, neither can public opinion. The city administration can be. It is shirking its responsibility.

Will it continue to shirk until the night or day of reckoning comes and then wring its hands in impotent despair? Or will it compel the owners of motion picture houses to curb their greed and observe the elemental rules of safety by limiting their sales to decent capacity?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

AL SMITH AND "JIM" REED.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
THE supporters of Gov. Smith will do well to hearken unto this voice lifted up from the Ozark country. Gov. Smith may choose to remain silent, but Senator Reed does not. If "Al" Smith will not assail the enemy, "Jim" Reed will. If the New Yorker is afraid to plunge in, the Missourian is not afraid. Months ago it was said that Reed was the one real rival of Smith. He may be about to prove it.

Here is a man with a tongue like a 2-edged flame. It cuts and it sears. He loves tense moments and dramatic situations. He is the hard-boiled, Mr. Reed, the ironic, belligerent and always cantankerous prosecuting attorney. It is in this, his favorite mood, that he will assail the Republicans.

Down and out in 1920, he has beaten back over the broken bodies of his Missouri foes. They may not love him, but they who cast him into outer darkness seven years ago must lick his hands today. He is the lone survivor of the Wilson wrath. He may have been a "marplot" in 1920, but he calls the tune to which Missouri Democrats dance in 1927.

The hill folk and the river people flock to him when he lifts his voice at Missouri crossroads and in Ozark courthouse yards. In 1922 he swept Republican St. Louis as fire sweeps a prairie. Given his chance with the same kind of voters outside of Missouri, and he may upset the apple carts of eastern Democracy.

If he can shake himself loose into the open field in 1928, he may cause the self-satisfied Smith people a world of trouble. Wet as he is, the South and the border states would prefer a Missouri wet to a Tammany wet. He knows how to pluck the hard strings of western prejudice. "Jim" Reed knows how to bully Wall Street in the good old way. He knows how to chant the "hymn of hate."

Here is no heart bowed down. The harp of the Missourian never hangs on a willow tree. When he swings into action he is about as suave as a bull hornet; and if he gets loose in the coming campaign, the babes in the political woods will do well to stay back of the ropes.

HIGHWAY SAFETY SIGNS.

From the Minneapolis Journal.
TWO states, at least, are experimenting with psychological factors in attempts to promote safety on the highway.

In Ohio, along the roadsides, motorists may see little white crosses, unadorned except for notice that each cross represents a human life lost in an automobile accident. The crosses are so placed that they are conspicuous day and night. In some places are clusters of four or five such crosses, each betokening the same thing—a tragedy.

In Massachusetts the Registrar of Motor Vehicles is publishing each week, conspicuously in the daily newspapers, the names of the drivers who have been killed during the week as having lost their lives in automobile accidents.

Then follow the list of names, with ages and addresses, and last, whether the person was a pedestrian or an occupant of a motor vehicle, when killed.

MORE REFORMS FOR INDIANA

From the New York Evening World.

ONCE again the Hoosiers have occasion to bang their heads in shame over the brutal bigots' law in Indiana making it a crime to prescribe liquor when necessary to save human life. It is the kind of law that any man with any manhood will always break when necessary, and break it without apology or shame. It has been broken by the Governor of that State to save his wife, by the Attorney-General to save his boy. It has been broken by a mechanic in Indianapolis to save his 13-year-old daughter.

The mechanic faced the court, head up; and unashamed, and said he had broken the law because the physician had said that liquor was necessary to save his child. The physician admitted it.

The judge upon the bench, having fined the mechanic the $100 prescribed by the law and having sentenced him to jail for 30 days, was ashamed of the dirty work the bigots' law forced upon him. He remitted the fine and suspended the sentence.

But it costs the mechanic, a poor man, $20 cents for daring to trample upon the bigots' law to save his child. The Governor had done it, the Attorney-General had done it, the Judge himself would do it, and the man who would not do it on the advice of a physician when human life is at stake is the person who would deserve being dragged into court and drummed out of any community of decent people.

FORTY-FOOT ROADS.

From the Chicago Tribune.
THE Governor of Wisconsin has informed the Motorists' Association of Illinois that his state is planning to build a 40-foot paved road straight north from the Illinois line to Eagle River, Wis. The road will supplement the roads to Milwaukee and Madison and will run approximately midway between them. We can foresee the day by no means distant when the 40-foot road will be standard. The present 18 and 20-foot pavements are already obsolete and inadequate in regions as heavily populated as the Middle West. The 40-foot road can be built for considerably less than twice the cost of the 20-foot road and it can handle much more than twice as much traffic at greater speed with greater safety. Cook County and Illinois, unfortunately, have been slower to appreciate the advantages of wide motor roads than neighboring states and counties, although, paradoxically, it is exactly in Cook County that the need for wider roads is most pressing.

SOUTHERN FLAGS FOR SOUTH.

From the New York Times.

THE decision of the Governor of New Jersey to return to North Carolina flags of that state captured by New Jersey regiments during the Civil War will be appreciated in the North as well as in the South. Ever since the World War brought the sons of Northern and Southern veterans into close contact the last remaining vestiges of regional feeling have disappeared. The North has taken Lee to heart as a great American. The South has recognized the splendor of Lincoln. As one mark of the new spirit many Confederate flags taken by Northern troops and Union flags taken by the South have been returned. In following this custom New Jersey is contributing her share to the obliteration of unpleasant memories.

JUST A MINUTE

WOMAN'S PLACE IS IN THE HOME.

THIS PLATITUDE IS REPEATED all too thoughtlessly. If woman's place is in the home, it follows that man's place is not. The proposition is proved beyond the limits of a suspicion or the shadow of a doubt when put into syllogistic form.

Woman's place is in the home; Man is not woman; Man's place is not in the home.

We do not mean to prove that man's place is at the club. We merely state that around the house, man should mind his own business and stay out of the kitchen. He may be able to run his office, but at home, "twere well to heed suggestions and advice." We know. Our problem was to lay a carpet. Feeling that taking the furniture out of the room would be a waste of time, we resolved to leave everything in the room, merely moving the pieces around as pawns on a chess board, or the onward roll of the carpet required. One of the ladies said it could not be done; the other said we would be a fool to try it. Giving both a look of scorn prompted by superior masculine wisdom, we took the carpet into the room and began to unroll it. We had it backward, we took it out and reversed it. When we reached the opposite wall, we had three feet too much of carpet, and there was an uncovered four-foot space where we had started. As a desk, a bookcase and a table were waiting on the carpet, we had some little difficulty pulling it toward us. Finally, we compromised by taking the furniture out of the room.

When we gave the reluctant bookcase a vicious jerk, it retaliated by breaking a leg (its own). A desk lamp fell down and rendered hors d' combat. When finally we had the carpet laid and our furniture back we inquired for our house slippers.

They were gone. It was a desperate search, but we finally located them. One of the ladies sweetly suggested that they might be under the carpet. They were. Woman's place is in the home—as a sort of general superintendent.

Statistical Note.

If he starts an argument over who laid the screw driver which he happened to find, he was looking for the hammer.

"Is enforcement making satisfactory progress this week?" inquired the director's office, "or did Mr. Lawless say something yesterday?"

Reluctantly we concede that Tummy is the champion, but even the most ardent of his supporters do not call him an up-stomach champion.

Question.

All jousts for right diarming. This quest to peace must kill. Why are the sinners charming. The virtuous so dull?

We have our cynical moments when we are willing to wager that an American is published in Chicago.

Imaginary Conversations.

Executive: "What are your qualifications as a corporation lawyer?" Applicant: "I know a member of the State Tax Commission."

Among things not properly aged in the wood might be mentioned some others.

A Young Hungarian Novelist

THE BLOODY POET. A novel about Nero. By Desider Kostonlanyi. (Macy-Mastus). THE choice of a title for the English version of this exceptional novel is deplorable. No doubt it is a literal translation from the German; but in the original it cannot have carried the cheapening suggestion that attaches to it in English. This is made by way of encouraging those who might otherwise ignore the book and so miss an extraordinary piece of work.

Desider Kostonlanyi is a young Hungarian, and it is evident that he has not yet been infected with literary rabies. Neither has he thought it desirable to fake madroom as doubtless many do, in order to attract attention among the reviewers and the foams-at-the-mouth. It seems practically certain that he is a provincial.

In picking up a new novel by "Nero" by a new continental writer is natural that anyone who has grown sick of morbid sensationalism should entertain misgivings. A prime theme for the degenerate novelist, truly, is not the first chapter starts off in such a way as to throw suspicion, and one reads on with steadily growing interest. For, strange to say, this study of an insane Emperor and his times is every where notable for its clearness and over at Kostonlanyi's disinclination to make horror shriek, as he could easily have done without decreasing his chances for "success." At the end of the novel, revealing reticence that are essential to the story. Over and over he deliberately ignores rich opportunities for sensationalism of a sort that is now much in demand, and his gain in power by doing so is very great.

The story, as told by Kostonlanyi, would seem to be no more than a factual history, so calmly is it handled, were it not for the remarkable insight that is revealed apparently without any effort. What are generally referred to as "powerful descriptive passages" are not to be found, and yet the scenes are vivid, a tradition of the burning of Rome by Nero offers a luscious opportunity for writing of that sort, yet nothing is made of it here. In passing, one of Kostonlanyi's characters happens to be a bit of propaganda, and the reader gets the impression that the author is so honest as to seem naive; that if he misrepresents at any point, it is through some in-

S. DAVIES WARFIELD, RAIL PRESIDENT, DIES

He Was Head of Seaboard Air Line—Built Road Across Florida.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—S. Davies Warfield, president and chairman of the Board of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Co., died last night at Union Memorial Hospital here.

The immediate cause was a blood clot in an artery of the heart. Having convalesced from an operation for double hernia. Mr. Warfield was 68 years old. Member of a prominent Maryland family, he early became interested in State politics. Later as president of the Continental Trust Co., of this city he became co-receiver and finally president of the Seaboard Air Line.

As president of the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, he was frequently before Congressional committees.

His work in extending railways in Florida was an important factor in the development of that State. He pushed the Seaboard across the peninsula and opened new traffic channels on the east coast. The Seaboard is now one of the largest property owners in that State.

During the shopcraft strike in 1922, he was the only man at the meeting of the Association of Railway Executives in New York to insist that negotiations with the strikers be maintained. When B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees Department of the American Federation of Labor, he developed plans that made possible individual agreements between railroads and their men. Warfield had entered the hospital under the name of Foster and as a result few of his friends knew that he was ill. He was a bachelor and is survived only by one brother, Henry M. Warfield of Baltimore.

Five Friends to Carry Out Warfield's Plans.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—S. Davies Warfield made provision for development of the Seaboard Air Line after his death, entrusting his plans to five close friends and advisers. It was revealed today by W. W. Miller of the firm of Hornum, Miller & Garrison. By his will, Mr. Warfield provided for the committee to control his investments in furtherance of expansion plans for the railroad.

A Young Hungarian Novelist

THE BLOODY POET. A novel about Nero. By Desider Kostolanyi. (Macy-Mastus).

THE CHOICE of a title for the English version of this exceptional novel is deplorable. No doubt it is a literal translation from the German; but in the original it cannot have carried the unpleasant suggestion that attaches to it in English. This is not by way of encouraging those who might otherwise ignore the book and so miss an extraordinary piece of work.

Desider Kostolanyi is a young Hungarian, and it is evident that he has not yet been infected with literary rabies. Neither has he thought it desirable to fake madmen, as doubtless many do, in order to attract attention among the reviewers and the commonalty.

It seems practically certain that he is a provincial. In picking up "a novel about Nero" by a new continental writer, it is natural that anyone who has grown sick of morbid sensationalism should entertain misgivings. A good theme for the degenerate novelist, truly! But the first chapter starts off in such a way as to wither suspicion, and one reads on with steadily growing interest. The strange to say, this study of a young Emperor and his times is everywhere notable for its clearness. One is astonished over and over at Kostolanyi's inclination to make horror chirk, as he would easily have done without decreasing his chances for "success," and at the time, revealing reticence in the handling of erotic episodes that are essential to the story. Over and over he deliberately ignores the opportunities for sensationalism of a sort that is now much in demand, and his gain in power by doing so is very great.

The story, as told by Kostolanyi, would seem to be no more than actual history, so calmly is it handled, were it not for the remarkable insight that is revealed apparently without any effort. What are generally referred to as "powerful descriptive passages" are not to be found, and yet the scenes are vivid. The tradition of the burning of Rome by Nero offers a luscious opportunity for writing of that sort, yet nothing is made of it here. In passing, one of Kostolanyi's characters happens to refer to the story as a bit of propaganda, and the reader gets the impression that the author is so honest as to seem naive; that if he misrepresents at any point, it is through some intelligible error in the interpretation of historical records. It is an essentially terrible and revolting tale that Kostolanyi tells, and yet the mood that the tale leaves is one of pity. Something of the old cleansing power of tragedy, as the Greeks of the great age conceived it, is to be felt when the book is closed.

The sixth annual O'Brien anthology of British and Irish short stories. Twenty-three tales are included. An introduction by the editor undertakes to analyze present tendencies in short story writing.

ANTIQUES AND THEIR HISTORY. By J. J. Buckley. Published by the author at 69 Henry street, Binghamton, N. Y.

Contains articles on French, English and American furniture from the beginning of the seventeenth century to the middle of the nineteenth; also articles on colored prints, iron, brass, needlepoint, samplers and china. The volume is well illustrated.

BEAU GESTE. By Percival Christopher Wren. Stokes.

A handsome, illustrated holiday edition of a widely read book.

DEPARTING WINGS. By Falth Baldwin. Dodd Mead & Co.

The title seems to carry a double meaning, the wings in question referring both to those of wedded love and to the literal wings of the airplane.

DRAGON LIZARDS OF KOMODO. By W. Douglas Burden. Putnam.

An interesting account of an expedition to the island of Komodo, Dutch East Indies, in search of gigantic carnivorous lizards said to be descendants of a species existing in Eocene times. Previous to the author's expedition, so little was known about these beasts that they were usually regarded as imaginary.

HALF PRICE. By Constance Travers Sweetnam. Morrow.

A novel concerned with the rebellion of youth against convention and the problem of the world's attitude toward chastity in women. Evidently written with sincerity.

DIMPLE DIGGERS. Thirty poems by Robin Christopher. Elm House, Publishers, New York.

MARK TWAIN LETTERS SOLD. They Cover Period When Humorist's Fortune Was Swept Away.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—An account of the emotions of Mark Twain when his fortune was swept away by the publishing house, he had bought, is given by the author in letters to friends and business associates, which were purchased yesterday from a private estate by Aaron Mendoza, dealer in old books.

Most of the letters are of the late 80's and early 90's when the $1,000,000 which his writings had brought him were swept away. The letters revealed him as harassed, but kindly, honest far beyond his legal obligations, and writing to keep his mind off his troubles.

"I mean to ship 'Pudd'nhead Wilson' to you—say tomorrow," Twain wrote his publisher during one of the years of depression. "I'll furnish me cash for a while. I reckon I am almost sorry it is finished. 'It was good entertainment to work at it and kept my mind away from other things.'"

Closing Time for Foreign Mail. The scheduled closing time for trans-Atlantic foreign mails at the Main Postoffice, Eighteenth and Walnut streets, follows: Parcel post and mails for all European countries, except France, Italy and Yugoslavia, tonight, 9 o'clock; full European mails, letters and prints, tomorrow, 9 p. m.; letters and prints for all European countries, except Irish Free State, Scotland and Northern Ireland, Thursday, 2 p. m., and mail for Irish Free State, Scotland and Northern Ireland, Thursday, 9 p. m. The closing date for mail for Europe will be 3 p. m. Friday at the postoffice, for which is sent to New York by air mail.

Son of Barney Dreyfuss Weds. By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 25.—Miss Carolyn Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolfe of Paragould, Ark., and Samuel W. Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh National League Baseball Club and son of Barney Dreyfuss, club president, were married last evening.

Episcopal Auxiliary to Meet. The Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, Diocese of Missouri, will hold a quarterly meeting at 10 a. m. Friday in St. Peter's Church, Lindell boulevard, and Spring avenue. The Rev. Charles W. Baker of Farmington, N. M., will speak on church work in connection with the Indian mission at San Juan Indian Reservation.

Presbyterial Society to Meet. The fall meeting of the St. Louis Presbyterial Society, to be held next Friday at the Cote Brilliant Presbyterian Church, will be given over to observance of the fiftieth anniversary of women's organized home mission work in the Presbyterian Church. The home mission work will be reviewed at the meeting by Mrs. Agnes Selvely and Miss Ellanore Ewing.

Five Friends to Carry Out Warfield's Plans. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—S. Davies Warfield made provision for development of the Seaboard Air Line after his death, entrusting his plans to five close friends and advisors. It was revealed today by W. W. Miller of the firm of Hornum, Miller & Garrison.

By his will, Mr. Miller stated, Warfield provided for the committee to control his investments in furtherance of expansion plans for the railroad.

Social Items

MISS HOPE CHRISTIE SKILLMAN, one of the fairest of this season's debutantes, daughter of J. and Mrs. Frederic Cameron Skillman, made her bow to society at a beautifully appointed tea this afternoon, given by her mother at Hotel Chase.

Deep red roses and crimson-headed dahlias, effectively arranged with stately white chrysanthemums decorated the Colonial room, where the debutante and her mother received their guests, and the same rich red roses and ivory tapers formed a decorative center for the tea table in the adjoining Italian room.

Mrs. Skillman wore black velvet with orchids and Miss Skillman the white taffeta gown combined with American beauty velvet in which she appeared as a maid of honor at the Velled Prophet ball. She carried an armful of red roses.

The debutantes who dispensed ices and coffee at the table were Miss Anne Farrar Semple, the new Velled Prophet Queen; Miss Dorothy Bemis, Miss Frances Blaney, Miss Janet Blanke, Miss Jane Pirrung, Miss Margaret Ryan, Miss Kate Edmondstone Thompson, Miss Marie Reine Fusz, Miss Martha Dyer, Miss Celeste Hammett, Miss Martha Hurley, Miss Florence Jones, Miss Grace Moulton and Miss Jean McLeod.

Mrs. Harry P. Burlingame, Mrs. Clark Colt, Mrs. William E. Glouga, Mrs. Owen Stanard Tilton and Mrs. James Van Ingen assisted without halts. The debutantes serving have been invited to remain for a dinner party and dance in the palm room after the tea, and a number of young men will complete the party.

Mrs. James M. Carpenter of 4450 Westminister place entertained 10 of the debutantes at an informal luncheon today in honor of Miss Kathleen Sheldon, much-feted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Sheldon of 14 Kingsbury place.

Norris B. Gregg Jr. of New York is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. G. Smith of 4516 Westminister place.

Cards have been received from Mrs. Henry Cooper Whitehead of 5137 Washington boulevard, and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Morton Banister for a luncheon Nov. 4 at the Whitehead home for Miss Dorothy Bemis, Miss Kate Edmondstone Thompson, Miss Grace Moulton and Miss Josephine Boyd, four of the debutantes.

Cards have been received from Dr. and Mrs. M. Hayward Post of 7027 Maryland avenue for a dinner dance Saturday, Nov. 18, at the St. Louis Country Club, in honor of Miss Margaret Burkham, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkham. Mrs. Gerard B. Allen of 4623 Maryland avenue will give a theater party and supper for the debutante Nov. 14, and on Nov. 28 Mr. and Mrs. Elzey Burkham of Westminister place will give a similar affair for her. She will share honors with Miss Martha Sluder, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Greenfield Sluder, at a luncheon Nov. 4 by Mrs. Valter Fischel, 14 Lenox place.

Mrs. Henry S. Wygant of Harrisburg, Pa., has arrived to spend several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Philpot Curran of 3 o'clock the morning of Nov. 3.

MISS SKILLMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Cameron Skillman, will make her debut this afternoon at a tea which her mother will give for her.

the Castleburgh Apartments. While in St. Louis Mrs. Wygant will also be the guest of her cousin, Mrs. John O'Fallon Delany of 5105 Lindell boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson Nardin have sent invitations for the marriage of Miss Forrestine Imple Wilson of St. Louis and John Evans Timberlake Jr. of Pittsburg, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Timberlake of Webster Groves. The ceremony will be held Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 8:30 p. m. at the Nardin home, 6263 Westminister place. The bride will be given in marriage by her twin brother, Forrest Wilson. Her sister, Miss Berenice Wilson, will be maid of honor and Miss Alma Savage and Miss Martha Timberlake bridesmaids. Dr. William Goodlet will be best man, and Claud Wilson and William Timberlake groomsmen.

A reception will follow the ceremony and after a wedding trip Mr. Timberlake and his bride will make their home in Pittsburg.

Miss Wilson is a graduate of Washington University, class of last June. She was president of the Women's Student Government Association and a member of Phi Mu and the Mortar Board. Last summer she traveled in Europe with Mrs. Nardin.

Mrs. A. M. Keller of Hotel Chase has departed for Colorado Springs, Colo., to join her father, Paul Brown, of 10 Washington terrace, who is recuperating at the Antlers Hotel.

Announcement has been made of the wedding plans of Miss Harriet J. erill, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Averill and niece of Mrs. Ignatius McMenamy of 6018 Clemens avenue, and John Lancaster Porter, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., son of the late Mrs. Catherine Spalding Porter of that city. The engagement was announced in August.

The ceremony will take place at 3 o'clock the morning of Nov. 3.

THE WAYS OF THE CHINESE LAUNDRY TICKET

IT IS not generally known that the Chinese laundry system of ticketing a bundle of soiled clothes is based on the many gods and goddesses of the laundry. Though it is complicated, the laundryman seldom delivers a bundle of washed clothes to the wrong person. Furthermore, if the ticket is lost the chances are that one will not get his linen, unless he is a particular friend of the proprietor. Instances are of record where an American has gone to court to force the Chinese to yield up the washing, but the judge was not convinced that the case of the Occidental was a good one.

The Chinese laundryman, at the beginning of each week, makes out a batch of checks, in duplicate, to be used as wash tickets. He selects the name of some god or goddess, or of some objects, as the sun, the moon, or the stars. To this name he prefixes a number, as "moon No. 1," "moon No. 2," and so on.

In the space between the two legends—for the signs are repeated twice—he has his own name, as for instance, Wong Lee.

When a customer takes a bundle of washing to the laundry the Chinese, first tearing a ticket in two in a ragged fashion, puts one-half on the packet for reference; the other half he gives as a receipt to the person who has brought the package of laundry.

It must be presented when the laundry is demanded and no fears need be entertained that the bundle of clean clothes will not be forthcoming, for they are scrupulously exact in these matters.

"ASK ME ANOTHER" FASHION QUESTIONS

By Sarah Van Rensselaer

Dear Miss Van Rensselaer:

Why is it that the glove silk underwear that I have purchased at reliable stores shrinks badly and loses body after washing and lasts no time at all?

Oil City, Pa.

G. S. W.

The answer is simple. Many manufacturers use a minimum quality of silk and load it with a solution that gives a lustrous finish, body and apparent strength to the new garment. But, once washed this "loading" disappears and you have a bedraggled bit of glove silk left, half the original weight and so thin it couldn't possibly resist wear. My advice to you is to buy Italian* Silk Underwear which is 100% pure silk.

End Fat

The way is now easy and pleasant

Anybody who suffers from excess fat should learn what modern science offers. Don't starve, don't over-exercise. Combat the real cause. Supply your system with that which turns food into fuel and energy rather than into fat.

Modern research discovered that way some two decades ago. It was then embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Today the results are seen and told everywhere. Most people are slender. All modern styles are adapted to them. They have supplied their systems with the natural factors which prevent the formation of fat.

Users of Marmola do not attempt abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. New vivacity, new health comes at the same time.

The methods are not secret. Each box of Marmola contains the formula and the reasons for results. You know what you are taking, and the scientific reasons for the benefits which come.

Start Marmola now. You cannot afford to stay fat. Beauty, health and fitness require normal weight. Watch the results for a month, and they will delight you. Then tell the facts to others. Why wait another day?

Marmola's prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

POLICE GUARD HOME OF BANK DIRECTOR

E. P. Hilt's Maid Reports Telephone Threat "to Blow Up Place."

The residence at 14 Hortense place, home of Erwin P. Hilt, a director of the American Trust Co., has been under police guard since yesterday afternoon, following a report that a threat to "blow up" the house had been made.

Mary Gilda, a maid employed there, telephoned Newstead District police at 3:30 p. m. and asked for protection. She said when she answered a telephone there at 10:30 a. m., a man's voice asked for Hilt.

Informed that Hilt and his wife were away from the city on a duck hunt and were not expected back until Wednesday, the man's voice said, according to the maid: "You better close up and get out—I'm going to blow up the place." The man then hung up the receiver, without disclosing his identity. The call was not traced.

Asked Relatives' Advice.
Explaining the delay in reporting the matter to police, the maid said she waited until she could consult with Hilt's relatives, and when they advised her to tell the police, she did so.

No motive for the threat was apparent. Police were told that Hilt recently served on a grand jury, and that he has been having the exterior of his house repainted. The painting foreman, when questioned, said union workmen were employed and there had been no labor trouble.

Last night Hilt's father, C. E. Hilt, his son, Erwin P. Hilt Jr., a friend of the family, three maids and a policeman were at the Hortense place residence.

the question of his recall to the throne. "Since such an act was a direct attack on constitutional order and the safety of the State, Manoliescu, the agent through whom the letters were sent, has been arrested and brought before the court. "The Government is firmly determined to preserve national order and it will take all necessary measures to prevent any further attempts of a similar nature. To forestall possible incidents, the Government has issued orders for troops to occupy all governmental buildings and has informed the opposition that at the least sign of their activity, the leaders will be arrested and a state of siege proclaimed throughout the entire country.

France Stirred by Move to Put Carol on Throne.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The arrest in Rumania of M. Manoliescu caused a stir here today in view of Carol's presence in Paris. All last week there was an exceptionally heavy crop of rumors regarding Carol's future.

The newspaper L'Ouvre reported delegates of the Rumanian National Peasants' party had reached an agreement with Carol by which he would give up Macedonia, with whom he eloped from Rumania, and return to Rumania to regain the throne with their support.

These rumors culminated in a voluntary statement from Carol in which he said he was not a pretender, active in schemes and intrigues, but if his country called he would respond at once.

Child Gets Sick, Cross, Feverish if Constipated

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

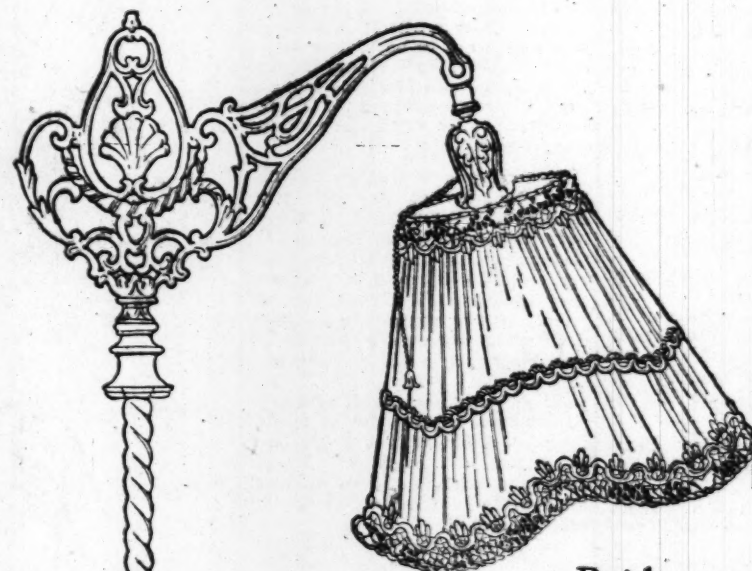

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle. For a Fig Syrup, "this was the little given today saves a sick child Syrup Company."

AWARD AGAINST CITY FOR DROWNING IN PARK LAKE

Verdict Given Verdict for Death of Little Volz, 11; Negligence Charged.

A jury in Circuit Judge Calhoun's court yesterday returned a verdict against the city in the case of the death of their son, who was 11 years old, who was drowned in a lagoon in Carondelet Park Feb. 15, 1926. The accident occurred when the boy went to the rescue of his brother, Herbert, 6, who had broken through thin ice. William H. Reed, 66, 6265 Goerner avenue, rescued Herbert. Mr. and Mrs. Volz charged the city with negligence in failing to have a fence around the lagoon, a watchman on the scene or signs warning the public of danger.

WALTER J. HILL AND WIFE ANNOUNCE RECONCILIATION

They Say Their Trouble Was Caused by Rumors Spread by Pretended Friends.

By the Associated Press. LIVINGSTON, Mont., Oct. 25.—Walter J. Hill, wealthy rancher, and his third wife, Mildred Richardson Hill, former "Follies" beauty, have announced a reconciliation. With a hearing on her application for separate maintenance set for tomorrow at Butte, the son of the late James J. Hill, railroad magnate, and his wife, today again occupied the bridal suite at the hotel where they remained for a time after their marriage here, May 15, last. Her separate maintenance suit was filed Oct. 17.

They said they had agreed to confide their troubles to each other hereafter, not the general public. Hill attributed their misunderstanding to unfounded reports spread by persons pretending to be friends. Hill married the "Follies" performer here 10 minutes after he received a divorce from his second wife, the former Pauline Gillson of New York, on whom he settled $1,000,000 by court order.

25-Pound Lock Hard to Pick. By the Associated Press. CENTERVILLE, Mich., Oct. 25.—A lock weighing 25 pounds adorned the first jail in St. Joseph county, it is related in the Michigan History magazine. A local gunsmith in the days of 1840 made the lock, and he took great delight in creating a staggering and complicated mechanism that by sheer weight nearly broke down the jail door.

MRS. SNYDER AND GRAY ASK FOR NEW TRIALS

Separate Hearings Sought for Pair Convicted of Killing Her Husband.

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray have made their first appeal to escape the electric chair for the murder of her husband.

Counsel appeared before the Court of Appeals yesterday to argue that Mrs. Snyder and Gray should have new and separate trials. Resting their case on the single legal point that Mrs. Snyder's constitutional rights were invaded when she was denied separate trial, counsel declared that the trial was surrounded with incidents peculiar to such "spectacular affairs" as prize fights or circuses. They found no fault with the constitutionality of the Baumes law under which the two were ordered to stand for trial, but declared that the presiding justice erred in failing to exercise discretion.

Counsel for Gray depicted her as a helpless tool of Mrs. Snyder, who had been "prevented from freely selecting a jury of his peers," and for whom it was found impossible to obtain a jury "wholly free from bias and prejudice." His counsel also denied that a motive for the crime had been established.

To this, Assistant District Attorney Frozelle of Queens County replied that "insurance was the dominant motive for the killing of Albert Snyder."

Decision on the appeals is expected in six or seven weeks.

WANTS STATES TO RETAIN TITLE TO POWER SITES

Gov. Dern of Utah Confers With Al Smith, Explains Boulder Dam Objections.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Gov. George H. Dern of Utah representing the Council of Governors and other public officials of the seven States interested in the Boulder Dam project, after a conference on water power development with Gov. Smith at Albany, declared today he and Gov. Smith agreed that title to water-power sites should be retained by States in perpetuity and make a source of public revenue.

He denied opposition to the Swing-Johnson bill come from private companies, and said his objection to the proposed legislation was that it assumed the Colorado River was Federal property. Gov. Dern, en route to Washington, said he had already obtained assurance of President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover that the views of the States intervening in the Boulder Dam proposal would be heeded. He said he planned to see Secretary Work on his return to Washington.

FIRES CONTRABAND ALCOHOL

Spectator Gives Unsought Help to Dry Agents Destroying It.

A spectator yesterday gave prohibition agents unwelcome help in destroying a large quantity of alcohol by tossing a match into the inflammable fluid as the agents poured it from cans into a sewer at Marine avenue and Gasconade street.

A few hours before the agents had raided a garage in rear of 2019 Sidney street, seizing 57 five-gallon cans of alcohol and 26 cases of "spiked" beer. The fire routed the agents, but beyond burning up the alcohol caused no damage.

EXPLOSION DAMAGES COAL MINE

Ohio Sheriff Estimates Loss by Destruction of Tipton at $1000.

By the Associated Press. STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 25.—The tipple of the Glen Robbin mine of the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal Co., at Glen Robin was blown off by a dynamite explosion early today. Sheriff William Allison estimated damage at $1000.

The mine is in a remote district in Southern Jefferson County. It has not been in operation but it is one of those given the benefit last week of a Federal injunction preventing interference of union adherents in its operation.

BIG SEIZURE OF NARCOTICS

Man Taken in Vermont Says He Is Paris Hotel Proprietor.

By the Associated Press. ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 25.—A man, who said he was Oscar Mouton, proprietor of the Madeleine Hotel in Paris, France, and father of the late Maurice, the dancer, was arrested when Federal narcotic agents and customs officers seized 750 pounds of narcotics at Isle La Motte early today.

The seizure was the largest ever made in this section of the country.

SAFE BLOWERS GET $109

For the second time within a week, burglars early today entered the office of the Popular Finance Corporation, 220 North Grand boulevard, and blew the safe.

Entrance was gained by climbing a pole in the rear to a one-story roof and breaking a window leading into the firm's office. The burglars got $109 last night and nothing on their visit a week ago, policemen were told.

Mist-like fabrics fired with tints of dawn or rich foliage hues

CELANESE VOILES

REG. U.S. BRAND PAT. OFF.

Bewitching, beautiful textures such as the world has never seen before

FLAMING reds and oranges, regal purples, mellow warm tones of yellow, tan and green—this autumnal riot of rich color is expressed in the new Celanese Voiles. Mingled with this richness are the delicate dawn colors, so light and soft and so indicative of the zephyr weight of this surpassing fabric, the like of which has never before been seen.

If ever a dawn came up like thunder it was when Celanese Voiles threw their first light upon an astonished world. For in these fabrics are summed up all the advantages that women for centuries have longed for in textiles. Here at one stroke is a climax, a concentrate, of living, imperishable beauty and colors that refuse to yield to sun, soap, or the acids of perspiration.

It is important also to know that Celanese Fabrics do not shrink or stretch, dry quickly and are easily pressed with a cool iron. Hygienic qualities of Celanese are unsurpassed, it is a non-conductor of heat and electricity, and admits the passage to the body of the sun's health-giving ultraviolet rays.

At the leading stores these miracle-fabrics are now being exhibited both in the piece and in enchanting garments. See them. Their extraordinary novelty, beauty and service will bring you unexpected delight.

CELANESE is the registered trademark, in the United States, of the Celanese Corporation of America, 13 E. 26th St., New York, to designate in brand of rayon, fabric, garments, etc.

BROTHER PLANS INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF NURSE

Jesse Farnsworth Believes Ill Treatment May Have Caused Sister to End Life.

Jesse Farnsworth of Corpus Christi, Tex., who came here to investigate the circumstances of the death of his sister, Miss Elsie Farnsworth, former army nurse, whose body was taken from the Mississippi River Sunday night at Ste. Genevieve departed with the body today for Springfield, Mo., the nurse's home, convinced that his sister had committed suicide.

Farnsworth said, however, that he would retain counsel to look into the matter in which his sister was treated during the eight years she was a patient at veterans' hospitals. She had suffered a breakdown during the World War, while in charge of a hospital at Brookfield, Tex., and subsequently was pensioned. Farnsworth said his sister frequently had complained of the treatment she received at the hands of medical officers at the veterans' hospitals where she was a patient.

Miss Farnsworth had said that Government doctors frequently had accused her of shamming illness so her pension would be continued and that examination after examination to which she was forced to submit, finally affected her mental condition, according to her brother.

George H. Skidmore, commander of the American Legion post at Springfield, said that organization also would conduct an investigation of Miss Farnsworth's treatment. The only definite information the post now has, Skidmore said, is based on a visit Miss Farnsworth paid him about three weeks ago, when she said she was not getting proper treatment at the Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks. It was while she was a patient here, that her coat, hat and purse were found on the river bank near the hospital and the search, which ended with recovery of her body, began.

"Miss Farnsworth said the Veterans' Hospital in St. Louis did not have proper facilities for treatment of a woman, and that generally, she did not like the place and the manner in which she was treated," Skidmore said. "We will help her brother in any way possible and are anxious to have the matter cleared up."

Skidmore said the American Legion Post at Springfield plans to attend her funeral in a body. It is likely a delegation will be sent from Fulton, where Miss Farnsworth formerly resided and where she held membership in the Legion. Col. Wagner, in charge of the Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks, had no comment.

Cut by Flying Glass

IT HAPPENS EVERY DAY, it will continue to happen every day in cars equipped with ordinary glass. For ordinary glass shatters and flies in an accident—sometimes even at a shock—causing dangerous and painful cuts, perhaps permanent disfigurement, blindness, or even worse.

Sixty-five per cent of all injuries in automobile accidents are due to flying glass.

Every time you drive behind ordinary glass you are tempting fate, you are in actual peril.

Don't take this frightful risk when TRIPLEX will protect you

Triplex

—THE GLASS THAT WILL NOT SHATTER

The Triplex Safety Glass Company of North America, Inc.

Hoboken Terminal Hoboken, N. J.

Triplex will not shatter so cannot fly and cut. Tests show that an ordinary plate glass windshield will fly into pieces under an impact that will not even crack Triplex. Of course, in an accident, Triplex may crack but it will not shatter. You are safe from flying glass when you ride behind Triplex.

Triplex is a clear glass—there are no wires in it to confuse or obscure the vision.

Chrysler—the car that has jumped from thirteenth to fourth place in the short space of one year—is offering Triplex through its dealers as optional equipment on all models at a slight increase in price.

INSURGENT GROUP TRYING TO SMASH LOWDEN'S BOOM

After Conference With Progressives, Borah Asks Nebraska Governor Where He Stands.

BOOSTING OF NORRIS PLEASES HOOVERITES

They Think It Will Force Dawes Into Open and They Can Beat Him Easier Than Lowden.

By CHARLES MICHELSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Senator Weller of Maryland has joined the group that is endeavoring to get President Coolidge to recant on his withdrawal from next year's presidential race.
At the White House yesterday, after talking with the President, he said the Republicans of Maryland, while giving full credence to Mr. Coolidge's sincerity, continued to cherish a hope that something would happen to make it possible for them to vote for the President again. If they can't get Coolidge, Weller thinks they would like Hoover or Hughes.

While the stalwarts are trying to shoo Coolidge back into the field, the insurgent Republicans continue their efforts to break up the Lowden boom.

Message to McMullen.

Senator Borah, after a meeting in which Senators Norris of Nebraska, Nye and Frazier of North Dakota, MacMaster of South Dakota and Brookhart of Iowa took part, telegraphed a call down to Gov. McMullen of Nebraska, who had charged Borah with attempting to use the Progressives to control the West for his own purposes.

"Do I understand by your interview," telegraphed Borah, "that you are opposed to sending an instructional delegation from Nebraska to the national convention for Senator Norris for President? The friends of Senator Norris have insisted on putting him in the primary, and I have declared my support of him. Do I understand you prefer Lowden to Norris?"

Friends of Hoover are wishing

Borah all the success in the world in his booming of Norris. In general, the delegates that Norris gets otherwise would be for Lowden. If there is a fight for these delegates between the two prime favorites of the farm group in the progressive states, it makes for the benefit of Hoover.

If the fight on Lowden gets anywhere it may bring Dawes into the open. The Hoover people think they would have a better chance against the Vice President in various states than against Lowden, whereas they take it for granted that if Lowden harvests the delegates he will turn them over to Dawes when his own race is run.

The presence of Senator McMullen at the insurgent meeting yesterday was considered significant. He has held aloof up to this time and was counted as for Lowden. He is a staunch McNary-Haugenite, as is Lowden and Gov. McMullen, while Borah opposed the bill because he doubted the constitutionality of the equalization fee.

After their session, the insurgents gave out this statement:

"We are interested in the presidency and are discussing matters related to that subject. We are interested in farm relief and discussing all matters pertaining to farm relief. We are not attempting, in the absence of many Western Senators, to reach conclusions. There is no disagreement as to our plans and purposes, but as to details we will endeavor to reach conclusions when more of our friends are here."

They want to get Howell of Nebraska, La Follette and Blaine of into their caucus. McNary is supposed to have an alternative measure to the bill that bears his name—and the rebels having heard that it was being framed so as to meet the objections invoked by President Coolidge in his veto message, want to be sure that it does not go too far over toward the administrative view.

Modernizing Small Store Heating

FOR you who operate small stores and shops, and for all others who would keep any room or building warm, Clow
Vented Gasteam holds a story.

Clow Vented Gasteam Radiators are steam radiators. But they do not ask an expensive steam boiler and steam piping system.
A basement is not needed.

Each supplies its own steam, with gas for fuel. Heat is a matter of minutes for early customers, and is always under your own immediate control.

Excessive moisture cannot affect air or stocks, nor cloud show windows. A vent in each radiator carries out all excessive moisture. No harm is done if the radiators freeze.

Investigate this heat, and the deferred payments that help you buy it—today.

BROTHER OF QUEEN OF ENGLAND DIES AFTER OPERATION

Marquis of Cambridge Had Been in Poor Health for Some Time at His Country Estate.

SERVED IN BOER
AND WORLD WARS

Indifferent to Pomp, He Preferred Life as Country
Gentleman — Dropped
Royal Title in 1917.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 25.—The royal family was plunged into mourning by the unexpected death yesterday of the Queen's brother, the Marquis of Cambridge, after an abdominal operation.

The death leaves the Queen with only one surviving brother, the Earl of Athlone, now Governor-General of South Africa.

The Marquis had been in poor health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious yesterday. However, he was removed from his country home, Shotton Hall, to a nursing home in Shrewsbury where he underwent an operation from the effects of which he died.

Objected to Pomp.
The Marquis was a German prince in his paternal line but his education and breeding were English. He had held many official positions and had considerable military service, notably in the Boer and the World War, but his preference always was for the quiet home life of an English country gentleman. He was fond of agriculture and spent most of his time in his later years at his country estate.

The distinctions of the Marquis for Royal Pomp was illustrated some years ago when there was talk of offering him the throne of Hungary. He burst into laughter at the bare suggestion of his quitting a quiet country for the troubled career of a foreign king and declined to entertain the notion.

The Marquis was present at the relief of Kimberley and took part in several battles in the Boer War.
He was awarded the Queen's medal with six clasps for his service in South Africa. He acted as military secretary at the war office during the World War and also was military secretary to the British Expeditionary Force in France with the rank of Brigadier-General. In 1924 he was appointed Governor and Constable of Windsor Castle.
Dropped Royal Title in 1917.

The Marquis, who was known after his father's death as the Duke of Teck, was awarded the privilege of being addressed as "His Highness" in 1911 and was known as the Duke of Teck until 1917, when, at the King's request, he dropped his royal title and was called the Marquis of Cambridge. Earl of Eltham and Viscount Northallerton in the British peerage. His younger brother at the same time was given the title of Earl of Athlone and Viscount Fremont.

In addition to many British orders, the Marquis held several foreign orders and was a commander of the Legion of Honor.
The elder son of the Marquis,
Lord Eltham, who succeeds to the Marquisate, has the same taste as his father and has his home in the same county at Bridgenoth.
Both Lord and Lady Eltham are actively interested in agriculture and run a successful chicken farm.
They have a 3-year-old daughter.

POLICE MANEUVERS AT CAPITAL

Dozen Forces Supplement Regular Officers in Washington.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The visitor who is inclined to be chest about his home town police force may find himself, after visiting Washington, afflicted with something like an inferiority complex.

In addition to the metropolitan police force, the national capital has about a dozen others. There are Federal park police, White House police, Capitol police and separate units of police for various government departments. There are also Department of Justice agents, prohibition agents and agents of the secret services of the treasury and Postoffice Departments. And each of the various military posts in and near the city has its own police, while an organization of church members has just been formed to gather material on liquor law violations for submission to the metropolitan force.

Kentucky's Longest Road.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 25.—The longest road in Kentucky—524 miles—will be completed before winter comes. It covers a greater distance than that from Louisville to Chicago or St. Louis. From Cattlettsburg the highway skirts the Kentucky mountains through Western Kentucky, ending at Wick-liffe. Seven of 11 congressional districts and all important rivers in the State are crossed by the road.

METER BOXES TO STAY IN USE

—DESPITE WRIT, JUDGE RULES

Infringement on Prendergast Patent Held Not to Necessitate

Removal of Devices.

Federal Judge Paris today held that the city is not required to remove concrete meter boxes, found to be an infringement on a patent held by Edward Prendergast, a local contractor, that were installed in connection with the city water system prior to Prendergast's obtaining an injunction several months ago.

The decision denied an application by Prendergast that city officials be cited in contempt of the injunction for the continued use of the boxes. Judge Paris, in his decision, held that since some of the boxes were installed as far back as six years ago, Prendergast was negligent in not bringing the matter of the infringement on his patent rights to court sooner. Judge Paris said he would issue a citation in contempt if it were shown any boxes had been installed since the injunction went into effect.

OLD IN YEARS

But Keeps Appetite Young

An acid stomach ages people more than the years they live; it creates more thin and weak bodies, and faces with sallow complexion than anything else; it causes more bad breath and carves more wrinkles of misery and age than all other evils put together. Why?

Because a stomach full of acid sours your food, and starves your body.
A tablet or two of Pape's Diaprepin chewed after meals will dissolve the acid in your stomach and clear up that sour bloated, drowsy feeling. It will help your stomach digest your food. You will get back your young appetite; you will gain weight and your complexion will be clear and firm.
All drug stores have Pape's

Winner of Dole-Honolulu Air Race
Says St. Louis Needs Beacon

Lights.
After a short stay in St. Louis,
Art Goebel, winner of the Dole prize for his nonstop flight from California to Hawaii, departed from Scott Field this morning in his trans-Pacific monoplane, Woolaroo.

He is bound for Washington, where he will present a technical report of his ocean flight to the Bureau of Aeronautics, and will be a guest Friday at a National Press Club banquet. He is accompanied by two friends, John Phillips and Fred E. Hamlin. They will stop en route at Pittsburgh.
Flying from Bartlesville, Ok.

they arrived at Scott Field at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were brought by automobile to Hotel Statler where they spent the night. Goebel reported St. Louis was difficult to see from the air because of a smoke pall. He was 2000 feet up and could see the city if he looked straight down, but not to any side, he said.

He suggested beacon lights would be useful here to aviators at night or in fog.

Do They Laugh at Your "Skinny" Body?

New Combination of Yeast and Iron Puts on Pounds of Weight in 3
Weeks—or pay nothing

"Gained 10 Pounds"

"I can truthfully say that I never received so much benefit from anything in so short a time.
Before I began taking IRONIZED YEAST I was 10 pounds underweight, but now I am back to normal again."

Mrs. M. P. Ashbury Park, N. J.

Think of 10 to 15 pounds of good firm flesh added in 3 to 4 weeks! Your complexion made clear and youthful—all in a single course treatment of nice, pleasant tablets of IRONIZED YEAST.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is especially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing values.

If your skin is pimply, sallow or blotchy, take IRONIZED YEAST today—and see the marvelous change to a clear, fresh, girlish complexion. If your weight is below normal, start IRONIZED YEAST now—and note how pounds are gained, hollows fill out and smooth, delightful curves result. It does not cause gas or bloating and is safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs. Get IRONIZED YEAST today. 60 pleasant-tasting nice tablets to a handy bottle.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer
Go today to any drug store. Get a full size treatment. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from drugstore, also direct to THE IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 109-B.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weak physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—GIBBY—L. Y. Co.

Now is the time to ease the burden

YOUR expenses will naturally increase, and your earnings grow less as old age creeps upon you. When advancing years have slowed down your productiveness, want and bitterness may come—unless you have prudently provided some means of automatically increasing your income. One of the surest and easiest ways of doing this is to take out a Missouri State Life Income Endowment policy—which may be made to mature when you are 60 to 65 and furnish a fund to ease the burden of your declining years. Take it now, while your premiums are relatively small.

The Missouri State Life is a nationwide institution—a great insurance company daily growing greater. In 35 years it has become 19th in size among America's 348 Legal Reserve life insurance companies. In the last five years it has more than doubled its insurance in force. Its

Referee Advises Defendant Be Given Decision in Niedringhaus Suit.

A report praising George W. Niedringhaus, president of the National Enameling and Stamping Co., and his associates for their management of the William F. Niedringhaus Investment Co., involving properties worth more than $2,000,000, has been completed by Charles B. Williams, appointed by the Court as referee in the accounting and receivership suit filed in 1924 by Mrs. Louise R. Niedringhaus.

Mrs. Niedringhaus, the widow of Oliver B. Niedringhaus, a son of William F. Niedringhaus, sued individually and as trustee under the will of her husband, who inherited one-eleventh of his father's estate, consisting of large holdings in the National Enameling and Stamping Co. and other properties. She charged George W. Niedringhaus, the eldest son, dominated the holding company, and petitioned for his removal as president and director, also for an accounting of all money he had handled.

Advisees for Defendants. Williams' report, which is being studied by attorneys for both sides before it is filed with Circuit Judge Hartmann, recommends all points in the suit be decided in favor of the defendants.

"Through the energetic and judicious management of the business by George W. Niedringhaus and his associates," says the report, "the investment company has been brought out of its badly embarrassed condition and put on a paying basis, having a worth at the present time of probably more than $2,000,000."

The report denies the truth of some of the allegations made in Mrs. Niedringhaus' suit and justifies a number of business moves in the management of the company as beneficial to the investment and therefore, the plaintiff.

The attorneys, S. T. G. Smith and William R. Orthwein for the defendants and Douglas W. Robert for Mrs. Niedringhaus, have 15 days to prepare their answers to the report before it is filed.

Justifies Loan of Stock. One of the transactions the report justifies was the loan of 5000 shares of stock in the National Enameling and Stamping Co. to a syndicate formed to trade in stock on the company while a fight for control was in progress two years ago. The loan, the report says, was amply secured and was for the benefit of the company.

The report denies Niedringhaus misappropriated $130,000, as charged. In fact, it set forth, he borrowed $130,000 on his personal account to save the investment company from pressure. It points out that up to 1925 the company had declared $125,000 in dividends and says Mrs. Niedringhaus received her full share. It further points out the books of the company had been audited by a reputable firm and approved and that Mrs. Niedringhaus was given opportunity to let her own accountants examine the records.

In answer to the allegation that George W. Niedringhaus induced the investment company to put $25,000 in stock of the St. Louis Coke & Iron Co., the report declared the coke and iron company was responsible for new industries locating in Granite City and the consequent rise in value of properties administered by the investment company.

PREDICTS ELIMINATION OF REED, SMITH AND RITCHIE

Woman Democrat Organizes Law Enforcement League in Illinois.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 25.—When the Democratic National Convention meets, Smith of New York, Ritchie of Maryland and Reed of Missouri will be eliminated as possible candidates. Mrs. Jessie W. Nicholson, president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League, a "dry" organization, declared here yesterday.

Regardless of their attitude toward prohibition, these three men will be elected because of their "private" or public records," Mrs. Nicholson declared. "Leading possibilities whom all women members of the party will support, she said, are Senator Walsh of Montana, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, former Secretary of War Baker and Gov. Fields of Kentucky."

As a subdivision of her national organization, Mrs. Nicholson yesterday helped organize the dry women of the Democratic party of Illinois. The purpose of this organization is to fight anything or anyone wet.

PLANS TO REOPEN BANK AT BENTON, ILL., UNDER WAY

Said to Contemplate Raising Capital Stock—Miners' Savings Trust Co.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BENTON, Ill., Oct. 25.—Plans rapidly are taking shape for the re-opening of the Mercantile Bank and Trust Co., which was closed Oct. 1 for the State Auditor to make an examination at the request of the directors. While the State officials have made no statement concerning the status of the bank, officers of the bank claim to have received authority to re-open by raising the capital stock of the institution.

Many of the miners of this city had their entire savings tied up in the closing.

SUES MOTHER-IN-LAW FOR $150,000 FOR ALIENATION

New York Woman Charges Mrs. A. T. Beach Caused Husband to Desert His Family.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Her husband, Charles Harper Thaw, deserted her and denied being the father of her four children, so

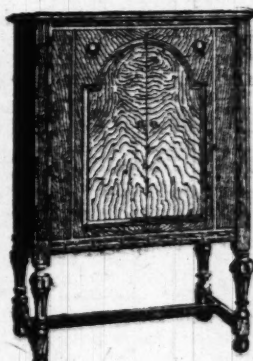

Mrs. Ethel M. Thaw of Philadelphia charged in a supreme court suit she started yesterday for $150,000 damages from her mother-in-law, Mrs. Adelaide Thaw Beach, for alleged alienation of affections.

Mrs. Thaw's complaint said she was married in 1910 and was happy with her husband until last May. They had four children, Charles, 17 years old, Adelaide, 15, Harper, 14, and Clifton, 12. Last May, she alleged, her husband left his family to live with his mother at her instigation. Thaw, formerly one of the owners of the Adelphi Ticket Agency, was arrested Oct. 10 on a Philadelphia warrant charging abandonment of his wife and children.

The charge was dismissed when the West Side Court was told he had posted $2500 bond for his appearance in a Philadelphia court Nov. 1 on a similar charge. Thaw said he was a distant relative of Harry K. Thaw.

HENKE'S PAROLE PLEA TO BE HEARD NOV. 14

St. Louis County Man Convicted of Killing Wife Has Served 22 Months.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 25.—Harry A. Henke Jr. of St. Louis County, who has served one year and 10 months of a 20-year sentence for the murder of his wife, who was beaten to death with a wrench, will be given a hearing before the State Parole Board on Nov. 14 on his application for a parole. His case is included in a list of 34 scheduled for hearings in November.

Mrs. Henke was found dead in bed on July 11, 1924, at the Henke home, 1721 Beulah Place, Richmond Heights, with her skull crushed. Henke had gone to work that morning and the body was not found until late in the afternoon. The conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court, which held that while the evidence was circumstantial, there was substantial proof to support the conviction.

Robert A. Rossel, who was special prosecutor in the case, has filed a protest against a parole for Henke and has asked the board to permit him to be heard in opposition. Among St. Louis cases docketed for hearing on parole applications are: George Peak, under life sentence for murder, 10 years from Jan. 26, 1924, on two charges of robbery; Bernard Kume, 7 years from Dec. 10, 1926, for a statutory offense; George Hodges, two years from last June 7, for grand larceny; Emil Lauffer, 25 years from June 19, 1916, for the murder of Mrs. Anna McGillicuddy, a rooming house proprietor; and Marcellus Pinckney, Negro, 25 years from Jan. 13, 1915, on three charges of robbery. Pinckney is assigned as a house man at the residence of Director of Penal Institutions A. H. Harrison.

DEATH ENDS FATHER'S SEARCH

Succumbs When About to Claim Children of Runaway Wife.
By the Associated Press.
MERIDIAN, Idaho, Oct. 25.—The devotion of a father to his children by a wife who ran away to answer a matrimonial advertisement ended here in a grave donated by charity.

Twelve men, strangers to the man whose body they lowered into the grave were the only mourners yesterday for Roy H. Cookley of Mineral Springs, Ark., the 53-year-old father, impoverished and near delirium with malarial fever. Cookley had staggered from a train here Thursday, happy in the thought that he was about to claim his motherless children. However, he died the next morning without seeing his children, an infant daughter and a 5-year-old son. Their mother, who took them to Idaho when she answered the matrimonial advertisement of Roy Handley, Boise Valley bachelor, has since died. The children have been placed in an orphanage.

M. M. Gubin Seeks to Recover $36,005 for Fire Loss.
Suit for $36,005.79 was filed against 14 insurance companies by M. M. Gubin, president of the Gubin Clothing Co. in Circuit Court today. It is alleged the companies refused to make adjustment of a fire loss aggregating $33,371.95, when the company's quarters at 1800 Washington avenue were destroyed April 14.

In addition to the actual loss, Gubin asks for 6 per cent interest from the date of the fire, 10 per cent additional for the delay in settlement and attorney's fees.

Putting Out Fire Cures Ailment.
BURLINGAME, Cal., Oct. 25.—Eugene Malatesta developed appendicitis symptoms yesterday. His wife went to start the automobile to take him to the hospital. The car backfired and burst into flames. Mrs. Malatesta called the fire department. Malatesta ran to the garage and extinguished the flames and in doing so recovered from his ailment. Then Mrs. Malatesta ran back into the house to cancel the order for the fire department; she slipped and suffered a broken arm. Malatesta then drove his wife to the hospital.

Civil War Veteran, 86, Dies.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 25.—Phillip Smith, past Commander of the Illinois Department, Grand Army of the Republic, died today. He was 86 years old. He had resided in Peoria 32 years when the Civil War broke out. Smith went from Peoria to St. Louis, where he enlisted in the Eighth Missouri Volunteer Infantry. He served in this regiment three years, taking part in the battles of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, the siege of Corinth, Gen. Sherman's attack on Corinth, Mission Ridge, Resaca and Dallas.

How to Remove That "YELLOW MASK"

That repellent yellowish tinge on your teeth... Here is how millions banish it for glorious white teeth.

Teeth of slightly yellowish hue can now be made to gleam like polished pearls. The method is safe, simple and pleasant. We ask you to try it—today. With no other dentifrice can you accomplish this miracle of teeth beauty... whiteness that charms and enchants!

"Yellow Mask," as this condition is called, is caused by a "liquid cement" in your saliva. It glues to your teeth, and hardens. Tobacco, food and coffee stain this glassy mask an unsightly yellow. Ordinary dentifrices cannot remove this mask—they only gloss right over it.

MILLARD NAMED REGULAR QUARTERBACK, LIBMAN END FOR WASHINGTON

PLAYERS WON THEIR SPURS AT LAWRENCE

Billikens and Bears Both Work Out Lightly, Avoiding Hard Scrimmage—Many Missing at St. Louis U. Practice.

Washington - Drake Football Game for 1928 Is Arranged

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS DR. WILLIAM F. EDWARDS of Washington University has closed arrangements with the Drake University football authorities for a game to be played at St. Louis on Oct. 6, 1928.

The early arrangement of this game is in line with Edwards' policy to close his book for next year before the present campaign has ended.

Light practice without scrimmages will be the order of the day both at Francis Field, where the Washington Bears home, and at the Grand and Laclede park, the stamping ground of the St. Louis University.

Coach Bob Matthews of the Billikens had so many of his men out of uniform, following the battering game with the Kobas, that he announced, after yesterday's lip-lapping up, that there would be no workout today.

Washington, although less badly bruised than the Billikens, will give only light work all week. Saturday's engagement with the Westminster team not being considered formidable.

The Kansas game, which in a measure was one of those well-rehearsed "moral victories" for the St. Louisans, did one good thing for Coach Higgins. It revealed the merits of several men who previously had made little impression.

New Field General Small.

One of the important results was the announcement late yesterday afternoon by Coach Higgins that Earl Millard had definitely been assigned to the quarterback job. "In the Kansas game Millard showed generalship and ground gaining ability of a high order. Millard weighs only 157 pounds, but is very fast."

Duncan, Lohrding and Bickel all have been tried at the quarterback's post. But Millard has shown more than any rival.

The end positions will be in more satisfactory shape henceforth, since the discovery that Meyer Libman can play this position with the best. Libman arrived at a time when the club was weakened in this position by the loss of Ralph Kurz, who, it is feared, is lost for several games. It was Libman's work in receiving a pass that enabled the Bears to tie Kansas.

Bud Harnett, it has been definitely decided, will not be used next Saturday against the Blue Jays. He is being kept out of practice to give his hurts time to heal for the more important contests of the late schedule. Rawdon, who acclimated at Lawrence, will get the job.

This week's practice will largely be devoted to the learning of new plays.

Many of the Billikens missed practice yesterday because of injuries suffered in the battle with Coe. Babka, Cornell, Tison, Guoskey and Miller were the linemen unable to answer the roll call. The backfield men were on duty, with the exception of "Huck" Flynn.

GASS SHOOT 77 FOR MEDALIST HONORS IN NORMANDIE TOURNEY

Ray Gass, turning in a score of 77, was medalist in the annual Normandie Golf Club tournament on the Normandie course, and Don Anderson and George Niekamp were tied for second with scores of 78.

Thirty-two golfers will compete in three divisions of match play starting Saturday. Sixteen will compete in the championship division and the remaining number will be equally divided between the two lower divisions.

Gass was called out of town on business and is not expected to compete in match play.

Pairings follow: CLASS A. George Niekamp vs. J. G. Samplenton; Robert Dunn vs. H. Daub; R. Clabaugh vs. H. F. McDonald; Ralph Siegel vs. R. Taylor; Don Anderson vs. W. G. Rule; Bert Harnett vs. J. S. Casey.

CLASS B. R. E. Kneeland vs. E. Weller; Charles Deibel vs. J. E. Burns; Samuel Bredon vs. M. J. Halloran; Dan Murphy vs. C. Becker.

CLASS C. W. Shields vs. J. F. Bruen; R. Hoch vs. J. Allison; Harold Emerson vs. F. N. Walsh; S. L. Gustafson vs. G. Kenamore vs. Robert Jones; F. Hemker vs. Clint Taylor.

JANESVILLE, Wis. — Pete Gross, Rockford, Ill., knocked out Jack Heinenman, Milwaukee (8). Sammy Paris, Rockford, and Billy Knowles, Chicago, drew (8).

IRISH PAL, which yesterday won his seventh victory in a total of eight starts. He is owned by "Boots" Durnell and won all his races while campaigning at Fairmount track. He is entered Saturday in the $10,000 Futurity race at Arlington and probably will be installed as favorite.

BAN JOHNSON'S SUCCESSOR TO BE NAMED NOV. 2

Frank J. Navin, Acting Head of American League Calls Meeting of Directors for Chicago.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 25.—Frank J. Navin, vice president and acting head of the American Baseball League, today called a special meeting of the league directors to be held in Chicago at 11 a. m. Nov. 2, to elect a successor to Ban Johnson, who resigned last week as president of the league.

"Pro" Swimmers Form Association

Gertrude Ederle, Mrs. Corson and Other Stars Among 31 Members.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—In order to protect its members in the matter of contracts and to authenticate all records, the International Professional Swimmers' Association has been formed here with Miss Gertrude Ederle and Mrs. Mille Gade Corson, first mother to swim the English Channel, among its members.

Active membership will be confined to swimmers who have gained recognition in high school, college and amateur competition. There are 31 members, the association announces, among them several English and German stars.

Among records which have been accepted by the association are those of Miss Ederle and Mrs. Corson in swimming the English Channel; George Young's Catalina Island swim, and Edward P. Keating's Lake George victory.

Bruce Grant is president of the association.

HANSEN IS VICTOR OVER WHITNEY IN BILLIARD TOURNEY

Dr. L. P. Macklin, who Sunday was notified that he now holds the national three-cushion billiard title under authority of the American Association of Amateur Billiard Players, will appear in a billiard match against W. Schumaker, in one of the two Red Ball tournament games at Peterson's Parlor tonight. L. Scott will meet I. Mills in the second game.

In the initial frame of the tourney last night, R. W. Hansen defeated F. E. Whitney, 50 to 47, in which the victor used cushion draw shots effectively in the pinches to clinch the victory.

The scores: R. W. Hansen—Score, 50; high run, 5; average, 1.11-32. F. E. Whitney—Score, 47; high run, 5; average, 1.9-29.

COLISEUM A. C. WILL PROMOTE MAT CONTESTS

Official Announcement to Be Made in Few Days, Manager Pickering Tells Post-Dispatch.

Professional wrestling bouts will be held here under the auspices of the Coliseum A. C. unless plans now nearing completion are wrecked, the Post-Dispatch was informed today. For several years Tom Packs, and before him John Conos, put on mat exhibitions between athletes widely advertised throughout the country as titleholders or championship candidates.

According to Manager Pickering of the Coliseum, Packs henceforth will be matchmaker for the Coliseum Athletic Club, an organization which includes stockholders of the Coliseum company.

"While our plans are not yet complete, we expect to have the announcement ready in a few days," Maj. Pickering said. "Dan Jones of the Coliseum Athletic Club is preparing a written statement of our program and all information will be issued by him at the proper time."

Manager Pickering intimated that wrestlers whose names appear frequently as leaders of their profession will continue to do their stuff here under the new auspices.

A. A. U. CAGE LEAGUE TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The basketball league sponsored by the Western A. A. U. held another meeting last night.

The following teams have been enrolled as members: People's Motorbus A. C., North End Rowing Club, Young Men's Hebrew Association, Jefferson Park Baracks, 13th Infantry, Belleville Turners, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Kingdom House.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 3 p. m. at Locust street and other teams are invited to join. If enough entries are secured, the organization will be split up into two leagues, according to Robert L. Probst, secretary of the A. A. U.

PHIL GOLDSTEIN AND CROWLEY FIGHT DRAW

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 25.—Phil Goldstein of New York and Tommy Crowley of Pittsburgh fought eight furious rounds to a draw here last night. They are featherweights.

In the eight-round semifinal, Young Sailor of Charleroi, Pa., was awarded the decision over Teddy Westbrook, Niles, O. middleweight.

Jim Jennings of Niles, O., manager of Westbrook, and Referee "Red" Kennedy were arrested after the two engaged in a fight when the boxing show was over. Kennedy had cast the decisive vote that gave Sailor a victory over Westbrook. Jennings and Kennedy posted forfeits for a hearing today.

thousands who have paid to see him.

In racing, where the betting angle enters, a complete debacle of morals and efficiency is the Rev. Watson's view. But as a matter of fact the public at large views racing as just another form of entertainment, to be indulged when desirable.

Only a few are permanent addicts to the betting game as compared to the vast number that attend merely for the occasion, the outing and the enjoyment.

England enjoyed racing for centuries before the Reverend Watson saw the light, and the British are still a tight, conservative, hard-working people.

SLATTERY SIGNS FOR BOUT ON NOV. 1

By the Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Jimmy Slattery, National Boxing Association light-heavyweight champion, has signed to meet Murray Stittetz of New York in a bout here on Nov. 2, preliminary to a fight in Detroit against an opponent yet to be selected.

THE REVEREND WATSON has not turned the other half of the shield.

The major part of our sports may unfit a few whom nature already had made temperamentally unfit, in all probability, on the other hand thousands of those who take part as competitors or spectators are materially benefited by the exercise, the outdoor air and the mental relaxation.

Who, for example, is rendered unfit by playing or viewing ball games? How many have become depraved and useless because they now and then pay to see men try one another's courage, endurance and skill in the ring? In what way have Gene Tunney, once a clerk without education, and Jack Dempsey, once a blind-baggage tramp, suffered by contact with pugilism? Mentally, morally and financially even these have been vastly benefited.

The Reverend Watson would have us believe that the 400,000 persons who view football games each Saturday have been grossly contaminated. Perhaps he feels that contact with the game of tennis made famous by Mr. Tilden, has defiled all the Cornhusker Freshmen Give Varsity Long Workout, Using New Yorkers' Style of Play—Missouri Starts Practice for Evanston Game Saturday—Other Valley Gossip.

By the Associated Press. Clark Likely to Play Saturday.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 25.—Smarting under the defeat at the hands of Southern Methodist University in Dallas Saturday, the University of Missouri Tigers yesterday started a three-days' practice for the second of their intersectional football games, with Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., Saturday.

The Captain Flammank-Clark forward pass team which scored the only touchdown against the Mustangs, carried injuries from the fray which were not as serious as they at first appeared. Flammank's hand was slightly sprained, although his knee which was injured in an early season game still caused him to limp.

Clark suffered a new twist to an already sprained ankle, but the possibility of his playing Saturday was bright. Tuttle also may be available for the Northwestern game after having been kept out for some time by a broken hand.

CATCHER REGO SOLD BY BROWNS TO PORTLAND

Smallest Receiver in Major Leagues Is Sold Outright — Came to St. Louis From Coast League.

By the Associated Press. PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—Tony Rego, catcher for the St. Louis American club last season, has been purchased by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast baseball league, President Thomas L. Turner of the Portland club, announced today.

Rego, who stands only 5 feet 8 inches tall, was the smallest catcher in the major leagues. In spite of his lack of height, he was regarded as a talented receiver and a fair hitter. He came to the Browns four years ago from Los Angeles and has tried annually to land a regular catching job. He was farmed out to Tulsa two years ago.

The Browns' catching staff consists of Wally Schang, Steve O'Neill and Leo Dixon.

BOXERS WORK OUT FOR EAST ST. LOUIS FIGHT PROGRAM ON THURSDAY

Hard workouts are submitted today and tomorrow for Ray Alfano, former National A. A. U. featherweight champion, and Al Knupp, promising young St. Louisan, to put the finishing touches on their training campaign for their 10-round decision bout which features the Tri-City Tornado Benefit Fund professional boxing program at the Avenue Theater in East St. Louis Thursday night.

Both boxers are expected to easily get down to the required 133 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the bout. Eddie Barth is supervising Alfano's work at the Knights of Columbus gym across the river, while Harry Cook is tutoring Knupp at the Business Men's gym here.

Matchmaker Willard Barrett has three other bouts on this program, which is being held under the supervision of the Illinois State Athletic Commission. Charlie Grubb, local welter, and Jack Cory of East St. Louis, clash in the six-round second preliminary, while Willie Lewis and Jesse James, local Negro lightweight, mix in the four-round curtain raiser.

It was a disappointing battle for that reason. It didn't furnish even the thrill of a knock out, one of the greatest showmen of all time.

A crowd of approximately 9000 began calling for action in the fourth round. While Dundee, as was to be expected, after a year's layoff, was wildly cheered as he entered the ring, he was roundly booed at the final gong. Many of the spectators left the Garden at the end of the seventh round.

Title Not Official.

As the New York State Athletic Commission did not recognize the contest as involving the featherweight championship, it is problematical whether that body will call a hearing to consider the suspension of one or both of the principals.

Dundee, who only a month ago weighed 140, entered the ring at 123½ pounds, a half pound under the featherweight limit, while Canzoneri scaled 124.

Only $1000 was paid to see the old fellow's last stand. There was a gate of $34,457, rather a paltry sum when compared to some of the big gates Johnny has drawn with stars long since forgotten.

Low Perfetti Wins.

Harry Brandon outpointed Placo Grande in the four-round opener.

Benny Schwartz got an eight-round decision over Johnny Erickson that didn't seem to meet with the approbation of the clients. Tony knotted quite lustily when the verdict came.

Andy Martin earned an eight-round decision over Henry DeWanker of Belgium.

Lew Perfetti got the decision over Vic Burrows in the eight-round semifinal.

U. S. CHESS MASTER CAPTURES THIRD PLACE AS TOURNEY CLOSES

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 25.—Dr. S. Tartakower of Paris and A. Nimzowitsch of Copenhagen were tied at the conclusion of the international chess tournament at the British Empire Club yesterday. The contest ended in the eleventh round, the two masters winning eight games each and losing three. They divided first and second prizes.

F. J. Marshall, United States champion, by winning his last game captured third prize, with seven and a half games won. Dr. W. Vidmar, Jugoslav, met with defeat today and dropped to fourth place.

Fifth prize was won by E. B. Bogdanow of Germany, while Richard Reti, Czechoslovakian, and W. Winter, England, tied for sixth.

Final standing:

1. Tartakower, 10½; 2. Bogdanow, 10; 3. Marshall, 9½; 4. Vidmar, 9; 5. Reti, 8½; 6. Winter, 8; 7. Nimzowitsch, 7½; 8. Winter, 7; 9. Bogdanow, 6½; 10. Reti, 6; 11. Marshall, 5½; 12. Vidmar, 5; 13. New York Crowd Boos One-Time Champion — Canzoneri Plainly Carries His Man, Disdaining Knockout.

Bat Levinsky, at 36, Knocks Out Negro Opponent

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Tony Canzoneri can now call himself the featherweight champion of the world. He defeated Johnny Dundee on points in 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden last night in a bout that plainly showed that Tony had no heart to knock out the gallant old warrior. That he would have done so not even Dundee doubted.

TUNNEY PREDICTS HE WILL QUIT RING UNBEATEN, WITHIN FIVE YEARS

WILL SHUN ALL STAGE ACTIVITIES

Heavyweight Champion Also Will Seek Perfection of Physical and Fistic Equipment.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The New York Evening World says today Gene Tunney will retire from the ring within five years but still as the heavyweight champion of the world. Until that time, the titleholder is quoted as declaring he will devote all his time to the "perfection of physical and fistic equipment, shunning all stage or similar work of a title-commercializing nature."

Gene expects to retire to the work he has planned for the future a millionaire several times over from his glove endeavors. The paper says he expects to be in even better trim than for his recent title defense against Jack Dempsey in Chicago when next called upon to defend the heavyweight crown.

Tunney intimated that pictures of the Dempsey fight had been "so arranged and cut as to make the former champion appear to the best possible advantage."

The titleholder said he could have risen at the count of four from the knockdown in the much-discussed seventh round of that battle, despite allegations that a "long count" saved the title for him.

"I have learned two lessons from my first year as champion," Tunney said. "One is that stage work and that sort of thing is best left alone. Another is that you must never go into the ring with your passions aroused."

"Anger over unportsmanlike tactics resorted to by Dempsey in his open letter attack and the fact that a dear friend of mine stood to gain $50,000 on my winning by a knockout caused me to deviate somewhat from my usual cold attack, which is necessary if one is to have the requisite perfect command of one's self. But even though my anger resulted in flashes of exuberance, I could have gotten up after I had been dropped by Dempsey, even if the referee had counted so quickly that mine would only have been the equivalent of four."

Richard "Partial to Dempsey." Declaring it "immaterial what they say or write about my contests," Tunney said he had "worked too hard to get where I am to be wrought up about anything very much." He said he knew perfectly well that Richard was partial to Dempsey in their second meeting.

"But then Tex has a mistaken idea as to the former champion's value as a great attraction. He couldn't draw $200,000 in New York against a contender like Bill Brennan, and how near to a million did he draw with Mike? Maybe Tunney had something to do with the fact that my two matches with Dempsey drew far beyond $300,000."

"And still Richard has the pictures play up Dempsey as best he can. Do the pictures, as now exhibited, show the world that every blow landed in the seventh round after I got up off the floor, was struck by me?"

Tunney said he expected to defend his title within a year against the best obtainable contender. He said there would be "no three years between matches while I am champion."

"Maybe, after my ring farewell in 1932, I will get married—but I don't think it will be even as soon as that. At 34, I have decided that I will be too old to fight—and too old to get married—if you like."

MICHIGAN WILL MEET ILLINOIS IN HOMECOMING

Neither Squad Has Important Player on Injured List as Annual Clash at Urbana Nears.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The four undefeated teams of the Western Conference, by a peculiar accident of the schedule, are the four which meet Big Ten next Saturday, Oct. 28, at Urbana, Ill.

Michigan leads in wins. The other two, Michigan and Illinois, clash at Urbana in one of the big games of the seven meetings since the annual series started after the war, holding the Illinois record in the last two battles. The one before that, in 1924, brought Red Grange undying fame, with his four touchdowns in the first 12 minutes of play.

No team has been able to score a point on Michigan this year, while Illinois was held to a 12-12 tie by Iowa State only two weeks ago. Neither squad has important players on the injured list.

Glenn Thistlethwaite of Wisconsin told his prediction that the Minnesota 38-0 victory over Iowa only proved his prediction that the Gophers were stronger than Wisconsin, unless vast improvement is shown by Saturday. The Badgers have a strong line and light backs to face a Minnesota team which is heavy all the way through, and an expert on passes as it is on line smashing.

Dissatisfied with the showing of all his quarterbacks, Coach Hanley of Northwestern jumped into the job himself last night for dummy scrimmage, to demonstrate how to drive the Wildcats to victory against Missouri. Hanley was quarter on the Mare Island team of the Marines during the war, and before that performed at Washington State. Tiny Lewis, the big fullback, and Waldo Fisher, end, who were hurt Saturday, watched practice in street clothes, but will be ready for work in a day or two. Northwestern and Missouri will meet under a noncontingent agreement.

Stagg Emphasizes Skull Practice. The system that has worked for three weeks at Chicago, "skull practice," rather than scrimmage, is being followed this week by Coach Stagg. Ohio plays and players were explained to the varsity by scouts, and Stagg lectured at length on teamwork. Two important members of the squad, who were out of the Penn game, returned to the field in uniform yesterday. Libbey, halfback, and Proudford, tackle. The gloom in the "uckeyes" camp is heavy, with two defeats in a row, and Byron Eby, one of Ohio's backs, on crutches. In Monday's practice, Coach Wilce shook up his line candidates again, sending Young into Captain Meyers' place at tackle.

Notre Dame to Play Tech. The Georgia Tech team is causing Rockne's Ramblers more worry than any opponent yet this season, from the indications of Monday's workout. The only injury from Saturday's fray with Indiana was an injured ankle for John Niemelä. Notre Dame's best punter, but he will be ready for the Golden Tornado.

Coach Phelan at Purdue patched up one weak spot developed in the Wisconsin game by sending Burt Dreyer from center to end. Indiana freshmen pushed up Harvard plays against reserves, so they could give the varsity a demonstration on the Crimson offensive today. The 102-piece Hoosier band also rehearsed special formations for the Cambridge trip.

GOODRICH LOSES TO MUELLER BY DECISION. By the Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Freddie Mueller, Buffalo lightweight, won the decision over Jimmy Goodrich, former champion, in a 10-round bout here last night. Goodrich taking but one round, Mueller opened a cut over Goodrich's eye. Mueller weighed 129½ and the former champion 141½.

Chronic Head Colds

A Simple Method of Prevention

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble.

That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and, being harmless, are used by children as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, plain nasal catarrh, catarrhal deafness, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any drug store a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

When you feel the game is up

perhaps it's cachexia (run-down condition)

When you dub everything from the tea to the cup, and feel like trading your clubs for a wheel chair, maybe it's not so much your stance or your swing as your physical condition.

You can't play golf—or do anything else—and do it well, if you're suffering from cachexia (run-down condition).

Get some yeast; it's a great up-builder and conditioner. If you want yeast in its purest, most convenient and palatable form, get Yeast Foam Tablets. Carry them with you; they keep for days. Swallow them whole or chew them like candy. You'll like them!

Yeast Foam Tablets come in handy 50 packets, at all counters, or the 10 day bottle for 50c at drug stores.

SAYS J. A. FARRELL WILL BE GARY'S SUCCESSOR

Forbes Magazine Forecasts Selection of Former Laborer for Post.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Choice of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation as chairman of the board in succession to Elbert H. Gary in the current issue of Forbes's magazine. This statement, which came on the eve of the first quarterly meeting today of the corporation's directors since Gary's death, was considered in well-informed steel quarters to be in line with Wall Street reports widely circulated since Aug. 15, from which time Farrell has presided at the weekly meetings of the steel corporation's finance committee.

Formal selection of Farrell was not expected at today's meeting, however, in view of statements by him and by Percival Roberts Jr., director and member of the finance committee.

Farrell, at his home in South Norwalk, Conn., said he understood there would be no action as to the selection of a successor to Gary until the November meeting of the board of directors. Roberts was quoted as declaring no change had been made in the executive personnel of the corporation. The determination of the directors to take no present action is associated in some quarters with the fact that J. P. Morgan, a member of the board, is still abroad. His return to New York is set for next month.

The rise of the new steel head from the ranks of the laborers is told in Forbes' article.

Farrell entered a wire mill at New Haven, Conn., as a laborer when he was 15 years old.

Foreman at 21. Before he was 21 years old, he was foreman in charge of 300 men at the Pittsburgh Oliver Wire Co. He was advanced to salesman, three years later became sales manager, and at 30 was general manager of the organization.

When the United States Steel Corporation was organized, Farrell, as president from 1903 to 1910 of the United States Steel Products, gave his service to the development of the foreign end of the former concern.

On recommendation of Henry Clay Frick and the elder J. P. Morgan in 1910, Farrell was made president of the parent organization, a position he has held for the last 17 years.

NAMES FORMER DETECTIVE AS MAN WHO FLOGGED HIM
Fort Worth (Tex.) Plumbing Dealer at Trial Tells of Attack on Him by Band.
By the Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 25.—Harry Connor, former City Detective, was identified from the witness stand here today by M. S. Straus, plumbing supply dealer, as one of the men who abducted him from his home July 8 and flogged him. Connor is on trial for alleged violation of the State anti-mask law.

A defense fund for Connor has been raised by the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, of which the Rev. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist leader, is pastor. Dr. Norris in numerous sermons has alleged the charge against Connor was the result of a conspiracy because Connor testified for Norris when the minister was on trial for the killing of D. E. Chipp, lumberman, several months ago.

Shortly after the trial of Norris, who was acquitted, Connor was discharged from the Detective Department.

Straus testified Connor, with another man, came to his home and lured him outside with a story that a friend had been injured in an automobile accident. Believing the men to be officers, Straus said he went to an automobile with them, where he was seized, taken into the country and flogged.

CHAMBERLIN SEEKS $25,000 PAYMENT FROM LEVINE

Flyer Has No Contract Except Word of Millionaire Promoter, New York Paper Says.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The New York Evening Post today says former State Senator Charles C. Lockwood has undertaken negotiations towards getting Charles A. Levine to make good on an alleged oral promise to pay Clarence Chamberlin $25,000 for safely piloting him across the Atlantic last June. The Post says Chamberlin has no more binding contract on the $25,000 fee than Levine's word. Levine is worth $5,000,000, according to his personal secretary, Samuel L. Hartman. "Chamberlin tried to get Levine to sign a contract for the $25,000 before the flight," Lockwood stated, "but Levine put him off on the plea that he was too busy to think of money and that it was unorthodox for Chamberlin to insist when they were risking their lives together. After they arrived in Europe, Chamberlin again tried to collect, but Levine said he would settle accounts after returning home." Levine declined to make any comment other than to say he expected to confer with Chamberlin and Lockwood within a day or two.

What Some of the Notables Of New York Are Wearing

By BELLE BRUMMEL.

THE future, run at Belmont Park last week, is the feature of the season. Society folk gathered from far and wide to see this famous race.

From the pergola atop the Turf and Field Club end of the stand, we saw, under the late afternoon sun, the brown of the track, contrasting with the vivid greens of the turf and the gray colors of the silk-dressed jockeys.

Directly below was the inclosure of the Turf and Field Club. Dotting the lawn were throngs of smartly attired people seated at the small, round egg blue, painted tables or passing in and out of the gate to the paddock.

Leaning far out of her box in the pergola, was Mrs. Payne Whitney, waving affectionately to Jolly Roger of the Greenhouse, winner of the splendid steeplechase race. Mrs. Whitney, in mourning for her husband, dressed quietly in black crepe. Turning with eyes and a tremulous note in her voice, she shook hands with friends.

Gathered to congratulate her as the owner of the winning horse, among them were Ambrose Clark, wearing a dark blue suit and his famous gray "bowler," Mrs. Whitney's daughter, Joan, also in black crepe, and shading her eyes with a broad-brimmed black hat.

Although the day was warm, fall fashions were much in evidence. In materials, fine velvets, rough tweeds, velvets, velveteens and many jersey and novelty wools were noted.

Pinkish browns, beige and delicate grays predominated, contrasted by a sprinkling of bright blues, shades of grape, and Charlevoix greens. Small felt hats, usually of skull cap silhouette and sometimes ornamented with feathers, led in millinery. Suede and chambray pull-on gloves, soft suede bags and black suede shoes dominated in accessories.

In the paddock, watching Anita Peabody, winner of the future, being saddled, was Mrs. Ralph Hertz, her owner. Interesting were the many strands of pearls which Mrs. Hertz wound around her neck and the chic black hat cut along Rebox lines.

Resting against the white rail of the Turf and Field Club inclosure stood Mrs. Jerome Bonaparte, chatting with Dean Richmond. Mrs. Bonaparte was clad in shades of gray, a delightful foil for her brown hair and clear skin. Mrs. Bonaparte always wears wide-brimmed hats. In this instance, her hat was gray, quite simple, with a smartly cut crown and flaring brim. Her frock was two-piece, a knee-length crepe Elizabeth blouse worn over a finely pleated crepe de chine skirt. Flung carelessly about her shoulders was a gorgeous silver fox scarf and she carried a large bag of black suede and wore shoes and stockings to match the color of her gown.

Also standing in the paddock, near their racer, Brown Bud,

Children Need Mother's Care

THE surest way to get Mrs. Frank O. Lowden to talk animatedly and with enthusiasm is to mention children and child rearing. She believes that the mothers of today in the upbringing of their children face the most perplexing problems of any in any period of history. From her own experience she proffers this advice: "No mother or must delegate to an outsider a portion of her responsibility."

The daughter of George M. Pullman, one of the country's richest men and wife of Frank O. Lowden, former Congressman and former Governor of Illinois, Florence Lowden has been content to make motherhood her life work.

She has reared the four Lowden children on their great Siniissippi estate of 4500 acres at Oregon, Ill. When George M. Pullman Lowden, now 59, or his sisters, Frances, Harriet or Florence, were children, they were reared on the farm, the simple things that rural folk do and taking part in the life of the village.

"One must create a wholesome state of mind in children," said Mrs. Lowden. "Then they will be wholesome and fine. They must do simple things and live in wholesome surroundings. The country is the place to bring up children. It simplifies a mother's task tremendously."

Stuffed Cucumbers.
Select rather short, thick cucumbers of eating size. Peel, cut in half lengthwise and remove the seeds. Parboil in salted water for the Frederick Johnsons. Shades of grape, dull pink and beige were chosen by Mrs. Johnson for the color scheme of her crepe Elizabeth frock. Well suited to her type was her broad-brimmed hat of grape hue, trimmed with a wide satin ribbon of the same shade. Her straight-line one-piece dress of dull pink was banded by folds of beige. She carried a beautiful beaded bag of silver and rose, and wore beige hose and one strap brown reptile skin slippers.

SEATED next to Mrs. Payne Whitney was a tall, slender young woman—we think it was Mrs. Vincent Astor—wearing a black crepe ensemble and tightly wound black silk turban ornamented with two pearl pins. Around her neck was clasped a choker of large pearls. Interesting features of her coat were the huge cuffs of platinum fox and simple collarless Vionnet neckline.

Passing us in her car is Mrs. Kenneth O'Brien, wearing the velvet jacket and contrasting pleated skirt she wore at the polo games. We easily recognize her car, for it bears the license number I-1-5-6, which is also her town address.

The Turf and Field Clubhouse is set back from the highway and paddock, and its gardens are hidden away from public gaze. As the long shadows of early twilight moved across the velvety lawn, wailing saxophones played "Hallelujah," and waiters bowed members of the club to their tables and refreshments after the races.

Walking briskly past our table were the Ristuccis. Golden yellow ostrich feathers formed the cuffs and collar of Mrs. Ristuccis' amber flowered chiffon frock and accenting her Latin beauty was a small brimmed deep yellow felt hat.

We must say a word about the Governor's hat, so splendid that all the men near us in the enclosure cried, "Where did he get that hat?" as Mr. Al Smith passed us, bound for the judges' boxes with Joseph E. Widener.

The hat was a fedora, soft and flexible, fashioned of brushed beaver and a light cream in color. It was similar to the one worn by the Prince of Wales.

Strolling up the avenue, we meet Mrs. L. Allen, recently returned from Paris. She is wearing a black crepe frock, one-piece, long-sleeved, and cut with a cape back. Her hat of black felt is caught back by a dagger of brilliants. She carries a pointed fox scarf and a black tapestry bag, patterned in delicate pastel flowers. Over her arm is flung a black kasha coat, and she completes her costume with gun-metal chiffon silk hose and black reptile slippers.

Also in the pergola was Mrs. C. V. Whitney, clad in a two-piece frock of deep gray wool jersey, small felt hat to match and hose and shoes of corresponding color. Sitting on the railing in front of her was Mary Elizabeth Altman, wearing shades of orchid. Her slip-on sweater of angora wool was woven with a silver thread delicate through it, and her skirt of crepe was finely pleated. Very quaint was her small hat of orchid felt pulled well down over her dark hair and turned sharply up in the front.

RECIPES FROM "My Old Virginia Cook Book"

Butter Cake With Strawberry Sauce.

TAKE one-third cup of shortening, one cup of sugar, one cup of milk, 1 1/2 cups of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, 4 teaspoonful of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Cream the shortening and sugar, beating well. Then add the beaten egg and one-half of the milk and mix well. Now add one-half of the flour which has been sifted with salt and baking powder, and finally add the remainder of the milk and flour and the remaining one-half of the flour. Bake in a greased, shallow pan in a hot oven about 40 minutes. Cut into squares or pieces and serve hot with strawberry sauce and whipped cream. For sauce, take two cups of strawberries and three-fourths cup of sugar. Pick over berries and put in a dish and cover with sugar and allow to stand for one-half hour. Remove half of the berries to serve whole, and crush the remainder mixing well with the sugar. Add whole berries and serve.

ten minutes. Drain, fill the cavities with stuffing, pressing it in firmly to keep the cucumber shape. Sprinkle on top with buttered crumbs and bake for twenty minutes. Remove them to a hot platter, pour tomato sauce around them and garnish with watercress.

CHIC CHERIE

What They Wear in the Evening

Dina's frock is of fuchsia-colored transparent velvet. It has an amusing sort of ruffle around the waist and truly glittering shoulder straps of rhinestones. But is that enough of a reason for this elderly gentleman to stare at her in this fashion. There's nothing wrong with his own partner!

We do believe that the lady is passing out of our lives forever and in a nasty, bad temper, too. Even her evening wrap of velvet and fox doesn't please her at the moment. Although it has a cape back and draped sleeves over the backs of the tight sleeves—which does sound awfully complicated, but isn't.

She mentions that stare to Cherie, who is looking rather more charming than usual, even, in a dress of silver metal cloth, very fine and supple, with a one-sided bodice and an immense one-sided bow. Cherie didn't notice the man, but she did notice the lady's satin frock with its deep oval décolletage.

The perfidy of men! His lady friend has just stalked off in a bad temper, but there he is having himself presented to Cousin Emily. Is that why he was looking at Dina or is Cousin Emily herself the attraction? She's looking her best in a transparent velvet gown trimmed with diagonal bands of rhinestone beads.

Children's Bedtime Story

Peter Jumps to Conclusions.

Prepares the way for many bumps.

"Good evening, Peter!" said Danny.

"Good evening, Peter," said Danny. "I thought you had left the dear Old Briar-patch."

"I don't know what business you had to think that," retorted Peter crossly.

"Mrs. Peter told me so," replied Danny. "She told me that you had gone up to the Old Pasture and lived. Did you change your mind and come back?"

"That is no business of yours," retorted Peter angrily. "I have a perfect right to come back to the dear Old Briar-patch if I want to."

"Certainly, certainly! Of course!" squeaked Danny. "I was just surprised, that's all. I'm glad you have come back. I thought you would."

"Why did you think I would?" demanded Peter.

Danny paid no attention to this question. "I guess Mrs. Peter was glad to see you back, wasn't she?" said he.

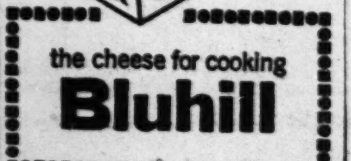

"It was Peter's turn to ignore a question. 'Have you been over here often while I've been gone?' he inquired.

"Quite often," replied Danny. "Has—has Mrs. Peter had many visitors?" inquired Peter.

Danny chuckled. It was a squeaky little chuckle. "Now, you are asking me something that is no business of mine," retorted he. "By the way, where is Mrs. Peter?"

"She is not to be seen just now," replied Peter. And then he looked over toward the Green Forest and grunted his teeth.

Summer Squash Batter Cakes
Egg and mash enough summer squash to make a pint of pulp and drain as dry as possible. Add two beaten eggs, a small cupful of rich milk, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and enough flour sifted in to make the usual batter. Cook on a hot greased griddle, browning on either side. Serve with a light sugar syrup in which a tablespoonful of butter has been melted; or, if preferred, just melted butter.

Ear Trouble From Diving

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

THERE is no season of the year when you may not swim the sea, lake or river some place in the United States.

It is a most wholesome indulgence and should be cultivated when possible by everybody.

But while nearly everyone enjoys swimming, few realize that there are certain risks to health in this sport, besides the danger of drowning and of catching cold. One of the most frequent is ear trouble.

Water can reach the ear and harm it either through the eustachian tube, a small canal that leads to the inner ear from the back of the nose.

When water gets into the external ear, which means as far down as the drum, it causes a highly disagreeable sensation, but is fairly easy to get out again. The best way to remove it is to incline the head on one side and to stamp the foot on that side sharply once or twice.

If the ear is clean and healthy the water will run out and cause no further trouble. If, however, there is much wax in the ear the wax may absorb the water, swell up and block the tube. "Water in the ear" which is so persistent as to need a doctor is nearly always due to wax. The pressure of the swollen wax and the presence of moisture may quite easily cause an inflammation. People who would better to have it removed before they take a swimming holiday.

There are also some people who are liable to eczema of the ear, and water is apt to make this worse.

Salt water is more irritating to many people than fresh.

The water in public swimming baths is liable to be heavily infested with microbes. It is more dangerous on this account.

Unskillful diving from a height may cause rupture of the drum by mechanical force, but this is not a common accident and on the whole the ear can stand an occasional drenching without damage.

But we may well take a lesson from the fact that nature provides some water animals with the power of closing their ears under water, and the seal can also close its nose.

The commonest cause of serious ear disease in bathing is the entrance of water into an old perforation of the drum.

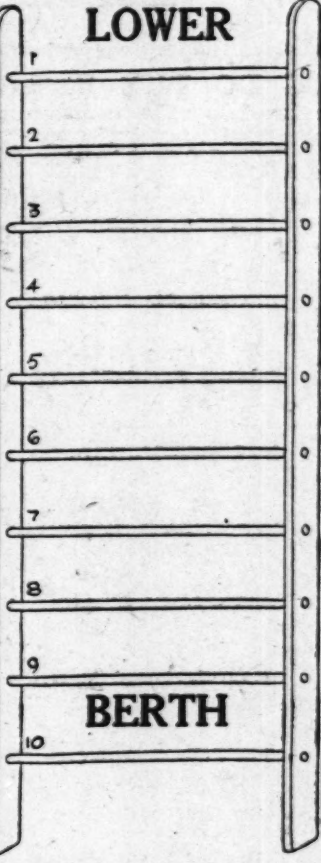

This may produce a severe discharge and all its complications. People with perforated drums should never bathe without some absolute protection against water entering the ear. Cotton wool is useless as it soon gets soaked. Sheep's wool is better, since it is greasy. A well-fitting rubber plug coated with vasoline is not bad, but best of all is a mixture of wax or plasticine with flour, which may be bought from a large drug store. A rubber cap with ear flaps should be worn over any plug.

Even if the drums and canals are perfectly healthy, inflammation of the middle ear may be caused by water entering through the eustachian tubes. Water is liable to enter this tube if the bather blows his nose violently after swimming or swallowing while under water. Water in the nose should be discharged only by blowing through the wide open nostrils. Don't try to help matters by compressing one nostril while blowing through the other. It is a dangerous practice and may give you no end of middle-ear trouble.

The first weeping willow in England was planted by the Pope (1683-1744). He received a present of figs from Turkey and observing a twig in a basket ready to bud, planted it in his garden. Soon it became a fine tree. All the weeping willows there and in America originated from this stock.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN Treatment

for blackheads

ELIZABETH ARDEN recommends that you cleanse your skin with exquisite care, if you have a tendency to blackheads. Use Venetian Cleansing Cream each morning and night; this soft milky cream dissolves and dislodges all the dust and impurities which distend and darken the pores. Then pat briskly for several minutes with Arden's Skin Tonic to clear and stimulate the skin.

To remove blackheads, soften the spot with warm Venetian Muscle Oil. Dip a Beauty Sachet in hot water and hold over the blackhead to bring it to the surface. Press it out with covered fingertips. Apply Venetian Pore Cream to contract the pore. Faithful care of your skin, according to the scientific method of Elizabeth Arden, will keep it clear, fine and smooth.

Women of Vienna Ask for Permit To Wear Trousers

VIENNA'S women are demanding skirts and petticoats. They have petitioned the police for government authority to wear trousers and other masculine dress.

Most of the petitioners are industrial workers, who believe the male costume will enable them to perform their work more easily. But not a few of the petitioners are smart society women, who tired of the tyranny of the skirt and petticoat want to differentiate themselves from their sterner sisters. Most of them are still "slaves" to fashion.

Fearing if they were made male without official authority they might be molested in the streets, the petitioners sought printed license cards from the authorities. But the Government declined their request, saying there was no need of legalizing something which was not forbidden.

It was even pointed out that men are free to wear skirts and petticoats. But if such a thing became a public scandal it would be forbidden. So far no Austrian man has essayed this innovation.

But girls up to 15 years of age in Austria now wear boys' "panta-sax" and masculine shirts, trousers and other elaborate headgear have long since disappeared. Many women are wearing instead simple masculine caps and tam of cat's paws. A great majority, who belong to outdoor "cults," wear nothing but covering nor stockings.

Since the revolution in Austria everything has been done to make that is not specifically enjoined by statute. In the days of the old Empire it was quite the reverse; everything was prohibited unless it was specially sanctioned by the law.

She started flying in 1911 and has since that time made many flights, including a record flight of 11,000 feet in the air, claiming the record for altitude for a woman pilot with passengers.

Luba Phillips returned to this country in 1922 and did some field work in Japan at Roosevelt Field. At the last national air races at Mitchell Field she flew a Fokker tri-engine plane with 10 passengers, among whom was her husband, Anthony Fokker. Early this year, Mrs. Phillips flew another tri-engine Fokker 11,000 feet in the air, claiming the record for altitude for a woman pilot with passengers.

WOMEN

More than a Century
They Have Shared With Men the Perils of Pioneers on the Frontiers of Aviation.

By JOAQUIN B. CALVO.

THE attempts of Miss Ruth Eldridge to write a chapter of aviation history by being the first woman to fly to the fact that women have occupied a bright place in aeronautical annals. From the time in 1819 when Mme. Blanchard, wife of the French aviator, gave her life while exhausted, followed eagerly after men in their efforts to conquer the air. The names of Frances W. Gray, Thea Rasch, Miss Mildred Egan, Miss Elliott Lynn, Luba Phillips, Miss Katharine Stinson are familiar to most present-day followers of aviation. But they are only a few of a long line of women who have lived in some instances, given their lives in attempts to establish records. Perhaps the name of Katharine Wright belongs here, for while she never was a pilot, she was the first woman to fly and was her sacrifice of savings to enable her brothers, Wilbur and Orville, to invent the airplane.

It was at the celebration of the centenary of Napoleon I that the first woman died in the promotion of aviation. Mme. Blanchard was making a balloon ascension, July 4, 1815, when the gas with which the bag was inflated took fire and she was killed.

EARLY 100 years passed, and in 1911, also in France, was recorded the death of Mme. Marie Moore, one of the first of the women flyers. The following year, when Bernard March was killed in a crash landing, taking her pilot's license test, and in the same year, Luba Clark was killed while flying at Chicago.

Preceding these four women martyrs to aviation in learning to fly was Mrs. Frank Ralshe, whose exploits in the air were so successful that on Oct. 13, 1910, the Aeronautical Society held a dinner in New York at the Hotel Hudson. Maxim, the inventor, presented her with a gold medal studded with diamonds. The records do not reveal what became of Mrs. Ralshe.

Women of Vienna Ask for Permit To Wear Trousers

VIENNA'S women are discarding skirts and petticoats as cumbersome and impracticable. They have petitioned the police for governmental authority to wear trousers and other masculine garb. Most of the petitioners are industrial workers, who believe the male costume will enable them to perform their work more easily. But not a few of the petitioners are smart society women, who, tired of the tyranny of the skirt and petticoat, want to differentiate themselves from the masses. They are still "dresses" to fashion. Fearing if they were made attire without official authority they might be molested in the streets, the petitioners sought printed licenses from the authorities. But the Government declined their request, saying there was no need of legalizing something which was not forbidden. It was even pointed out that men are free to wear skirts and petticoats. But if such a thing caused a public scandal it would be forbidden. So far no Austrian men have essayed this innovation. But girls up to 15 years of age in Austria now wear boys' "trunks," and masculine shirts. Picture hats, toques, turbans and other elaborate headgear have long since disappeared. Many women are wearing instead simple masculine caps and tam o' shaners. A great majority, who belong to outdoor "clubs," wear neither head covering nor stockings. Since the revolution in Austria everybody is free to do anything that is not specifically enjoined by statute. In the days of the old Empire it was quite the reverse; everything was prohibited unless it was specially sanctioned by the law.

Arden Treatment

Blackheads

Arden recommends that you cleanse your face with care, if you have a blackhead. Use Venetian Cleansing and night; this soft melty ointment removes all the dust and impurities that clog the pores. Then minutes with Arden Skin Cream, softens the spot with cream. Dip a Beauty Sachet in the blackhead to bring it out with covered fingertips. Then to contract the pore. Arden, according to the scientific method, will keep it clear.

WOMEN WHO HAVE HELPED CONQUER THE AIR

By JOAQUIN B. CALVO.
HER attempts of Miss Ruth Elder to write a chapter of aviation history by being the first woman to fly the Atlantic Ocean have attracted the attention of the world. She has occupied a place in aeronautical annals. From that time in 1913 when Mme. Blanchard, wife of the French aviator, gave her life while experimenting with balloons, women have followed eagerly after men in the effort to conquer the air. The names of Frances W. Grayson, Thea Rasche, Miss Mildred Doran, Ruth Law, Harriet Quimby and Katherine Stinson are familiar to most present-day followers of aviation, but they are only a few of a long line of women who have lived and, in some instances, given their lives in attempts to establish records. Perhaps the name of Katherine Wright belongs here, for she was the first woman to fly and was her sacrifice of savings which enabled her brothers, Wilbur and Orville, to invent the airplane.

It was at the celebration of the centenary of Napoleon I that the first woman died in the promotion of aeronautics. Mme. Blanchard was killed in a balloon ascension, on May 8, 1913, when the gas with which the bag was inflated took fire and she was killed.

EARLY 100 years passed, and in 1911, also in France, was recorded the death of Mme. Dea Moore, one of the first of women flyers. The following year, when Bernard March was killed in a test flight, while taking her pilot's license test, and in the same year Julia Clark was killed while flying at Chicago.

Freeing these four women martyrs to aviation in learning to fly, Mrs. Frank Kalshe, whose exploits in the air were so successful that on Oct. 13, 1910, the Aeronautical Society held a dinner in New York at which Hudson Maxim, the inventor, who was president of the society, presented her with a gold medal studded with diamonds. The records do not reveal what became of Mrs. Kalshe.

The return of all women flyers to the air was a man named Phillips. He came to this country and assumed the name of Phillips. He started flying in 1911 and became so expert that Anthony Fokker, then making his first experiments, engaged her as a test pilot. She flew for many years in Europe, and during the war flew in Russia as a volunteer in Gen. Ivanoff's forces, near Vilna, carrying medical supplies to the front.

Luba Phillips returned to this country in 1922 and did some flying in Jetties at Roosevelt Field. At the last national air races at Mitchell Field she flew a Fokker bi-engine plane with 10 passengers, among whom was her old pilot, Anthony Fokker. Early this year, Mrs. Phillips flew another tri-motored Fokker 11,000 feet in the air, claiming the record for altitude for a woman pilot with passengers.

RECORDS for women, however, were always dubious for data as to performance is not recorded in a feminine division. The records that are recognized by the international organization, which certify all claims, are sexless. All of them at the moment are held by men.

The war gave an impetus to flying in Europe, where the Baroness de la Roche and Mme. Frank, both French, have taken the lead. Both were thrown to them by Mmes. Moore and March. In 1910 both the Baroness and Mme. Frank sustained bad falls, but it did not stop their flying fever, and as soon as they recovered they returned to the controls. The Baroness de la Roche and Mmes. Pallier and Helene Dutrieu, all licensed pilots, attempted to join the French aviation service in the outbreak of war, but their services were refused, and this despite the fact that Mme. Dutrieu in 1913 was awarded the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor for her flying exploits. Other French women who up to that time had attracted attention as flyers were Mlle. Marguerite, Mlle. Ducloux and Mlle. Steier. Women had better fortune in their efforts to fly during the war in Russia, for, in addition to Mrs. Phillips, dispatches to London, April 14, 1915, told of the decoration of the St. George Cross being conferred upon a young woman aviator named Marie Karyeva. "for daring and successful reconnaissance."

Only eight women had been awarded pilot's licenses in this country before the war. They were Miss Harriet Quimby, Miss Katharine E. Moisant, Miss Julia Clark, Miss Katherine Stinson, Miss Bernette A. Miller, Miss Ruth Law, Mrs. Richard Hornsby and Miss Dorothy Pierce. In 1919 Miss Laura Bromwell of Cincinnati joined the select group, being the first woman to receive a license since the war.

NO RECORD of women flyers would be complete that neglected to mention Mlle. Adrienne Bolland, who flew across the Atlantic of South America—which is no mean feat—or Miss Trehawke Davis, an English woman, who, after being in two crashes as a passenger in airplanes, learned herself to fly and was the first woman to loop the loop. Among other prominent English women flyers are Mrs. Maurice Hewlett, wife of the novelist, who gave up aviation after Miss Quimby was killed, and Miss Elsie Mackay, the first woman in England to own her own plane.

Then there is Mrs. Elliott Lynn, Britain's most famous woman flyer. She acquired as much reputation as a stunt flyer as a number of years ago as is enjoyed by Thea Rasche today, and several years ago "retired." But the flying fever would not down, as only recently she soared to 16,000 feet and claimed the woman's altitude record.

There are few more brilliant women flyers than Lady Bailey, wife of Sir Abe Bailey. On July 5 last, with Mss. Geoffrey de Havilland, she soared 18,000 feet into the air for what was claimed as an altitude record for a woman with a passenger. Another woman flyer of high altitudes is Mlle. Andree Peyre, who flew 15,000 feet in the air over Hollywood, Cal.

The first American woman to achieve international fame as a flyer was Harriet Quimby, who received her pilot's license in July, 1911, having learned to fly at a Long Island school. It was less than a year later that she flew over the English Channel, at that time—and with the planes of those days—considered a tremendous feat. Just 11 months to the day of having received her pilot's license she fell while flying over Boston and both were killed.

Flying near her at the time was Blanche Stewart Scott, third American woman to be licensed, having obtained hers a few weeks after Miss Moisant. Miss Scott, thoroughly unnerfed at seeing her friend killed, yet managed to make a perfect landing, although she was found unconscious in her plane, having fainted upon reaching the ground.

AND then came Ruth Law, who, with Katherine Stinson, became the best known of all women flyers. Both were "stunt" flyers of the first water, and their daring tricks in the air held thousands upon thousands breathless in their tours of the country. Ruth Law, in private life Mrs. Charles A. Oliver, was born in Lynn, Mass., March 31, 1887, and for some years now has done little flying. Recently it has been reported that she was planning to be the first to fly across the Atlantic, but this never has been verified. She obtained a pilot's license in 1912 and when only 25 held the American non-stop flight record.

record for a hop from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y.

Immediately after the war, Ruth Law announced that she wanted to fly across the Atlantic. She was inspired by the feats of Harry Hawker, whose daring venture ended in the sea, and Alcock and Brown, who were first to negotiate the difficult jump. But friends, apparently, dissuaded her.

Laura Bromwell set out in 1919 to better Ruth Law's records as a stunt flyer. She succeeded in establishing a world's record for women in looping the loop, making 123 successive loops the loops just two weeks before she crashed to her death at Curtiss field in 1922.

Katherine Stinson is a sister of Eddie Stinson, designer of the plane in which Ruth Elder set forth to Paris and glory. She began to fly when she was only 17 and soon attracted attention by her daring. Her finest year was 1917, when she went to Japan and China, making 25 flights in 1917 and 32 in Japan without a mishap. She returned by way of Hawaii and gave that island its first glimpse of a woman flyer. She brought back with her 14 gold medals which were presented her by the rulers of China and Japan.

Mrs. STINSON, like Miss Law, tried to enlist in the American Air Services during the war, but was refused. She previously had gone to Europe and offered her services, but had been refused. Later she helped in recruiting and Red Cross campaigns and in 1917 flew from Boston to Washington by way of Albany, New York and Philadelphia in the interests of the Red Cross drive for funds. With her brothers and a sister, Marjorie, she established a flying school at San Antonio, Tex., but for the past few years has not been active in aviation.

Another early woman flyer was Bessie Coleman, a Negroess. She became a professional and toured fairs through the South. On April 30, 1926, she was giving an exhibition at Jacksonville, Fla., when her plane crashed and she was killed. Together with her publicity manager, a white man.

The careers of the women flyers of today are almost too well known to require repetition. The tragic story of Miss Mildred Doran is soon told. She was a school teacher of Flint, Mich., and she aspired to be the first woman to fly across the Pacific Ocean. She set forth in the Dole race and nothing ever has been heard of her or her pilot since.

The two women flyers who have vied for the honor of being the first to cross the Atlantic both were inspired by Lindbergh's performance. Miss Frances Grayson, a Long Island real estate operator, obtained the backing of Mrs. Anne Anker of Copenhagen, and ordered the construction of a special Stinson biplane, with twin Wright whirling engines. Miss Elder obtained the backing of a group of business men in Wheeling, W. Va., and purchased a Stinson-Detroler of the same model as Brock and Schlee flew across the Atlantic.

MISS GRAYSON was the first to reach Curtiss Field with her plane, but Miss Elder's was the first into the air. Miss Elder, born and raised in Anniston, Ala., left a prosaic position as a stenographer for the excitement of trans-Atlantic flying, and after her plane was delivered to her in Detroit she flew it, with George Haldeman, to Lakeland, Fla., and then back here, to find Miss Grayson's plane being groomed in its hangar.

Since then she has been stunt flying about the country and has washed out "one plane while diving under a bridge at Poughkeepsie, escaping with a few bruises and a wetting, although her plane was wrecked. She sent for a second plane from Germany and since has continued her barnstorming.

Twins, alike in every detail, even to blood pressure and finger prints, were born in India 26 years ago. They are both students of patent law.

MISS GRAYSON, who is the divorced wife of a nephew of Admiral Grayson, but prefers using the title Miss, was first to get away from Roosevelt Field, but she tarried at Old Orchard, Me., and Miss Elder got away before the Sikorsky flying boat was ready.

Thea Rasche, who first came to the attention of the public in this country when she flew with Charles Levine after he had reached Germany, is the daughter of a prominent and wealthy German family, and two years ago took up flying for the love of it. She rapidly became known as a stunt flyer and came to this country with Commander Byrd, Clarence Chamberlin, Bert Acosta, Bert Balchen and George Noville when they returned from their successful trans-Atlantic flights.

To Develop a Firm Body

By Anne Jordan

NOW we're going to take another exercise. And you'll have to use the bathroom stool to do this one right.

This exercise is good for all the top of your body. It is excellent for developing hollow chests, and at the same time it will help take off the surplus flesh about the waist. It is a good exercise to take if your arms are flabby, and if you will use it consistently for a few weeks you will find that it makes your whole body feel better, and it will improve your looks a great deal.

Put the stool against the wall and sit upon it, with knees to each side. Contract the abdomen, and slowly stiffen the back until it is pressed against the wall from the hips to the shoulders. Then slowly raise the arms above the head, trying to keep the shoulders from rising about the ears at the same time, and stretch the arms up as high as you can make them go. Then, still holding the abdomen in, allow the arms to drop slowly, relaxing the shoulders, then the back, and allow the body to bend limply over until the knuckles of each hand are on the floor near the right foot, the body being twisted limply to one side.

To return to starting position, push the body back from the hips and rise gradually, the lower back straightening first, and on up until the shoulders touch, and the arms are overhead and stiff. Then relax again, this time bending toward the left foot, and allowing the knuckles of each hand to touch the floor at the left foot.

This exercise should be performed very slowly, in stretching, each muscle in the torso should be put in use. And as you relax the top muscles should be relaxed first, and on down, very gradually, until you feel each muscle stop doing its duty. This is a very tiring exercise, but a very healthful one, and as soon as you are able to stand it, it should be done as many as 40 times a day.

Never exerting excessively at first. If you overdo any athletics the first day you will not be able to do any at all for several days thereafter. It is best to harden your muscles by degrees, and there will be no soreness. In case you do overdo your strength and become stiff and sore, a warm bath with a cup of salt in the water will make you feel better.

Because it was thought that the use of the mouth for blowing an instrument was sacrilegious, one Hindu sect inverted the throat trumpet. The player hums the tune, and the vibration of the throat agitates a diaphragm of spider's web in the trumpet's mouthpiece.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of ailments.—Bed sores are to be regarded as a result of the change in position frequently and by the use of inflated rubber cushions, and as a treatment if they have been allowed to form, powdered alum is to be used. WORRIED.—By sinus trouble is meant a diseased condition, or inflammation, of the mucous membrane lining the nose. As for a cure, which may be and often is cured when properly treated by specialists, the best remedy is the following: Carbolic acid, one drachm; glycerine, two drachms; alcohol, four ounces; add water to make one pint; apply when necessary.

BLANTHIE.—We have no knowledge of this name, but it may be the one for the complexion, so called; add

MR. T. G.—In the absence of any cause for swollen eyes, such condition is often due to some heart, lung, kidney, or other trouble. To determine the cause an examination by a competent physician is advised. It should include testing of excretions and secretions. If you wish stamped, self-addressed envelopes returned to you, please send for the service. It is not wise concerning them. A properly made pure soap is not injurious to the skin and you are, moreover, saving yourself the trouble by using an ointment of precipitated sulphur, one drachm, and one ounce of rosewater. Mix, and apply to the affected parts at bedtime and let remain on during the night. This is applied after pressing out the blackheads and applying hot water to the face for four hours. 'STRINGING' OF OIL MEN BY FALL IS DESCRIBED

Witness Says He Was Assured of Chance to Bid After Sinclair Actually Had Teapot Lease.

ROOSEVELT, TOO, KEPT IN THE DARK

Senator Kendrick and Ex-Congressman Mondell Tell of Difficulty in Getting Information.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COURT HOUSE, Washington, Oct. 26.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt does not choose to be the "goat" for the secrecy in which Teapot Dome was leased. He made that very plain today when testifying at the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

In outlining the defense to the jury, at the opening of the trial, Martin W. Littleton said it would be shown that the furtiveness surrounding the leasing of the reserve by Fall to Sinclair resulted from the insistence of Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt. On the witness stand today the Colonel was asked this question by Government Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts: "When did you first hear that the Teapot Dome Naval Reserve had been leased?" "I first learned of it in the latter part of April, 1922," was the reply. The lease was signed April 7.

"Did you have any knowledge at all prior to that time that the Reserve was to be leased?" "I did not."

"Did you know of any leases to be granted on the Reserve?" "The only leases I knew of were leases for the drilling of offset wells inside the boundary line of the reserve."

Futile Efforts to Bid.

Following Roosevelt's testimony, which was brief, came that of oil men, who told of their futile efforts to lease on or to bid for leases on Teapot Dome just previous to the granting of the lease of Sinclair.

The burden of all this evidence was that, with Fall, commanding the stage and Sinclair behind the curtain, no other oil man had a Chinaman's chance to get a lease on Teapot Dome. Yet, up to the very day the lease was granted, the testimony showed Fall "stringing" the others along, allowing them to think they would be given a shot at the lease—if he decided to grant one—when, as a matter of fact, the lease was just as good as in Sinclair's pocket.

The "stringing" reached the very climax of ludicrousness when Fall, sitting in his office as Secretary of the Interior, solemnly assured one anxious oil man that, when the time came to lease the reserve, his company would be given full opportunity to bid on it—when, in truth, the reserve had actually been leased to Sinclair three days before.

Three days after he had signed the papers, finally leasing the entire reserve to Sinclair, Fall told Barth Helms, president of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co., that he "would be very glad to entertain a bid," from Helms' company for such a lease. He invited Helms to bring the officers of the company to Three Rivers, N. M., Fall's home, to discuss the details at further length.

A week later Helms saw a newspaper report disclosing that Sinclair had leased the reserve. He wired in haste to Fall, expressing the hope that the report was incorrect and renewing his offer to bid. Fall replied that the "Teapot Dome matter is closed," but suggested that they might do some business in connection with Government leases outside the reserve.

Disappointed Applicants.

The same sop had been thrown to other disappointed applicants, the testimony showed. It had been held out to the Producers and Refiners Corporation, after Frank H. Kistler, president of that company, had made a vain attempt to discuss with Fall a lease on the reserve only to be told that Fall was not ready to consider it. Six days after Fall to Kistler he was not ready to discuss it, he leased the reserve to Sinclair.
